Mexican Group Demonstrates Against U. S.

2,000 University
Students Demand
'Integrity Respect'

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—Two thousand university students demonstrated today against "North American imperialism" and demanded "respect for our territorial integrity."

Their protest was provoked by gulf fishing disputes and apparently was based on both misinformation and bad interpretation of a news dispatch from Washington.

The U. S. Congress recently directed the Coast Guard to increase its vigilance in the gulf to protect U. S. shrimp boats.

The Texas Shrimp Assn. had asked more protection. It claimed boats out of Brownsville were being seized by Mexican gunboats outside the nine nautical mile territorial limit claimed by Mexico.

A Washington dispatch quoted a State Department official as saying each seizure results in a dispute over the exact location of the boat at the moment.

The dispatch added immediately that the United States does not recognize the sovereignty of any nation more than three miles at sea, while Mexico insists on nine.

Law student Virgilio Pineda, in a demonstration speech, interpreted this to mean the U. S. wants to force its own three-mile limit on Mexico.

Another student protested against "the invasion of our territorial waters by U. S. warships to protect the pirate shrimpers who fish in our waters."

None of the captains of the score of boats seized this year has claimed during hearings he had a right to fish within Mexico's 9-mile limit. But most have argued they were outside this limit when seized.

The main question is just where a shrimp boat is at any given time. The method most used for judging their distance from shore is by sounding, which may not always be exact.

River Ceremony To Open Beach Here Next Sunday

West Monroe's Long John Beach, up the Ouachita River, will be formally opened to the public next Sunday, according to an announcement from the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce yesterday. A giant river parade and other special ceremonies are planned in connection with the opening.

Ray Buice, chairman of the Chamber Recreation Committee, said development planned at the beach this year has been completed. "Next year," Buice said, "we plan further development at Long John that will make the beach five times its present length."

Meanwhile, directional markers were reported erected to guide the public to the beach area. K. D. Norris and Dan Pickens, Chamber workers on the beach project, announced that adequate signs have been erected.

In giving directions to the beach, Norris said: "Go past the D'Arbonne bridge on White's Ferry Road for one mile and a large sign will direct you from there."

Tex Kilpatrick has been named parade marshal for the parade next Sunday when the "largest gathering of boats, all sizes, ever on the Ouachita river will leave West Monroe at 1 p. m. and proceed up the river to the beach."

Kilpatrick said more detailed information on the beach opening will be released next week. He said boat owners throughout northeast Louisiana would be welcome to participate in the procession.

Hugh Taylor, who has been appointed program chairman for the day, said Howard Griffin will furnish several boats to afford free transportation for the general public.

Chamber Manager George Wylie said lifeguards will be on duty at the beach.

The latest details on the beach project were released following a meeting of the Chamber Recreation committee. Attending the meeting were: A. J. Lester, Jack Reighney, Harold Hill, Jeff Caldwell, and David Hunt.

M'Keon Sentenced To 9 Months Imprisonment, To Receive Discharge

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Aug. 4 (AP)—S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon today was ordered discharged in disgrace from the Marine Corps for the April 8 death march that cost six recruits' lives. He also got nine months in prison.

The sentence jolted the rigidly erect Marine. His shoulders slumped. His voice choked. Tears flooded his blue eyes. But he recovered in a few minutes and, with his wife, headed for the Roman Catholic chapel on the base to pray.

"I'll never forget those six kids," McKeon said to his wife, Betty, 28, as they left the school house where McKeon's 19-day court-martial was held. He referred to the young Marines who drowned in Ribbon Creek as McKeon led the 74-man recruit Platoon 71 on a night disciplinary march.

McKeon's sentence is not necessarily final. It will be automatically reviewed by the Navy Department and, if not reduced there, may be appealed. He will not be imprisoned until it is finally settled.

But, if upheld, it means the end of an 8-year Marine career that McKeon had cherished above all else. And it means he will return to civilian life as a man forever branded, ineligible for most veteran benefits, unacceptable for a (Continued On Fifth Page)

Ku Klux Klan Mob
Denounces Fla.'s
Governor Collins

STARKE, Fla., Aug. 4 (AP)—About 125 masked and robed members of the Ku Klux Klan, including many women, cheered an unidentified leader here tonight as he denounced Gov. Leroy Collins as one of the worst enemies of states rights in Florida.

The rally, witnesses from behind a roped-off area by 500 spectators, was held in an open field just south of this Bradford County city.

Newsmen were permitted inside the barrier only after promising not to use names, Klan titles or make photographs.

The white robed speaker, terming himself a "Sunday School teacher," said the Klan membership is comprised of "upstanding Christians and God-fearing people."

A 10-foot cross, traditional emblem of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was in the center of the circled klanmen.

The speaker, apparently in his mid-twenties, charged Collins with "denouncing the Legislature only minutes before Senator F. A. R. Bryan's resolution would have passed."

He apparently referred to an interposition resolution proposed by Bryant. The resolution died when the Legislature session adjourned at the governor's order.

The speaker termed "Collins" a great southern gentleman who poses before magnolias and mansion columns for national magazines, but says nothing when these same magazines slander the south.

"Never once has he come to our defense," the klanman shouted.

The speaker termed the members of the nation's highest court as "the nine doddering old men in Washington, D. C., who want the races to mix and mingle and hug each other's necks."

Nixon Remains Quiet During Stassen Attack

Leaves Scene To Spend Week-End
In N. Carolina

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, "the man in the middle" in Harold E. Stassen's furor over the Republican vice presidential nomination, is taking the whole thing a lot more calmly than most other party leaders.

From outward appearance, the 43-year-old vice president is determined not to let Stassen's "dump Nixon" efforts change his plans.

He is sitting tight, keeping quiet and going about his work as though it hadn't happened. What ever his personal thoughts, he is keeping them close to the vest and letting others do the talking.

Except for a polite statement when Stassen fired his first salvo Nixon has said virtually nothing publicly on the subject. He announced that he welcomed the support of Massachusetts Gov. Gov. Christian A. Herter, Stassen's personal candidate for vice president. And he said Stassen had a right to support anybody he chose.

Herter will nominate Nixon at the GOP national convention.

After those remarks Nixon let the GOP professionals, headed by Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, answer Stassen's barbs.

Meantime Nixon's office has been flooded with letters and telegrams overwhelmingly in his favor. His staff has not been able to keep an accurate count but said "they run into thousands."

Only a tiny percentage, the staff says, are unfavorable to Nixon.

With the GOP convention only two weeks away the vice president headed for the North Carolina mountains Saturday for a busy weekend of talks far from the heated arena of politics.

Harriman Group States Adlai And Estes In 'Deal'

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman's campaign headquarters livened Democratic pre-convention skirmishing Saturday night by charging a Kefauver-Stevenson "deal."

But the New York governor's camp said this has "back-fired" because Harriman is inheriting most of the Kefauver support for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Lloyd Benfield, campaign director for Harriman, raised the charges in a statement bristling with innuendos and implications that Harriman is the only Democratic presidential hopeful who can beat President Eisenhower.

Both Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver have denied any "deal" was made between them.

Benfield said Harriman national convention delegate votes have doubled since Tuesday when Kefauver was named.

Will Probably Reject London Conference

Russia And India
Awaiting Egypt's
Answer To Session

CAIRO, Aug. 4 (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser conferred at length Saturday with the Soviet ambassador to Egypt preparatory to answering the Western invitation to attend a London conference on internationalization of the Suez Canal. The answer was expected to be a refusal.

Egypt already has rejected the big three declaration calling for world control of the waterway which accompanied the appeal for a 24-nation conference on Egypt's seizure of it.

Russia and India, also invited, were reported holding up their replies until Egypt answers. Refusal of the three powers could wreck the conference scheduled for Aug. 15 before it started.

In London, the United States was under fire in the press and among official quarters because of its pledge that it would make no commitments on Suez.

The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charged the West was using the dispute as an excuse for "crude interference in Arab affairs."

Military preparations advanced in Britain. British Army officers were being lifted out for Mediterranean service. Some 10,000 troops were expected to begin arriving on Cyprus within the next 10 days to bolster the 20,000-man garrison already there. Tents (Continued on Fifth Page)

A few members of Mossadegh's family went to the prison—Ghasar Barracks, in northern Tehran—to meet him. His son helped him in a car. Members of the family have indicated Mossadegh intends to spend the early days of his freedom visiting holy places in Iraq.

Mossadegh, weepy old ex-dictator, was the national leader in a bitter fight similar to that in which President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt finds himself involved over the Suez Canal.

Mossadegh's flight was to nationalize the billion-dollar British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. which for 50 years had built up one of the Middle East's biggest enterprises under a concession from Iran. There was no question of selling an international facility such as in the Suez crisis.

Mossadegh, believed to be in his 80s though he never has given his exact age, was sentenced to three years solitary imprisonment on Dec. 21, 1953 on treason charges for trying to unseat Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi. He had been in prison since Aug. 10, 1953, and his prison term was counted from that date.

He had defied the Shah's attempt to replace him as premier, and had forced the Shah and his Queen temporarily to flee to Rome. There were bloody street riots.

But two days later the tables were turned. Mossadegh's growing enemies rallied behind Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, whom the Shah had invited to become premier, and won control in pitched street battles with Mossadegh's backers. About 300 were killed in the uprising.

Flew Plane 1,900 MPH Bell X-2 Pilot, One Of Five Who Received Top Awards In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Lt. Col. Frank Everest Jr., who flew the Bell X-2 rocket research plane 1,900 miles an hour last week, the fastest man has ever flown, and Sen. Stuart Symington were among five persons given the Air Force Association's top awards tonight.

Everest, a native of West Virginia and chief of flight test operations at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., received the AFA's flight trophy award, while Symington (Mo.) Democratic, was given the H. H. Arnold Trophy, highest honor bestowed by the organization.

The other three were: Radio and TV star Arthur Godfrey, the Hoyt S. Vandenberg Memorial Trophy; Belme Lay Jr., Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer screenwriter, the association's Arts and Letters Trophy, and Dr. Chalmers (Continued on Fifth Page)

2 Young Handicap Victims Repeat Wedding Vows

HAMILTON, N.Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—A college student who lost his arms eight years ago and a girl whose legs are paralyzed were married today in a simple ceremony at a Colgate University fraternity house.

"We're just two young people in love who are getting married," said the bridegroom, James J. Munro, 22, of Binghamton, N.Y.

He and 21-year-old Janet L. Borow of Bayonne, N.J., met three years ago at Kessler Institute in New Jersey, where both were undergoing rehabilitation treatment.

The bride's father, Stanley Borow of Bayonne, pushed her wheelchair to the altar set up in the living room of the Lambda Chi fraternity house. She wore a ballerina-length gown of embroidered white nylon net and a pearl crown with fingertip veil. She carried a white orchid and stephanotis on a Bible.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Paul Swarthout, a Baptist minister.

When it came time to put the ring on the bride's finger, Munro reached for it with the hook that replaces his left hand. He handed it to the bride and she put it on her finger, with his assistance.

Mossadegh Freed After 3 Years Of Confinement

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 4 (AP)—Dr. Mohammed Mossadegh, former premier of Iran, walked out of jail today, a free man after three years of solitary confinement. He was sentenced on charges of attempting to overthrow the Shah in 1953.

North Louisiana's 11th Annual Rodeo Sept. 3-7

North Louisiana's 11th annual R. C. A. championship rodeo will be held at the West Monroe Arena September 3-7.

Sponsored by the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, rodeo officials are planning one of the most eventful and colorful rodeos ever presented in the Twin Cities.

Producer Homer Todd of Fort Smith, Ark., will again furnish stock for the five performances. Renowned for his brahmas and bucking stock, Todd's twenty white parade horses have been described as one of the rodeo world's most picturesque sights.

Included in the rodeo events will be bareback riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, brahma bull riding and a girl's barrel race which will be open to local riders.

Among the other events being planned by the rodeo officials is a calf scramble to be participated in by 4-H clubs in this area.

Contract acts will include Jimmy Murphy and his two white chargers in a Roman ride and jump through fire. Murphy, who appeared on the Arthur Godfrey show at Cheyenne, Wyoming, last week, is making his first appearances in the south this season.

Two of rodeo's top clowns, West Curtis and Buck LeGrande will provide antics and a variety of comedy acts for the five-day show.

Announcing the show will be Bud Townsend of Oklahoma City who will be making his first appearance at the West Monroe arena this season.

Heralding the opening of the 11th annual rodeo will be the mile-long Labor Day parade to which riding clubs and riders throughout Northeast Louisiana are invited to participate in.

13,000 National Guards Moving Toward Polk

Louisiana's highways will take on a martial appearance between midnight Saturday and noon Sunday when 1,686 military vehicles in 15 separate convoys will move toward North Fort Polk carrying 13,000 National Guardsmen to their annual field training exercises.

Maj. Gen. Raymond F. Hufft, Louisiana Adjutant General, advised motorists to try to avoid becoming entangled with the miles-long convoys as a safety precaution.

He said military traffic will be very heavy on U. S. 81 from New Orleans to Baton Rouge and on U. S. 190 across the State. Heavy convoy movements will come down from Arkansas and northern Louisiana on U. S. 165 and U. S. 171 and all the highways in the immediate neighborhood of Fort Polk will be crowded for several hours Sunday morning.

General Hufft said the convoy movements are a most important part of the field training exercises and said strict operation in accordance with the march orders will be necessary to insure that one convoy has cleared a particular highway before another appears.

He urged the general public to cooperate to the best of its ability to avoid throwing any of the convoys off schedule.

One convoy from Southwest Louisiana will consist of 378 vehicles, one from North Louisiana will consist of 296 vehicles. Two convoys, one numbering 207 vehicles and another 142 vehicles, will move out of Jackson Barracks across the city to the Airline Highway between 10:30 p.m. and 1 a.m. Saturday night.

The same Tennessee is derived from the Cherokee Indian village of Tanasi.

28 Local YMCA Leaders To Attend N. Carolina Meet

Twenty-eight local HI-Y, Tri-HI-Y, and Y-Teen leaders from the Twin Cities YMCA and YWCA will attend the Blue Ridge HI-Y, Tri-HI-Y Leaders Training Congress to be held this summer at Blue Ridge, North Carolina from August 12 through August 18.

The Monroe Civic Club, the Monroe Lions Club, and the Monroe Rotary Club are jointly assisting with transportation expenses and are making it possible for the group to attend this outstanding leadership training Congress.

YMCA Blue Ridge Assembly embraces 1600 acres of land and more than 40 buildings, including hotel and cottages with accommodations for 700 guests. It is located 14 miles east of Asheville. It was organized in 1912 and is now owned and operated by the YMCA's of the south.

The Congress is designed for the leaders of the clubs from senior high schools. Its main objective is to prepare the club members and advisors for leadership in local HI-Y and Tri-HI-Y clubs in the HI-Y movement.

Special emphasis will be placed upon the following: (1) Interpreting what the HI-Y movement really is, (2) explaining the effects of different kinds of leadership, (3) instruction in the specific skills needed by each officer, (4) providing officers with an opportunity to practice these skills in actual club settings, (5) demonstration of good club meetings, (6) discussing club standards, (7) discussing organization, membership, program, finance, and service, (8) experiencing effective committee action, (9) interpreting the spirit, meaning and urgency of a teen-age group working to create, maintain and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community, (10) building of a rich experience of HI-Y fellowship and friendship across the southern area and (11) acquainting club leaders with the outreach of the HI-Y movement in the Y. M. C. A.

Workshops to be held will embrace such club helps as interpretation, inductions, rituals, service projects, program building, club relationships, membership practices, devotional programs, methods and techniques.

Local delegates who will attend this Congress are Don Andrews, Jimmy Aul, Clarice Brown, Bob Carter, Guy Coates, Jr., John Cobb, Phil Corder, Gerald Dean, James M. Ford, Jr., Archie Gilliland, Joy Dee Goza, Jimmy Leverett,

Lone Cedar Revival Set For Aug. 5-10

WINNSBORO, Aug. 4 (Special)—The Rev. Bobby Brown, pastor of the Lone Cedar Baptist Church, Rt. 3, Winnsboro, has announced that revival services will start at the Lone Cedar Church Sunday, August 5, and continue through Friday, August 10.

Dr. J. Kelva Moore, assistant professor of the principals of religious education at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, will be the evangelist.

Services will be each day at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

Howard Lewis, Travis McClendon, Barbara Mitchell, George Patterson, Charles Phillips, Jerry Robinson, Jr., Karl Thompson, Allan Trousdale, Pat Williams, Jerry Womack, and Tommy Davenport; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kulcke, and John B. Pennington, adult advisors; Miss Bess Sharp, executive secretary of the YMCA, and Charles A. Wood, Jr., YMCA general secretary.

Present plans call for the local delegation to make the trip by chartered bus leaving for Blue Ridge Saturday morning August 11 and arriving back in Monroe Sunday evening August 19.

NSC Workshop For High Schools Slated Aug. 5-9

NATCHITOCHES, Aug. 4 (Special)—A Third annual statewide workshop, sponsored by the Louisiana Association of Student Councils, will bring to the Northwestern State College campus Sunday through Friday, August 5-9, some 105 high school students and 28 sponsors from throughout the state.

Registration begins Sunday at 2 p.m. for the visitors; activities and meetings get underway later in the evening.

Chief purposes of the conference are to establish a common philosophy of the aims and objectives of the student council, to bring about more uniform practices in council work within the state, to spread the growth of this citizenship training agency in the schools, to provide instruction for new student council sponsors and student leaders, and to encourage the growth of the Louisiana Association of Student Councils.

Five-day workshop will be directed by L. Wood, chairman of the Advisory Committee for the National Association of Student Councils in Washington, D. C. He has served as executive secretary of the Texas Association and has been an enthusiastic worker in student council activities throughout the nation.

A crowded schedule for the students includes general meetings, addresses, class sessions, class study hour, evaluation periods, and recreation hours every day, Monday through Thursday. A watermelon party, swimming party and talent show are on the entertainment agenda.

Selected to lead class discussions were sponsors Mrs. Sarah Shufeldt, Thibodaux, who will be in charge of the sponsors' discussion; John R. Cole, Winfield, C. J. Peltier, Morgan City, and Doris Scallan, St. Mary's Dominican high in New Orleans, who will supervise student discussion groups.

Students and sponsors will be housed in college dormitories, and NSC's facilities will be available for their use.

Student Council leaders from the following high schools are expected to attend the workshop: Crowley, Haynesville, Lakeshore, Jr., Fair Park and Byrd of Shreveport; Centerville, Springhill, Morgan City, West Monroe, Bolton and Providence Central of Alexandria; Thibodaux, Neville and Ouchit of Monroe; Jennings, Covington, Academy of the Holy Angels and St. Mary's Dominican of New Orleans; Cotton Valley, La Grange, Mt. Carmel of Lafayette; Winnfield, Tallulah, Forest Hill, Holly Ridge, Ville Platte, Greenwood and Mansfield.

Crowville Baptists Open Revival Today

CROWVILLE, Aug. 4 (Special)—Revival services will be held at the Crowville Baptist Church, Sunday, August 5, through August 12. The Rev. Clemen T. Smith, pastor of the church, will fill the pulpit and Dale Colvin, minister of music at the South Fort Worth Baptist Church, will direct the music.

The public is invited to attend these revival services which will be at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. each day.

Clues To Origin Of Lung Cancer Will Be Sought

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (Special)—Clues to the origin of lung cancer may come from a nationwide study of the bronchial tubes of deceased persons, a Louisiana State University medical professor said today.

Dr. Russell L. Holman, head of the department of pathology at the L. S. U. School of Medicine, said a study of the natural history of the lining of the bronchial tubes, where practically all lung cancer arise is now underway. The study is one phase of the work being conducted by ten similar groups in the United States. Each is collecting and studying "issue" from bronchial tubes of persons killed accidentally or those dying of natural causes. Continuing a study begun in 1955 under a grant from the Tobacco Industry Research Committee, L. S. U. pathologists are studying the connection between human health and the use of tobacco, with particular concentration on cellular changes in the lungs and bronchial tubes.

The tobacco industry has given a free hand in the study. All they ask is the facts," Dr. Holman said. L. S. U.'s School of Medicine recently was awarded a grant renewal of $10,200 to continue the study.

About 10 times more men than women have cancer of the lung, bronchus, and trachea according to statistics from Charity Hospital in New Orleans, Dr. Holman said.

Dr. Holman explained that a wide variety of changes occur in the lining cells, these changes being poorly understood. Some of the cell changes result in the cells no longer having their customary "hairs" and loss of their ability to secrete mucous. Another change is the unexplained local multiplication of cells.

Results of the five-year study should determine whether or not there is a relationship between these bronchial cell changes and lung cancer. Unlike research with animals, which gives experimental information about cancer, the L. S. U. research will produce statistical data relative to the disease in humans.

Representatives of each of the ten groups meet twice a year in New York City to discuss their study and to make certain it is all being conducted uniformly.

Since case histories are being obtained along with tissue samples, the united research program may point to relationships between cancer and occupation, the climate in which a person lived and the concentration of population.

Dr. Holman said an expert statistician is observing the study of each group to make certain their data collection and recording is according to acceptable standards.

Dr. Ralph Meier is conducting the research this year, succeeding Dr. Thomas K. Farris, who conducted the study during its first year.

Nine wood lead pencils are sold in the United States for every one of all other types of writing instrument.

New Hope Revival To Begin Aug. 6

JONESBORO, Aug. 4 (Special)—The New Hope Baptist Church will start its summer revival August 6, with the Reverend Pratt McCloud as the evangelist. Services will begin each night at 7:30 p. m. They will continue for one week ending August 12. Song leader will be Maxine Peel. The pastor will be the Rev. W. W. Killen.

IS YOUR REFRIGERATOR OUT-OF-DATE?

Solons Approve Measure To Halt Ice Box Deaths

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Congress completed action today on a bill aimed at preventing tragic deaths because children get trapped in refrigerators.

The House passed by voice vote and sent to President Eisenhower legislation forbidding interstate shipment of any household refrigerator whose door cannot easily be opened from the inside.

The ban would take effect two years after the bill becomes law, in order to give refrigerator manufacturers time to incorporate safety devices under standards to be set by the secretary of commerce.

Blind Winnfield Lawyer Wins Achievement Award

MILWAUKEE, Wis., August 4 (Special) — A 31-year-old lawyer who lost his sight and both arms while serving with the army during World War II has been given the Achievement Award of the Blinded Veterans Association in recognition of his personal accomplishment and service to his community.

The young veteran, James L. Womack, of Winnfield, La., received the award at a banquet held at the Hotel Schroeder here last night, the final function of the Association's Eleventh Annual Convention, which opened on Wednesday, August 1. The presentation was made by Mr. Leonard Hoskins of Milwaukee, supervisor of services to the blind, Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, who also served as one of the judges for the award.

The BVA achievement award is presented annually to a blinded veteran who has been especially outstanding in his chosen field of employment and in his adjustment to daily living as a blind person.

In spite of his multiple disabilities, Womack entered college and law school, graduating with high honors. He is now engaged in the practice of law in Winnfield and is a leader in civic affairs.

Born in Sikos, La., the veteran was reared on a farm with a younger brother and sister. He graduated from high school at the age of 18 and entered the army a short time later.

In November 1944, Womack went overseas with the 63rd Division.

Stock Market Nears All-Time High Of April 6

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—The stock market this week advanced for the eighth straight week.

The gain reached within a whisker of the all-time high reached April 6. The Associated Press average rose $1.60 to $190.90, or 60 cents below the high.

It was closer to the top Thursday at $191.10 but Friday's decline, the only one of the week, pulled it back a trifle.

The rise came in a week when the Suez crisis was ominous, there were times when the market seemed to pay no more heed to this situation than to the happy news of a forthcoming heir to the throne of Monaco.

Oils with heavy holdings in the Near East lost ground when Egypt announced it would nationalize the canal. They staged a partial recovery Tuesday and backed away only slightly Wednesday and Thursday. Yesterday, however, as Britain and France rushed mobilization measures, these oils stocks once again retreated. Other oil stocks followed suit with gentler declines and other stocks caught the mood and gave ground.

News of tighter credit in the money market and fear of more to come was another influence in Wall Street. Some believed that by virtue of the highly-advertised inflationary spiral expected as a result of the steel settlement and others to come, the federal reserve board would impose additional curbs on credit.

The five most active stocks this week were: Sperry Rand up 1%, U.S. Steel up 3/4, Republica Steel up 4, Standard Oil (NJ) off 1 and General Motors up 1/4.

In the bond market both corporate and government bonds retreated this week under the influence of tighter credit conditions and the start of another round of inflation.

crans Administration approval, he enrolled at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where he made above average grades, and completed his pre-law course in 1952.

He then entered the law school at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, where he continued to make outstanding grades. He was elected to membership in the Order of the GOLF, the national honorary society for law students, and graduated fourth in his class in June 1955.

While in law school, Womack studied with the aid of fellow students who read textbooks to him. His readers found that they benefited from their contact with him, their own grades improving as a result of the intensive study sessions and Womack's searching questions.

Following graduation, Womack was admitted to the Bar and opened a law office in Winnfield. In less than a year, he has established a successful civil law practice.

In spite of the demands of a growing practice, Womack finds time to take an active part in community affairs. He is president of the Winnfield Kiwanis Club, a leader in the Boy Scouts, a member of the Louisiana Bar Association and the American Bar Association, and a member of veterans organizations.

He enjoys playing checkers and cards with family and friends and likes to go fishing when he can get away from the office. His hobbies of woodworking, however, has had to be neglected because of the press of business and other activities.

Womack is married to the former Geraldine Abrams, a childhood sweetheart. The couple have a 4-year-old adopted son.

The citation accompanying the BVA achievement award reads as follows: "For exemplifying the principles of initiative, independence, and self-reliance to which the Blinded Veterans Association is devoted."

The Newman Prize of $100 which accompanies the award was also presented to Womack. This prize is contributed annually by Nathan Newman, New York businessman and longtime friend of the BVA.

In addition to Mr. Hoskins, judges for this year's achievement award were Mr. C. Warren Bledsoe, Chief of Blind Rehabilitation, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C., and Dr. Richard L. Hoover of Baltimore, Md., ophthalmologist.

Three other blinded veterans were cited by the judges in recognition of their outstanding achievement. The three receiving honorable mention are: Joseph C. Lazaro Jr., Waltham, Mass.; Edward A. Sanders, Forest Park, Ill.; and Curtis C. Sechrist, East York, Pa. Lazaro, who is 38, was blinded while serving with the combat engineers in Italy during World War II. He is employed by the Raytheon Manufacturing Company of Waltham, Mass., as an assembler of expensive magnetron tubes.

Sanders, a veteran of World War II and Korea, is 32. He was blinded in August 1950 on the Changsa Beachhead in Korea, and is believed to be the first blinded veteran of that war. Sanders is the first blind person to be employed at the U. S. Naval Ordnance Depot, Forest Park, Ill., where he assembles components on torpedo valves.

Sechrist, 35, was blinded in Germany during World War II while serving as a cavalry reconnaissance car commander. He is now employed by the U. S. Expansion Bolt Company, York, Pa., as a trim-press operator.

Nominations for the BVA achievement award were solicited from Veterans Administration regional offices throughout the country as well as from BVA's local chapters.

M-Sgt. Roberts Joins Northeast State Military

M-Sgt. Hildreth D. Roberts has joined the Military Department of Northeast State, Maj. Derwood Cann, Jr., professor of military science and tactics, announced.

Prior to his assignment here the sergeant was attached to MAAG in Taiwan, Free China.

Sergeant Roberts, a native of Louisville, Ky., received his recruit training at Camp Haan, California some thirteen years ago.

During World War II he served in the northern Apennine Mountains, the Po Valley and central Europe.

He has seen duty with the 10th Mountain Division, 24th Division, 5th Armored and 7th Division.

Sergeant Roberts has been awarded the Bronze Star, Combat Infantryman's Badge, Presidential Unit Citation, Korean Presidential Unit Citation and numerous other campaign ribbons.

During his spare time the sergeant enjoys a game of golf.

He is married and the father of two children.

Last Man Of The Union Army Dies

Many Americans of the older generation, North and South, felt a twinge of sadness and regret last week when they learned that the last man in the Union Army, a drummer boy in the War Between the States, had died.

He was Albert Woolson, 109 years old.

Three veterans of the Confederate Army survive; the patriarchal Texan, W. W. Williams, 113 years of age; John Salling of Virginia, 109; and William A. Lundy of Florida, 108, who not too long ago went out and bagged a buck during deer season.

The Union Army once numbered 2,675,000 men. The Confederate muster roll was far below that figure.

The tragic civil war settled no problem. It bankrupted the North and ruined the South, yet the identical issues that brought about the great raging conflict in which brother was pitted against brother and cousin against cousin confront us today in sharpened focus and dreadful import, casting a dire lengthening shadow over a supposedly "reunited" land.

From an ideological standpoint, this fratricidal catastrophe dated back to colonial times, and was whetted during George Washington's administration, when two of the nation's great intellects espoused opposing systems of thought: Alexander Hamilton as a federalist and apostle of centralized government; Thomas Jefferson as a champion of states' rights and sharp limitations upon federal power, as written into the Constitution.

The immediate cause of the War Between the States, in the belief of many historians, was the abolitionist pressure imposed upon the South—a pressure in which commercial greed, and a vast Northern inferiority complex, insane jealousy of Southern culture, masqueraded behind the slavery issue.

Despite the horrors of the great war, and of Reconstruction, amity between the South and North grew steadily for many years—cemented by common sacrifices in later wars of worldwide scope.

The prostrate South, shaking off the vicious rule of Northern bayonets and carpetbaggers, emerged slowly as the New South, and industry flocked into its fertile domain.

The South made tremendous strides in solving its Negro problems. The vast illiterate, shiftless and helpless Negro populace, freed by President Lincoln's emancipation proclamations and the collapse of Southern arms, found shelter and food and friendship and understanding among the white people. No race in history ever advanced so far in such a brief time—from savagery to a place in the sun.

Yet in a strange recurring pattern, the same violent and hateful forces that fanned the War Between the States into ungovernable flame have risen from the ashes of the past to start their eternal agitation and renew their pressure tactics against the South.

The fundamental conflict is ideological, and it varies in no essential detail from that of Hamilton and Jefferson.

The spearhead of the agitation is the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the assorted brands of leftists, pseudo intellectuals, pinks and reds.

The NAACP and its leftist allies draw their strength from the old hotbeds of the abolitionists—the North Atlantic seaboard and the northern central states such as Illinois.

They seek to impose a new era of carpetbagging and bayonet rule upon the South, and extend Hamilton's concept of an all-supreme central government to every American commonwealth.

So, as the last Union Army veteran is laid to rest, and the last feeble Confederate veteran cling frantically to life, we as Americans might well pause to ask ourselves, what did the desperate war of the sixties settle? And we might go further and question whether the present situation does not in fact sow the seeds of future violent strife and disunity between North and South.

Facts To Be Proud Of

Oregon is among the smaller states in point of population. It has comparatively little heavy industry. But the railroads are a mighty important asset to Oregon and its people.

The Oregon Development Commission points out that the State of Oregon is served by five major railroads. These lines provide over $64 million a year in payrolls to Oregon railroad families—and that money is spent or invested locally. They buy $38 million a year worth of Oregon-produced goods—lumber, aluminum, foods, and so on. They pay some $4,450,000 a year in taxes to the state and to local governments—which helps to educate Oregon children, build roads, and carry out a thousand and one other public purposes. And their Oregon investment in land facilities, installations and equipment is more than $400 million.

The Commission also observes that the railroads are always working to better the state's economy. In the last 10 years, for instance, they have cooperated with civic organizations in bringing 746 new industrial plants to Oregon.

What is true in Oregon is true in widely varying degree of every state in this vast land of ours. In the states of big population and concentrated industry the sums of money involved are far greater. But in each case, the railroads today, as yesterday, are among the greatest and most essential of any region's assets.

Finally, this statement by the Oregon Development Commission is worth remembering: "Railroads are proud of the fact that they build and maintain their own private highways, buying land with their own money, grading and laying the rail on it and paying taxes to use it."

The Stockyards Inn

There is a hotel in Chicago which might well have been lifted from the pages of Thackeray or Dickens: the Stockyards Inn.

Originally intended for the convenience of stockmen who were buying or selling in the adjacent yards, the inn has since become a historical landmark. For also adjacent is the huge amphitheatre, the city's largest indoor arena.

And there, again this year, the Democrats will meet in national convention.

In preparation for that convention I have just returned from a visit to the Stockyards Inn. The Tudor architecture is snugly tucked into a corner of those acres of asphalt jungle, a tiny principality.

Inside, 175 rooms reminiscent of the gaslight era are electrically lighted now, some even air conditioned.

But the accumulated layers of half a century of paint cannot conceal the birthdate of the plumbing. With a few minutes to spare between appointments, I loosened my tie and relaxed in the ancient elegance of my room overlooking the courtyard.

There was a room where a hand-clasp had sealed a deal for a thousand dollars . . . where intrigue had sidetracked a man who might have been President . . . where the smell of the yards had mingled with the cigar smoke of generations of politicians.

Outside the great clock in the tower measured the passing years fifteen minutes at a time.

As I began to doze, the great hollow auditorium beyond my window seemed softly to re-echo the thunder of four years before.

And I was one for a while with the ghosts of Presidents past who had listened through these same windows while the wheel of fortune flirled with their fortunes.

In this inn I had sat with Estes Kefauver the morning he proclaimed his "certain nomination" and the night he tossed in the towel.

Here permeating these walls must be the faintest fragrance from General Douglas MacArthur's cornucopia pipe.

And from some of Bob Taft's last cigarettes.

In this somehow hallowed place Tom Dewey had toasted a victory he was never to taste . . .

Adlai Stevenson had paced this floor denying his ambition and Bob Kerr had called a press conference to proclaim his.

And outside the nonchalant clock chimed on.

And the clock and the relative closeness of this last recollection alerted my senses again . . .

From the amphitheatre now came only the sounds of carpenters and electricians preparing the way for another invasion.

Setting the microphones in place for this season's speechmaking.

But while the great hall resounds with oratory . . .

History will be made a hundred yards away.

IN WASHINGTON

Vice Presidential Contests

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Now that Adlai Stevenson has forged so far to the front in the Democratic presidential contest, the two party conventions have resolved themselves into fights over the vice presidency.

Such a situation is without precedent in American politics. Under the convention nominating system vice-presidents have been in a majority of instances been considered as afterthoughts to the selection of the candidate for President.

The illness of President Eisenhower and the resultant doubt whether he should run again have emphasized the importance of the Republican vice-presidential nomination as never before in this century. In the case of the Democrats, discussion of the numerous V-P possibilities is influenced to an extent by the reported dislike of many voters for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The minority party, ready to make an all-out fight to defeat Ike, seeks to learn which of its prospects would weaken the ticket, and which would best offset Nixon, if he is renominated on the Republican ticket.

Though Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to the President on disarmament matters has been verbally spanked by GOP members of Congress and Republican organization leaders for urging that Nixon be dropped from the ticket, an uneasy feeling persists in party circles that Nixon is something of a handicap. Those who feel that way are hard put to assign a reason, other than an impression among some independent voters that Nixon is not presidential timber, which could lose votes for Eisenhower.

Ike himself thinks that Nixon is well qualified, which seems to end the argument, so far as Nixon's renomination is concerned. Political historians point out that many influential Republicans in earlier days felt the same about Vice Presidents Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge, both of whom, in this century, have lent luster to the party escutcheon.

The Nixon opposition is traceable in part to bitter Republican rivalries in California, where Governor

Goodwin Knight still cherishes an ambition to be nominated in place of Nixon and where rumors have been spread that Nixon might lose California for the GOP ticket. The boom for Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts apparently has fallen flat, and Herter's friends do not believe he will permit his name to be placed in nomination at San Francisco, since he has agreed to nominate Nixon.

Adlai Stevenson, unsuccessful Democratic candidate in 1952, now appears to be a certainty for renomination, but not on the first ballot. By convention tradition it would be a grave discourtesy to steam roller any or all of the favorite son candidates, including Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio, Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky and Senator Warren Magnuson of Washington, some of whom are expected to swing their votes to Stevenson on the second ballot.

The vice presidential problem boils down to this: since the Democratic national ticket must have the electoral votes of the solid South to stand a chance of victory, will the convention nominate a vice presidential candidate who will lose votes in Texas, Tennessee, Virginia and Florida, the four southern states which Ike carried in 1952?

Party leaders have already been warned that the only self-declared candidate for Vice President, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota would cost the Democratic ticket heavily in Texas and Virginia, and that nomination of a Catholic, while it might attract some big city northern votes, would prove a handicap in normally Democratic states, and perhaps elsewhere.

Several prominent Catholic Democrats are also known to feel that when a Catholic is nominated by the party, he should be the presidential nominee. One of them has remarked that when the religious issue is faced, it should not be "through the rear door" — i.e., the vice presidency. Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City, both Catholics, have been widely talked of for V-P nomination.

That is why some of the most influential Democrats feel that the vice presidential nomination will go to a compromise candidate, probably Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri or Senator Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Facts Worth Knowing

At the recommissioning ceremonies for the USS BON HOMME RICHARD, her Commanding Officer had this to say about this mighty ship: "It is hard to believe, but true, that our ship with her air group has a striking power greater than the entire U. S. fleet in 1945."

In line with the modern Navy's streamlining program, the Officer of Naval Research is experimenting with a "Flying Platform." Capable of being operated by one man, it operates by means of 2 propellers rotating in opposite directions which suck air through holes in the platform, thus supplying a downward thrust which supplies the vertical lift.

A more elusive target, equipped with an automatic pilot, is being designed to assist in training Navy gunners and guided missilemen. Weighing 600 pounds, the new remote-controlled target drone will have a 12-foot wing spread, and can be launched by catapult from ship or shore.

Ike Wins Less Than Half Of Program In Congress

WASHINGTON, — For the second year running, the Democratic 84th Congress gave President Eisenhower less than half of what he asked for.

Congressional Quarterly's Boxscore showed that the President battled 459 in the session that adjourned July 27. Congress approved 103 of the 224 specific and distinct legislative requests made by the President in 1956. This works out to 45.9 percent, or, in baseball terms, a .459 batting average.

At the end of 1955 or the first session of the 84th Congress had approved 96 of the President's 207 requests, or 46.3 percent. By contrast, the Republican-led 83rd Congress approved nearly 73 percent of the President's requests in 1953 and about 65 percent in 1954.

Not all Presidential requests are equally important. Major proposals, however, usually involve a number of separate requests. Thus, CQ counted nine items in the President's school construction proposal, none of which Congress approved. On the other hand, the President secured Senate approval for 11 minor treaties, each a separate Boxscore request. The net result totaled to balance.

On the eve of adjournment, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D Texas) said the President would get "about 75 percent" of what he wanted, while Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R Calif.) thought the President would have a "good batting average." CQ's Boxscore is non-partisan.

President Eisenhower may be consoled by the fact that he did about as well as the Democratic boss of the Senate. Last Nov. 21 Sen. Johnson proposed a 13-point "program with a heart." CQ's analysis showed 8 distinct legislative items in the Johnson program, of which Congress approved only 1. So the Democratic leader battled only .423.

gress only to be vetoed by Mr. Eisenhower.

As usual, a few major Presidential proposals enjoyed strong bipartisan support on Capitol Hill. Chief of these were the soil bank program, to cut back farm surpluses, and the $37 billion highway program.

In the hauling and pulling of 1956, the President came out on top in fights over public housing, fixed vs. flexible price props and the extension of corporate and excise tax rates without an individual income tax cut.

In turn, he took a drubbing over the mutual security program, when Congress cut his $4.9 billion request by more than $1 billion. And while Congress agreed to customs simplification, it insisted on a crippling restriction.

Politically speaking, both parties probably lost out when Congress failed to enact the school construction and civil rights programs requested by the President. Other important Eisenhower requests that died with adjournment: higher postal rates, for which the President had expressed a "prayerful hope;" revision of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act and authority for the U. S. to join the Organization for Trade Cooperation.

Altogether, the President got very few things he didn't want. Among proposals actively opposed by the President which failed to reach his desk were the so-called Bricker amendment, a "Christmas tree" veterans' benefits bill, a federal dam for Hells Canyon and a $440 million program to build atomic power reactors. None got out of Congress.

As usual, Congress postponed action on statehood for Hawaii (urged by the President) and for Alaska (pushed by the Democrats). The Alaskans will have the first opportunity to express their reaction to all this. Their general election comes up Oct. 9.

A Miracle At Pineville

Baton Rouge, La. Editor, Morning World: I am not a reporter or politician, but having been a volunteer civic worker since 1925, I feel qualified to tell your readers that a miracle has been accomplished at the State Colony for Retarded Children at Pineville.

On Saturday, July 28, I made my first visit to the Colony in five years. The first reaction was depressing, but it brought tears of joy to see what is being done, the wonderful progress that has been made, and the plans for the future. There are 24 dormitory buildings, 14 of them built in the last four years, including good quarters for Negro patients.

Parents of Colony children have a sort of P.T.A. They meet every three months with the Colony staff, and then have a picnic with their children. These parents are far more interested than you or I. I know a marvelous job is being done. They have furnished some "luxury" equipment for the Recreation Center which the Colony could not afford, such as an ice cream machine and soda fountain.

I took some magazines into the dormitory for boys 8 to 12 years old, and in a few minutes every boy had one. I also saw the stockade where the "untidy" can get fresh air and sunshine. Epileptic patients are being taught to weave baskets and play games.

One small boy opened my car door, held it open until I got out, then closed it. I was spoken to by children four years old, who (when babies) were supposed never to be able to talk. That they can now speak is to the credit of the Colony personnel for their great patience and understanding.

During the visit, I learned that rewards have replaced fear, incentives have replaced chains and whips, kindness and understanding have replaced blind discipline. Every face I saw had a smile.

With great happiness, I can report that although tremendous progress has been made, even greater progress is being planned. These simple, first-hand observations may not be sensational, but I believe they will be good news to every Louisiana man and woman with a heart.

Please visit the Colony before you form an opinion.

Our Traffic Problem

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The traffic problem of our city has been discussed thoroughly, but has the PEDESTRIAN PROBLEM been discussed, also?

Any Monroe driver will probably agree with me, that some people walking on the streets of Monroe seem to be completely unaware of the traffic signal lights. Obviously, they assume that the signals are there for the drivers of vehicles, only to observe.

If the YELLOW or CAUTION light is for the driver to slow down and to stop at the signal, why should not the PEDESTRIAN also observe and obey the signal? The people that stroll across the street when a light is in the process of changing from stop to go, not only endanger themselves, but they hold traffic at a standstill, when it should be permitted to move on out of the way.

Possibly, the PEDESTRIAN, on the go, could help our downtown traffic to correct some of its problems, by ALSO OBSERVING AND OBEYING THE TRAFFIC SIGNALS

Racemixing At L. S. U.

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

(The enclosed letter has been dispatched to Senator Rainach, and I release it for publication Sunday, Aug. 5.)

The information given you that the advocacy of racemixing in L. S. U. has emerged since the decision of the Court in 1954 is incorrect to my knowledge. Some time in early 1951, the last year of Dr. Stoke's presidency, I learned that the college paper, the Reveille, had editorialized eulogized a decision recently rendered by the Supreme Court of California (Governor Warren's Court) nullifying by a vote of four to three the State's law against interracial marriage between whites and negroes, and ordering that a license be issued to a white woman to marry a negro.

Unbelieving, I went to Baton Rouge and found, to my amazement, that this College approval of interracial marriage, published two or three months previously, had raised no eyebrows, either in the faculty, on the campus, or in Baton Rouge. One reason suggested was that nobody read the sheet, which must have had some foundations, for one of several whom I saw had heard of it.

Dr. Stoke courteously granted me an interview. He also had never heard of such editorial policy of the paper, presumably under the supervision of college authorities. He promptly sent for the brag who had written the stuff, who sulkily argued that he only meant to commend judicial courage which supported the right of individuals to marry whom they please in disregard of State law. Stoke was prompt to set him right, informing him that from time immemorial the government had regulated matrimonial status in the public interest. This springald editor was obviously an example of the type of half-baked eggheads turned out at great public expense by our educational institutions.

The disapproval of Dr. Stoke led me to believe that such rattled me, but poisonous rubbish would be discontinued. I dropped the matter. It was a bad mistake. It is ominous that once again there appears to have been no objection by the faculty whom we are paying well to protect and educate our youth. I was loath to hurt the matter by public attention. L. S. U. is my Alma Mater and I was unwilling to expose her to ridicule and disparagement. The time for that sort of feeling is past. There is something wrong at L. S. U., and it is time taxpaying parents learn what it is with the least possible delay. That is a legislative duty since the legislature appropriates the funds for its operation. You are to be commended for your courageous action in bringing this condition to public notice.

HARRY P. GAMBLE, SR., President, Society for the Preservation of State Government and Racial Integrity.

W. Sherwin, University of Illinois physics professor, the association's 1956 Science Trophy.

The awards were presented by AFA President G. L. Wilson at a banquet ending the association's 10th anniversary convention.

Everest set the speed record July 25 in the stainless steel X-2 rocket plane, designed to investigate the so-called "thermal barrier"—the enormous heat generated on the skin of a high-speed airplane by air friction.

The citation accompanying the trophy said that the thermal barrier looms ahead as the next great frontier in man's conquest of the sky.

"Lt. Col. Everest has blazed the trail along the thermal barrier frontier with skill and courage, advancing the state of the aeronautical art and contributing significantly to the security of this nation," the citation said.

The 34-year-old Everest, a native of Fairmont, W. Va., had been the project pilot on the X-2 and had conducted a number of glide flights with the sharply swept back plane prior to the July 25 flight.

"He first flew faster than the speed of sound in the Bell X-1 in 1949 and previously held the world's PIA speed record for flying an F-100 at 755.129 MPH," it said.

Symington, also "Aviation's Man of the Year" for 1956, was given the AFA's highest honor for his "determined and enlightened inquiries into the true status of our nation's airpower" and his "repeated efforts to achieve armed strength consistent with the dynamic nature of the military requirement."

The citation also said Symington, who headed a Senate subcommittee which has just completed an investigation of inter-service rivalry, "has fulfilled his responsibility in an outstanding manner, since under the democratic process, our freely elected representatives bear a prime responsibility in determining the posture of our national security."

"He has demonstrated legislative statesmanship of the highest order and has performed a great service for the nation."

Symington received the same trophy in 1948 when he was then first secretary of the Air Force.

Godfrey, who was toastmaster of the banquet, was given the award because "over many years he has combined his unique talents as a radio and television personality with his seasoned knowledge of aviation to provide valuable air age education for many millions of Americans."

Dr. Sherwin, formerly chief scientist of the Air Force, was awarded for "his leadership in the fields of physics and electronics, particularly for his outstanding contributions to the development of a long-range radar system of far-reaching implications."

Lay was honored for "bringing to the screen dramatic writing on an Air Force mission that is significant for its popular appeal and for a realism born of hard-won experience." He wrote the screen play for the film "Strategic Air Command."

Campaign managers for Stevenson, now the pace-setting candidate for the nation, scoffed at the claims made in behalf of Harriman. They in turn laid claim to 130 of the 180 which they had conceded to Kefauver before his withdrawal.

Nasser, who conferred with the American and British ambassadors Friday, called in Soviet ambassador Evgeny Kissel for an 80-minute conference this morning at presidential headquarters. Details of the talk were not disclosed.

An indication of Egyptian feeling came in the newspaper Al Shaab (The People), edited by former Minister of National Guidance Maj. Salah Salem.

"Egypt will never submit to western military or economic threats," Al Shaab said.

An American official said here today that the "protection" under the stepped up U. S. Coast Guard vigilance probably will hold down to helping the U. S. shrimp boats establish their location more accurately.

In case of a seizure outside the nine-mile limit, an accurate report by a U. S. Coast Guard boat might be useful for defense in the hearing.

Sparks Tells Why He Will Oppose Repeal Of State's Two-Thirds Amendment

Sen. James D. Sparks, of Monroe, yesterday released a letter in which he explains his reasons for opposing a proposed repeal of a constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds majority vote of the legislature to increase taxes.

Sparks said he would be unable to attend a meeting today in Alexandria where legislators opposing the repeal of the amendment are conferring to map campaign strategy to defeat the proposal when it comes to a vote of the people this fall.

In a letter to W. M. Rainach, one of the opponents, Sparks said he would be unable to attend the Alexandria meeting. Rainach is secretary of the "34" Club an unofficial organization of legislators who voted against bringing the issue to a vote of the people.

The text of Sparks' writing, which explains the reasoning behind his position, is as follows:

"For purposes of the record, you are advised that I am against the repeal of this Constitutional Amendment. As you know, during the recent session of the Legislature I voted against submitting the matter again to the people. I sincerely feel that the tax load borne by our citizens at this time is high enough, and that additional taxes should not be enacted unless approved by two-thirds of the Legislature."

"I think you should know that I have heretofore entertained serious doubts regarding this amendment (and at one time opposed it) for the reason that a minority of the Legislature can control one of the most vital functions of the Legislature—namely, the power of taxation."

On the other hand, it has been demonstrated repeatedly in this state and elsewhere that the power to tax carries with it the absolute power to destroy, and I have come to the conclusion that to require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature on a matter which can result in the destruction of a single industry or a segment of our economy is not an unreasonable restraint on this power of the Legislature."

"While it is perhaps beside the point, it must nevertheless be kept in mind the peculiar situation with which we in Louisiana are faced in that we have and enjoy today one of the highest tax structures of any state in the American Union. This is true although during the past few years we have been the recipients of an unexpected windfall of over a hundred million dollars a year from state mineral leases and royalties. A total of $120,151,891.29 was received for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1955, and I understand it was even higher for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1956."

"In addition to this, we have a mittee to organize speaking teams to stump the state. Also planned are newspaper, radio and TV appeals.

Other matters to be discussed include the method of financing the campaign and for having poll workers on election day.

The committee also plans to set up a liaison between the group and various citizens groups being organized to fight the amendment.

Sen. James Sparks of Monroe reported tonight he would be unable to attend, but was against repeal because the tax load was heavy enough now.

Civil Service job, and a marked many in any civilian pursuit he may undertake.

The 31-year-old Marine could have gotten a maximum of three years in prison and a dishonorable discharge. He was convicted last night of drinking on duty and negligent homicide, the latter defined by the courts as "absence of due care by one responsible for the safety of others."

In view of the favorable verdict, McKee and defense lawyer Emile Zola Berman were confident of a light sentence as they stood at attention before the president of the court, Col. Edward L. Hutchinson, who read the sentence.

Berman earlier had asked the court to set McKee free to be with his wife, whose third child is expected next week. He also urged that McKee's Marine career not be cut short.

McKee, himself, had said a few hours before the sentencing: "I'll stay in the Marines if they'll have me."

The seven jurors were a grave lot as they filed into the courtroom at 1:56 p.m. 4 hours and 29 minutes after they had begun deliberating the sentence.

Hutchinson read the sentence: Dismissal from the corps with a bad conduct discharge.

Forfeiture of $30 a month for a period of nine months from McKee's pay.

Nine months at hard labor. Reduction in rank to private, cutting McKee's pay and allowances from $345 a month to $241, less the $30 forfeiture.

The group called the Legislative Tax Safeguard Committee, is opposing Gov. Earl Long's program to wipe out the constitutional provision requiring a two-thirds legislative majority for passing tax bills.

It also is opposing the governor's plan for a constitutional convention.

Rep. Robert Munson of Rapides Parish, a spokesman for the committee, said the two amendments are complementary. He said if the constitutional convention proposal passes, the two-thirds majority requirement could be eliminated in the new constitution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—UP—A beed of force of government revenue agents seized 14,498 moonshine stills last year, a total almost as high as in previous years, the Internal Revenue Service reported Saturday. Volume of mash seized was 8,641,568 gallons, higher than the average in the 1930's after prohibition was repealed.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24—UP—Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel of New Orleans will speak Friday at Notre Dame University.

He will address the opening session of a three-day meeting in the Indiana town which will launch a year-long campaign to foster Roman Catholic teachings on race relations and juvenile delinquency.

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 4—UP—George Baillio, Lake Charles businessman, today was elected chairman of the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors. Baillio, recently appointed to the board by Gov. Earl K. Long, had served on the board previously. He succeeded Lewis Gottlieb of Baton Rouge as chairman. Theo. Cangelosi, Baton Rouge, was elected vice-chairman and Mrs. Margaret Dixon of Baton Rouge was elected secretary.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 4—UP—A brief but violent rain and electrical storm struck the western section of Mobile today, flooding streets, some residences and at least one motel.

At one motel on highway 90, a fire department crew was called to pump the four-foot deep water from the grounds. Twelve rooms of the motel and the office were slightly damaged. The 4-lane highway, the water at its height was up to automobile hubcaps. A resident of one of the flooded areas said his home rain gauge measured seven inches within an hour.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4—UP—The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has handed down the following decisions: Illinois Central Railroad Co. vs. Nathan R. Underwood and Richard M. Murray Jr. Appeal from the United States District Court for the southern district of Mississippi. Reversed and rendered.

BOMBAY, Aug. 4—UP—India started producing atomic energy for the first time today with a reactor in a Bombay suburb. Dr. H. J. Bhabha, chairman of the Indian Atomic Energy Commission, told a news conference the reactor would be used for training personnel for atomic power stations, which "we will have in ten years and even possibly five years."

The reactor received enriched uranium fuel elements from the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority. It has a capacity of 1,000 kilowatts.

BATON ROUGE — UP — Farm and Home Week visitors at Louisiana State University next week will be guests at receptions given by the LSU president and the governor's mansion.

LSU president Roy H. Middleton and Mrs. Middleton will be hosts at the LSU Faculty Club Tuesday, and Gov. and Mrs. Earl

K. Long will greet guests Thursday.

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 4—UP—Roy O. Martin Lumber Co. today announced purchase of the Colfax Lumber and Creosote Co. of Pineville, La., for approximately $1½ million.

Purchase includes the plant, inventory and offices in Pineville and 15,000 acres of timberland.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4—UP—More than 1,300 persons are slated to attend a five day education meeting here next week.

Delegates from the United States, Alaska, Canada and Hawaii will converge on the city for the national convention of Delta Kappa Gamma society.

The meeting will open Monday and continue through Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4—UP—Mrs. William Leisinger, 65, suffered a fatal heart attack last night when a fire broke out in the rear of her home.

Mrs. Leisinger, her husband, an Illinois Central Railroad engineer, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Alma Brandt, were watching television when Mrs. Brandt saw flames.

After the small fire was extinguished, Mrs. Leisinger was taken to Charity Hospital when she complained she felt ill.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4—UP—Bamboo, the oldest gorilla in captivity, celebrated his 30th birthday today.

The 6-foot, 400-pounder who came to the Philadelphia Zoo in 1926, celebrated his birthday with a quantity of watermelon, cantaloupes, bananas and oranges.

In past years he has thrown melons at spectators on his birthday. But now, almost white-haired he celebrated with dignity and appetite.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—UP—A new set of regulations governing sulphur permits and leases on public lands in Louisiana was proposed today by the interior department.

The new revisions, patterned after the department's regulations pertaining to potash and sodium, will detail requirements and procedures that are only broadly covered by present rules in effect since 1932.

A major change is the elimination of preference rights formerly accorded holders of oil and gas permits to obtain sulphur leases when sulphur discoveries are made in the course of drilling for oil.

The proposed new regulations will not be approved in final form until the general public has had a chance to comment.

Ferriday Woman Dies; Burial Rites Scheduled

FERRIDAY, Aug. 4 (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Claribel Hampton Burford, who died at her home Saturday morning after a long illness, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the St. Patrick Catholic church with Rev. Father T. J. Lennon officiating. Interment will follow in the Natchez City Cemetery under the direction of Comer Funeral Home.

Mrs. Burford was a well known Ferriday business woman, in general insurance, a florist and was a member of the Ferriday Chamber of Commerce and garden club. Survivors include her husband, B. H. Burford, of Ferriday; one son, Hiram Gregory, of Ferriday; one stepson, Duncan Burford, of Ferriday; one stepdaughter, Miss Elizabeth Burford, of Ferriday; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hampton, of Ferriday.

Pall bearers will be Steve Morgan, John Riggs, Kenneth Doyle, George Perry, Claude Nelson, Joe Davis, Marcus Schuchs and Ogden Kemp.

There are 22 cane-growing parishes in Louisiana which combined provide 90 per cent of the cane sugar produced in the United States.

Basic Factors In Neat Clothing Is Explained Here

Selecting fabrics and transforming them into garments require intelligence, imagination and enthusiasm. These are basic factors in clothing, Irving Leibowitz told a group of employees of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company. His talk was made at one of a series of meetings emphasizing various aspects of charm and planned by Mrs. Sybil Christman, district personnel supervisor.

The Charm School discussions were given on the Northeast State campus under sponsorship of the Telephone Women's Activity Club. Miss Marie Williamson, Northeast home economics major, modeled several frocks to demonstrate lines of clothing, effects of combining materials and colors, and dresses which were appropriate for different occasions.

Leibowitz stressed the importance of intelligence and imagination in choosing materials and using them to advantage. He also emphasized the value of enthusiasm in the actual creation of the garment. "There is nothing more frustrating than becoming disgruntled over clothing and finally giving up the job of finishing the project."

Intelligent buying of materials can mean economy, the speaker said. He referred to the use of crease resistant cottons, which are proving popular, in cutting costs of pressing. The "mussed up" look may easily be avoided by the smart office woman or traveler who chooses crease resistant materials for clothing.

Color combinations reflect intelligence and enthusiasm, Leibowitz said. He referred to the growing popularity of heavier cotton sail cloth which calls for fewer petticoats, a result of a casual type of living. Cotton satin is in demand for street sport or party frocks. This fabric, with its increased beauty and practicality, has not replaced silk, however. Silk was dormant for a while but it now is coming into its own again.

The duster, which has been a top interest, originated with Jennifer Jones in "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," the speaker explained. He demonstrated the interesting effect gained in an ensemble comprising a colored frock and plain duster which picked up the tones of the dress.

Embroidered effects are best in straight lines as a rule. Additional dressing may be gained by adding jewelry, flowers or a scarf at the waistline. Embroidered materials lend themselves to jackets, too. In using any very heavy material, the speaker warned against the full skirt.

Cotton lace is a natural in popularity, the speaker said, because of its adaptability in style and use. "It has proved excellent for the dress or duster."

Also on the list of practical fabrics is the linen weave material which does not require the amount of pressing which pure linen demands.

The woman who must be careful of larger figures will be interested in fabrics which have a dye-set type of print. These materials may be found in unusually soft prints which do not emphasize the large figure.

Personnel of the club who attended the meeting were: Mrs. Sybil Christman, Mrs. Minnie Thibault, Mrs. Carlotta Thomas, Mrs. Eva Ferguson, Mrs. Pat Barrington, Mrs. Twila Dysart, Mrs. Annie Gibson, Mrs. Gladys Domingues, Mrs. Ruby Simpson, Miss Jerry Earl, Mrs. Alice Hance, Mrs. Louellen George, Miss Lorraine Ragland and Miss Phoebe Miller.

The official motto of the state of Louisiana is "Union, Justice, Confidence."

said, but is payable during the next few years out of the general fund and is not to be considered in the same category as the long-term revenue bonds which were voted by the people.

As of June 30, 1956, the city had $69,000 cash in banks, with which to pay off debts of $847,100.

In addition to this $847,100, as of this date, the city is committed to buy $53,000 worth of merchandise not yet delivered and owes $56,500 on contracts due or in progress, the mayor continued.

Now for a look at the picture of the cost of operating the city during the coming year.

Out of the city's expected income it will be necessary to set aside $637,150 required by law for payments of principal and interest on revenue bonds which were voted by the people. Howard stressed. In addition to this $637,150, another $3,772,000 will be required to operate the police, fire, streets and parks, water and light, city bus, and all other departments.

Howard stated that this will total $4,409,150 to be paid out during the coming year for normal operation. It does not include the expenditure of any money for new equipment or necessary expansion or overhaul of the light plant, light distribution system and water plant he pointed out. Neither does it include paying off the past due accounts.

The income side of the picture looks like this: revenue from the 22 sources is expected to total $3,813,360, based on income figures for the year ending April 27, 1956. Obviously, the city has consistently spent far more than it has received.

Projecting these figures through the balance of this fiscal year—April 1957, the city of Monroe will then owe approximately $1,400,000 excluding bonded indebtedness.

Boy Struck By Auto On Coleman Avenue

A five-year-old Negro boy suffered minor body bruises yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile on Coleman in West Monroe.

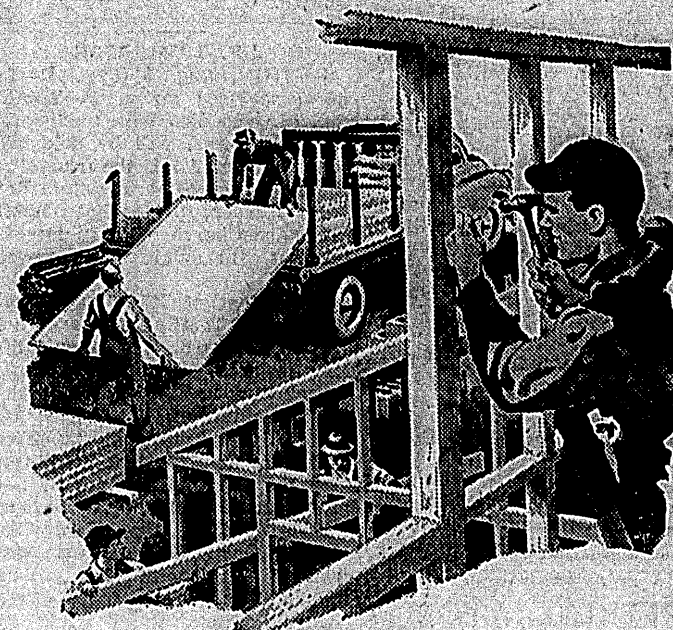

The boy, identified as Donnie L. Montgomery, 105 Williams quarters in West Monroe, was taken to Conway Memorial hospital where he was treated for bruises and held for observation, police said.

Driver of the automobile involved was identified as Vertis Rawls, 45, 309 Lazzar, West Monroe.

Witnesses told police the accident appeared to be unavoidable.

Business Showed Midsummer Lull During Past Week

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Business settled down into a midsummer lull this week.

The steel industry was still enmeshed in final contract settlements following over-all agreement on general wage policy a week ago.

Auto assembly lines slowed as manufacturers started the big changeover to 1957 models. Production and refining of crude oil slackened. Retail trade backed off slightly from the peak level of recent weeks.

All signs indicated, though, that business in a few weeks will bounce back with a flourish.

The steelmakers were getting set for an all-out production push to meet demands of customers who for the past six strike-harried weeks had been living off inventories. Declared Chairman Roger M. Blough of U.S. Steel Corp.: "Once we get back into production, we should operate at close to capacity for the balance of the year."

Best news for the auto industry was the steady whittling down of new car stocks which a few months back had reached the staggering total of 904,000. People who usually make good guesses said the Aug. 1 total, still to be announced, would be well below 600,000.

With production cut back sharply from the furious pace of a year ago, dealers at long last were selling more cars than they were getting. Hopes ran high for public acceptance of the new 1957 cars. For most models, sales figures will be lower — because of smaller wheels. Prices, though, are expected to be higher.

For the auto industry, the steel strike settlement had come just in time. Some manufacturers had planned to hold down early output of 1957 cars. With ample steel assured, they now had a green light for almost unlimited production.

Biggest question was the attitude of the consumer. Would the flashy new re-styled models, at higher prices, touch off another buying binge? While dealers waited for the 1957's to come out, sales records toppled on used car lots.

The week brought new evidence that the business snapback expected in the fall would derive a good deal of its bounce from higher wages. Hard upon the heels of the steel wage settlement, the nation's biggest aluminum producer, Aluminum Co. of America, came to terms with the Aluminum Workers International Union. The new contract closely parallels the three-year pact negotiated by the steel union.

At week's end there was no question but that the steel wage pattern would leave an indelible imprint in other industries. The prospect of faster pay envelopes in the hands of U.S. factory workers cheered retail merchants.

At the same time, the economy was showing fresh symptoms of inflation.

Interest rates started moving up again.

Building Permits In West Monroe Total $285,000

In July the City of West Monroe issued a building permit to the First United Pentecostal Church to construct a two-story church at 400 Coleman, at a cost of $100,000. Other building permits totaled more than $185,000.

A permit was issued to the Ouachita Parish school board in the amount of $28,458 for the construction of additions to West Monroe High School.

Other permits were issued to: Menefee Oil Co., Inc., Service Station, 600 Coleman, 12,500.00; Tyner Petrus Co., Warehouse, 103 N. Riverfront, 10,000.00; S. R. FLYING LAWN CHAIR
MUSTANG, Okla. (AP)—Five-year-old Garland and 3-year-old Paul Dalton, snug in their grandfather's storm cellar when twin tornadoes skidded over Mustang, started a search for their miniature metal lawn chair.

The boys found the chair twisted about a fence post a hundred yards from the home of their grandpop, E. G. Dalton.

Dalton said the chair had been behind a small game-bird house that was wrecked in the storm.

Tolbert Retires After 20 Years With City Police

Chief of Detectives Hugh Tolbert has retired from the police forces after 20 years of service.

"We are losing a valuable and loyal man and the city and the public in general is indebted to him for his services," Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard stated.

Chief of Police James C. Kelly, Jr., stated that "Chief Tolbert, having been employed for 20 years, has requested retirement. Retirement was granted by the city council and the pension board."

"Chief Tolbert is to be commended on the fine work he has done as a police officer. In the past seven years he has commanded the detective division and has done an exceptionally good job in that position, has proven himself a top-notch investigator and has made a splendid record for himself in that field throughout the state."

"My well-wishes go with Chief Tolbert as I wish him a most successful retirement," Chief Kelly concluded.

"I want to thank the citizens of Monroe for their cooperation during these years, the local officers, the parish sheriff's department, and law enforcement officers in the surrounding area without which we could not have been as successful as we have been in the past years," Chief Tolbert said.

Chief Tolbert joined the force August 3, 1936 as a patrolman under Chief of Police C. D. Tidwell. He advanced to desk sergeant and from that to secretary of the Chief of Police and Identification officer, a position he held for five years.

He was then made captain of the afternoon shift. From that he became a one-man detective department, the first detective employed by the city. He has been head of that department since.

The detective department has increased until now it has eight men, before the chief's retirement, including a woman secretary.

He has served under five mayors—Arnold Bernstein, Harvey H. Benoit, George Breece, John E. Coon and Howard.

Curtiss-Wright To Stage Largest Finance Move

WOOD-RIDGE, N. J., Aug. 4.—UP—The Curtiss-Wright Corporation, giant of the aviation world, announced Saturday an agreement under which it will try to pull the Studebaker-Packard Corp. out of the financial doldrums with the help of a famous West German auto maker.

Curtiss-Wright, ending months of speculation and rumor about a possible merger with Studebaker-Packard, said the auto making firm would continue to operate as a separate firm but with guidance from Curtiss-Wright.

An oral agreement on a three-year advisory management contract had been reached, Curtiss-Wright said. It is expected to be "formalized" in the next few days.

Announcement of what may prove to be one of the biggest financial maneuvers in the industrial world was made by Roy T. Hurley, chairman and president of Curtiss-Wright.

Hurley led off his announcement by disclosing that Curtiss-Wright, Studebaker-Packard and Daimler-Benz A. G., of West Germany had concluded a program for the "design, development, testing and production of diesel and gasoline engines and components for the aviation, automotive, industrial and marine fields."

He said the program provided for "the continuation of Studebaker-Packard as an important participant in the automobile industry."

It provides that Curtiss-Wright will make payments of $35 million for long-term leases on Studebaker-Packard plants at Ulca, Mich., near Detroit, and Chippewa, Ind., near South Bend, for the outright purchase of Studebaker-Packard's "Aerophysical Development Corporation in Santa Barbara, Calif., and for the purchase of "certain" defense assets.

All three plants will be operated as wholly-owned Curtiss-Wright subsidiaries, while Studebaker-Packard continues to function as a separate entity with its own board of directors and officers.

Hurley said his company would be able to place about $100 million in defense orders every year in the leased plants, assuring increased employment in the Detroit and South Bend areas.

These facilities will be used to produce engine components, spare parts and diesel engines at first. Later, they will be used also to turn out aircraft turbine engines and missiles now under development.

All Studebaker-Packard automotive manufacturing will be concentrated in the company's South Bend plants, Hurley said. They will take "a new approach to automotive production and marketing," Hurley said, but he did not disclose what this approach would be.

"In the future," he said, "Studebaker-Packard will operate in selected, diversified areas of the automotive field instead of competing on a broad front."

Under the agreement with Daimler-Benz, Studebaker-Packard will be able to obtain important German developments in the diesel and gasoline engine fields, Hurley said. In exchange, the West German firm will be able to produce certain Curtiss-Wright products in Germany.

A Curtiss-Wright spokesman, asked to elaborate on the announcement, declined to go beyond the formal statement in explaining the extent of the company's control of Studebaker-Packard.

But the statement did say that the overall program provided an option to Curtiss-Wright to buy 5 million shares of unissued Studebaker-Packard stock for $5 a share during the first two years of the "advisory management" contract.

A special meeting of Studebaker-Packard shareholders will be called to vote on the stock option clause and the change of the par value of the stock from the present $10 to $1 a share.

Ground Breaking Set For New Episcopal Church

Ground breaking ceremonies will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday for the $27,400 proposed St. Thomas Episcopal church in the 1300 block of Filhol avenue.

Rev. Robert Ratelle, who sparked the building program, will turn the first spade of dirt. Rev. John M. Allin, rector of Grace Episcopal church, will be present.

The congregation of the mission has been meeting in one of the classrooms at the college. Father Ratelle has been one of the priest in charge. He is now assigned as rector of St. James Episcopal church in Alexandria.

The first unit of St. Thomas, which will be constructed of wood and brick, will eventually be used as the parish house. It will contain church school rooms.

Playground In City Recreation Department Close

Playgrounds sponsored by the Monroe Recreation Department closed Friday with an all day picnic at Barkdull Faulk for the white children and at Carroll High for the colored children. Programs at both schools were the same.

About 500 children took part in the activities at Barkdull Faulk. All playgrounds had competition in softball, ping pong, zelball, horse shoes, cork ball, box hockey and croquet.

At noon the children ate their lunches under a tree and at 1:15 Chief Roberts of the fire department came down with the street shower. The children were divided into age groups to take their turn under the shower.

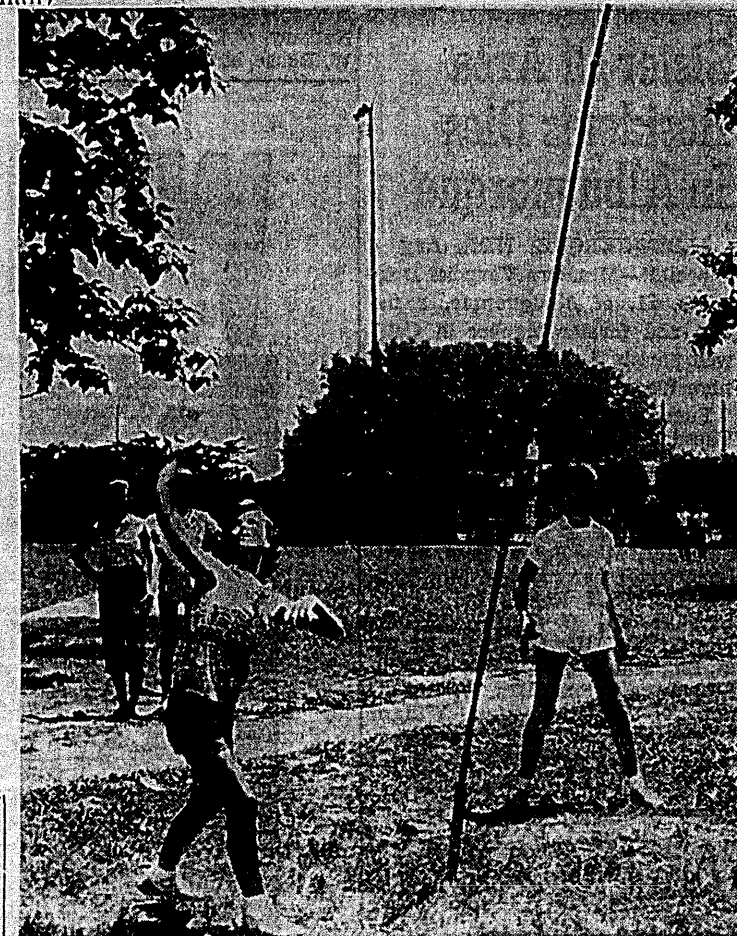

The attendance for playgrounds this year was excellent. The total number who participated was reported as 33,350.

El Miro Temple No. 187 Will Meet

Royal Vizard J. E. Newsom, of the El Miro Temple No. 187, announced that the organization will hold its regular meeting Monday 8 p.m., at Castle Hall, 127 1/2 St. John Street, and extends a cordial invitation for all officers and members to be present for this important meeting.

Plans are scheduled for a large Dokey Ceremonial at which applications are to be brought in and fees is to be worn by members and officers.

Government economists predict the registration of motor vehicles in the United States will go from the present 61 million to 81 million by 1965.

Broader Program At Neville High Slated This Year

Neville High School will offer a broader extra-curricular program over last year in activities such as drama, school publications, music, speech and others in these related fields.

In drama the Neville chapter of the National Thespian Society will be re-chartered and reorganized on the local level. This organization is devoted to the advancement of dramatic theatrical activity. It is planned that a number of radio and television programs will be presented in the speech field this school year.

A special girls' ensemble, consisting of exceptional music students, will function as an extra rewarding attraction. Besides this, the regular singing groups will still operate, along with the exceptional band program.

Neville's 36-year-old student newspaper, Neville Sizzler, is being completely reorganized and will operate on a vastly different and expanded setup with 16 issues (bi-weekly) scheduled to be published during the school year. All staff positions are still open and will be until about the second week of school. Many students will find a great variety of positions in which they may affiliate themselves. It is also planned that several subordinate publications to the Sizzler will be produced, according to financial resources and student interest.

Any new student in grades seven through twelve who has moved into Monroe since June 1 may register at Neville any day Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. This excludes all of last year's sixth graders in Monroe City Schools. NHS principal Paul Neal will be present for immediate registration, and he urges that this matter be taken care of as soon as possible in order that transcripts from the student's previous school may be secured by Neville before school begins September 4.

During the past week registration has progressed quite rapidly with students from four states, besides Louisiana, the District of Columbia and one foreign nation enrolling at Neville. The latest count sets the figures at 1279, an all time high for the city high school with this sum expected to be somewhat greater by the time school starts.

This large number of new enrollees this summer is attributed to the growth of Monroe, with many new families moving in each week. Records in the Neville office show that new students who enrolled last week came from Washington, D.C., Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Missouri and Brazil, South America. This influx of newcomers adds greatly to Monroe's population and the continued growth of its City School system.

In grades seven through twelve students living anywhere may enroll at Neville High School. Any other information concerning Neville may be secured by mail, by phone or in person. For the information of newcomers to Monroe Neville is located on 600 Forsythe Avenue across the street from the municipal park and golf course on the city's North side.

AMATEUR BEEKEEPER CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An estimated 8,000 to 10,000 bees swarmed atop a downtown traffic light and sent pedestrians scurrying.

Charles McGhee, a lens grinder for an optical company, cleared up the jam when he got a box and ladder from a nearby store and after about half an hour coaxed the queen and her followers into the makeshift hive.

McGhee, an amateur beekeeper, later transferred the swarm to a hive at his home.

The USS HANCOCK takes its place along with the Navy's other ultra-modern ships by installing the first closed circuit television to be used aboard any ship in the Far East. And now in addition to the morale-building entertainment value, interesting shipboard activities can be televised, and the Commanding Officer can issue orders to any man wherever his duty station may be.

Legion Post To Install Officers On Monday Night

At a regular meeting Monday at 8 p.m., the American Legion Post L. B. Faulk No. 13, will install officers for the coming year, 1956-57, to be held on Forsythe Avenue.

The following officers will be installed:

Sam Ruben, Jr., commander; A. O. Ware, 1st vice-commander; Milton Ford, Jr., as 2nd vice-commander; C. B. Braun, adjutant; Harold Gill, finance officer; C. M. Mitchell, historian; Father Dennis Curran, chaplain; Sam Rizzo and Donald Berry, as color bearers.

Gordon P. Gibson, the outgoing commander, extended an invitation for all members to be present. Installing officer for the occasion will be John Wagner, district commander.

FIRE CHIEF RINGS ALARM SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Who turned in the alarm when fire broke out in a cafe here? Well, everybody in the place was busy helping carry out the cash register and other articles.

Fire Chief Ellis Bauer happened to be driving by. He saw the commotion and rang the alarm. Damage? $1,500 worth.

One of the outstanding members of the United States Navy Band is Richard Bain. Known as the nation's youngest concert harmonist, he has been featured with many of the country's leading symphonic organizations, including the Boston Symphony, the Buffalo Philharmonic, the New England Philharmonic, and has made guest appearances with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians.

'Dial-A-Prayer' Now In Winnsboro

WINNSBORO, Aug. 4 (Special)—The Winnsboro First Methodist church initiated a "dial-a-prayer" service in the Winnsboro area Saturday morning.

At 9:55 a.m. a telephone call to 5161 at Winnsboro brought the listener one minute of prayer. The first call was made to the new service at that time. The pastor, Rev. W. H. Bengtson, and William R. Baker, chairman of the board of trustees, and T. L. Foreman, telephone company district manager, were at the church and observed the operation of the automatic answering device during the initial call.

The new service will be in service 24 hours a day.

Persons desiring the benefits of the prayer, which will be changed every few days, were welcomed to dial 5161, Winnsboro.

COOL WATER PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—On the day Bay County citizens were to vote on bonds for a countywide water system, Panama City radio station WDLB kept the issue in everyone's mind by playing no music all day except the song "Cool Water."

The voters approved the water system by a huge majority.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Legion Memorial Stadium will offer varied programs this week beginning tomorrow with Gus Kallio's outdoor boxing show, the American Legion Junior baseball state championship finals Tuesday and possibly Wednesday, and the Monroe Sports seeking to halt the surge of the Alexandria Aces in the Evangeline League and Saturday.

The Clarence Cook-Jimmy Martinez card promises to attract a near record crowd tomorrow with Cook, the Louisiana product fighting out of St. Louis, drawing the second most important fight of his career and possibly his toughest. Originally Clarence, the ex-Oak Grove High School fistic champ and Bastrop paper mill hand, was supposed to be meeting Del Flanagan who would have been plenty tough for Cook, but Del injured an elbow in training and had to pull down. Thus the Louisiana mittman winds up with a tougher foe and certainly Clarence will be entering the ring for the ten-rounder as the less favored probably for the first time on a Kallio card.

Not since his defeat by Virgil Akins at Dallas, Tex., last February (only the second loss on his record) has Clarence been offered the chance to meet such a man as Martinez, conqueror of Flanagan, Al Andrews, Bobby Dykes and other well regarded fighters. Martinez last August went the distance in dropping a decision to Carl "Bobo" Olson, when "Bobo" was still king of the middleweights, and only last July 6 held powerful Ernie Durando to a split decision at Portland, Ore., and Paul Cour, sportswriter for the Portland Journal called Durando's win the "biggest steal since the Brink's robbery," while Don McLeod, writing for The Oregonian, said "with the exception of Durando's manager and the two judges who cast the decisive votes for him, there wasn't a soul in the crowd who thought the New Jersey middleweight was entitled to the verdict.... when the lively-moving battle ended Ernie's face looked like something that had been scraped from a butcher's meat block."

Fight fans from throughout this area have been grabbing tickets on advanced sale for nearly three weeks, and Kallio believes the turnout will rival that of nearly a month ago when Cook decided Jimmy Perrault of St. Paul, Minn.

Tuesday night's baseball game between McCain-Richards Motors of Monroe and La Rocca of New Orleans will be the second in the state title series between the two clubs. Manager Ralph Sims had his boys in New Orleans last night for the opener, and if the team that wins the first can win again Tuesday it's all over. Should the series be evened Tuesday, they'll meet here again Wednesday to settle the championship.

Manager Sims credits teamwork and clutch hitting with carrying his Monroe club this far. The team may not have some of the fat batting averages the Monroe titled teams turned out by "Woody" Boyles a few years ago, nor pitchers that are as much the rage as "Little Red" Swanson, now of the Pittsburgh Pirates, but boys like Dickie Crowe, Bob Groves, "Spec" Lewis, Mickey Yerger, Lewis Kincaid, and Lannie Johnson are socking .300 or better, while the big three of the mound staff, Reeves, Jim Atlick and Kincaid, until last night had won 20 games between then against only two losses. Groves and Yerger, as relief chunkers, earned one win apiece.

When the Legion Juniors get through, and they have Thursday to finish here if rain should interfere, the Monroe Sports return for a four-day home stand. They start with Alexandria Friday and the Aces have suddenly become about the most dangerous club in the Evangeline circuit. Lolling helplessly in the cellar a month ago, the Aces have been climbing steadily and apparently nothing but a sudden collapse can keep Alex from gaining the first division. The up-and-down Sports need the wins to keep ahead themselves.

A six-man tag team brawl that includes a pair of midget grapplers heads Tuesday night wrestling card at Gus Kallio's Arena.

Jack Curtis and George Curtis, the Mississippi brothers, will have "Cowboy" Bradley, rugged little midget tussler working in their corner against a combination of Lou Klein, Golden Terror, and Tiny Roe the latter the mighty mite of this team.

The relay scramble will have only one difference from the regulation tag tussles usually offered by Promoter Kallio. Any time a midget is tagged into action, the goes to work.

Klein, the matman working with the hooded Terror and Roe, is a newcomer to the southern circuit, working out of Detroit, and he promises to be a rugged new test for the Curtis boys, longtime favorites with Kallio's customers.

The tag bout will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win. One-fall preliminaries will introduce all main event participants with Roe meeting Bradley and the Curtis boys drawing for Golden Terror and Klein.

Kallio announced there will be no advance in admission prices.

Rebels Soar Out Of Loop Cellar As Sports Sink

The floundering Monroe Sports suffered their fifth straight defeat at the hands of the Baton Rouge Rebels in losing the second of a double header here last night, 3-2, after the Rebels won the opener, 3-1, and climbed out of the Evangeline League cellar. The twin bill was slated to take care of a scheduled game today so the clubs could participate in the second All-Star game at Lake Charles instead.

"Chuck" Cottler's triple behind a base on balls to Ken Adkins in the third inning gave the Rebels the opening run of the first game. They added another in the fourth when Rod Kanehl's wide throw to second allowed Al Mendoza, aboard by forcing Jimmy Smith, who had singled, to score all the way from first and Bob Meador ran the Reb margin to 3-0 in the fifth when he was safe on an error and scored on Joe Garcia's double.

Rod Kanehl broke pitcher Jim Umbright's shutout with an inside-the-park homer laced into left center in the fifth. But Umbright went on to win a five-hitter at the expense of the three-hit pitching of Monroe's Jerry Neal. Joe Miller hit 3-for-3 to lead the first game batting.

Baton Rouge jumped into a two-run lead in the first inning of the nightcap. Two were out when a triple by Garcia scored Cottler, and McKee singled Garcia across. Cottler was aboard by forcing Meador who had walked, and Cottler, before Garcia's blow, was safe at second, on an attempted steal when Kanehl dropped the throw from Frank Kabbes.

Successive singles by Cottler, Garcia, and McKee brought another Reb run in the third. The Sports were held hitless for five, and two thirds innings until Kanehl singled off Joe Habel in the sixth, but it was the eighth frame before the Sports cracked Habel's shutout with two runs. Kanehl doubled and scored on a single by Keith Mitchell who took second on a bobble in center field. Miller's single scored Mitchell. With Jim Johnston at bat, Umbright came to Habel's relief. The Sports threatened no more.

Stewart's 209 Leading All-American Open Field

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Earl Stewart, Jr., a 34-year-old club pro from Dallas who has played in only two tournaments earlier this year, rapped out a four-under par 68 at Tam O'Shanter Saturday for the 54-hole lead in the "All American" Open with a total of 209, seven under par.

Sawart, a national collegiate champion 15 years ago, was only one stroke ahead of Ed Furgol, the National Open champion two years ago, who turned in a 69 Saturday for a 210 total. Stewart had a 68 Saturday, one of the best scores of the day.

Stewart, in an 11-way tie for seventh place when the third round started, lost no time in moving in front. He knocked three strokes off par on the first nine with four birdies, four pars and one bogey, and on the back nine he was one under par despite two birdies.

Furgol finished with a 25-foot putt on the 18th green for a birdie which moved him ahead of four challengers at 211, including veteran Sam Snead, who also carried a 69 Saturday. Others tied with Snead were Duth Harrison, with a 68, Tony Holguin, with a 69, and Ted Kroll with a 71.

Three more players were deadlocked at 212, Doug Ford, Argentine Antonio Cerda, who shared the lead after 18 holes with Australian Peter Thomson, and Jack Fleck, 1955 National Open champion. At 213 were Jim Ferrier, Mike Dietz, Jimmy Demaret, George Bayer and Julius Boros, who was a stroke behind Dick Mayer after 36 holes at 139. Mayer tallied a 77 Saturday for 215.

There was a three-way tie for first place after 54 holes in the women's pro chase with veteran Patty Berg, Chicago, Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga., and Kathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., deadlocked at 228, even par for the distance.

Miss Suggs had the best round of the trio Saturday, turning in a one under par 75 while both Miss Berg and Mrs. Cornelius, the national open champion, who had been tied after 36 holes, each went one over par.

Holding third place in the division was Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis., with a 75 Saturday for 229 while Betty Dodd, Louisville, Ky., fired a two under par 74 for a 232 total and fifth place.

Wanda Sanchez, Baton Rouge, La., setting the pace in the women's amateur chase since the first day, had her worst round of the tourney, an 81, but continued to hold the lead with a 238 total. Trailing her at 240 was Ruth Jensen, Seattle, Wash., with an 80 Saturday, while Anne Richardson, Columbus, Ohio, was third with 244 on an 83.

Honolulu's Jackie Yates had a chance to take third, reporting an 84 for a 243 total. But later it was learned her score was erroneously entered with a five instead of a six on the 14th hole. She was penalized two strokes to give her 246 and fifth place.

The Palace downed KLIC, 10-6, yesterday for the championship of the second half of the season. Parks hurled the seven-hit victory while Stringer was on the hill for the losers. Gunn banged out three hits for the Palace in his third time at bat. Stringer led KLIC hitting with two-for-two.

The same two teams will meet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. for the league championship for the year. KLIC won the first half of the schedule.

Rain Puts Off Legion Playoff Until Tonight

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 4. (Special)—Rain tonight forced postponement of the opening state championship American Legion Junior baseball game, between La Rocca of New Orleans and McCain-Richards of Monroe. The game has been rescheduled for Sunday night.

Second game of the best-of-three title series is scheduled for Tuesday night at Monroe, and a third game, if necessary, will be played there Wednesday.

Nash And Rivers Meet For Bayou Club Title Today

Roy Nash and Jack Rivers tee off at 9 o'clock this morning in a 36-hole match that will decide the Bayou DeSiard Country Club championship. Following an 18-hole morning round the two finalists will start again at 2 p.m. on the last "18".

Nash gained the finals by defeating Ed Shaver in the semifinals. Rivers stepped into the deciding match by downing Robert Ewing. Corbin Turpin, the defending champ, was defeated in the early rounds of the tournament.

In yesterday's action, Clayton Cole grabbed the second flight crown from Sonny Harper. Ed Seymour whipped L. W. Richey for the third flight title.

Also taking to the links this morning will be Jimmy Harper and Owen McCleary, who will be fighting it out for the first flight championship. Harper, bested Bill Jones in the semifinals while McCleary toppled his opponent earlier in the week.

Nationals Lace Three Athletic Moundsmen, 5-4

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 4.—The Washington Senators solved three Kansas City pitchers and defeated the Athletics 5-4 tonight to go two-up in a three-game series. The losing pitcher was Wally Burnette, rookie right-hander who shut out the Nats 8-0 in his first appearance for the A's July 15.

Houma Prolongs Little Boys Meet With 6-4 Win

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 4, 1956 (Special)—The Houma All-Stars forced the Little Boys state baseball tournament into another week, tonight by whipping Winnboro, 6-4, in the finals. This was Winnboro's first loss of the tourney, therefore under the double elimination rule the two teams must play another game to determine the state champs. The deciding tilt is slated for Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The Houma outfit gained the finals by defeating Ferriday, 10-2, in a morning game.

In the night affair, the South Louisiana nine took an early lead on pitcher Teuton's three-run homer in the first inning. Eddie Tullaro backed this with his solo round-tripper in the fourth.

David Elkin led off Winnboro's

Cook Aims For Upset In Martinez Bout

Slate 28 Rounds Of Fighting For Ball Park Show

Clarence Cook, the biggest drawing card boxing has ever enjoyed in the Monroe area, may come to the crossroads of his little career here tomorrow night when he meets the veteran Jimmy Martinez, highly regarded Arizona midweight fighter, in a ten-round main event at Legion Memorial Stadium, home of the Evangeline League Monroe Sports.

Martinez, a popular television fighter who has met such big name fighters as Carl "Bobo" Olson, Ernie Durando, Al Andrews, Willie Pastrano, Bobby Dykes, Peter Mueller, Chico Varona, Spider Webb, Bobby Jones, Joe Miceli, Danny Giovannelli, Del Flanagan, and others, is expected to enter the ring as a decided favorite and a Cook victory could be nothing but an upset.

Cook, who has fought most of his 30 professional fights in the area here, will be entering a Monroe ring for the first time, definitely in the less-favored role. Eddie Yawitz, the St. Louis manager of Cook, is confident his boy is ready to climb and accepts this opportunity as a big stepping stone for his Louisiana middleweight from Oak Grove and Bastrop.

"Clarence is in the best fighting shape of his career," Yawitz declared. "This could be the upset of the year."

Promoter Gus Kallio, moving out of his Walnut street arena for his first outdoor boxing show at Legion Memorial Stadium is anticipating a record crowd with advanced ticket sales moving good. As an indication of how the duets are moving, all but eight seats in the first four ringside rows (the $4 per seat class) had been sold up to yesterday morning. The prices scale from $4 tops through $3 for other ringside chairs on the field; $2 for grandstand box seats; $1.50 for all other grandstand seats and $1 for colored bleachers.

Cook and Martinez will be supported by four other fights on a 28-round card, with the possibility of an extra four-rounder if the card is cut short by knockouts. Johnny McKinn, Bastrop welterweight with a string of three straight knockout victories, appears against Al Boudreaux, a New Orleans puncher working out of Beaumont, Tex., in the six-round semi-final.

Dewey Garris, Farmerville middleweight, draws John Rinehart, Shreveport, for a four-round preliminary, and the same distance fight will match Ruhl Brumley, Oak Grove featherweight, against Jimmy Rankin, Shreveport.

One four-round preliminary pairs Negro scrappers with Billy Dixon, Shreveport heavyweight, going against Charles Scott, Moore Town, Tex., in the first heavyweight battle. Promoter Kallio has been able to secure in some time.

The "stand-in" possible is a four-rounder for Robert Williams, Negro middleweight of Monroe, vs. Columbus Marshall, Shreveport.

As a box office attraction, Martinez has been growing nationally. He drew a $7,800 crowd in defeating Mueller, the colorful German invader, at Portland, Ore., and $8,000 in beating Jim Heeger recently at St. Paul. One of his top draws was the $37,000 crowd that turned out at Portland last August for the "Bobo" Olson fight when Carl was still ruler of the world's middleweights. Olson got a "one-point" decision over Martinez.

Managed by Dewey Fragetta, New York, who promoted the Saturday night fights for 104 consecutive weeks on the ABC-TV network, Martinez has a reputation as a smooth working ringster with an accurate left jab and a peering right hand wallop. He's called one of the best "action fighters," willing to take punches in order to get in some good licks of his own.

The advanced ticket sales are being conducted at Kallio's residence, officer here, 1101 Jackson street; the City C. and A. Club at Bastrop and at Pippen's Cafe in Oak Grove.

Lafayette Sends Bowlers Against Monroe's Finest

The Longview Equipment bowlers, a team composed of the high average keepers of Monroe, will meet the Lafayette All-Stars here tonight in an eight-game match series at the Monroe Bowling Center.

The bowlers open their matches about 11 o'clock this morning, take a lunch break and then finish with afternoon play.

The Monroe stars and their game averages are: Theo Finkbeiner, 186; Bob Creighton, 178; E. B. Peddy, 186; "Sonny" Durham, 180; Russell Bates, 180; and Tommy Higgins, 183.

Two weeks ago the Monroe team handed an all-star combination from Baton Rouge its only loss, and in their last three games the Monroe aces have knocked down more pins than the Lafayette world champions did in seeking the championship. The big three-game series for the Longview club was 3,955 scratch.

Quachita Grid Hopefuls Join Ellen Monday

The Quachita Parish High School football Lions have been summoned for their first meeting of the season with Coach Bob Ellen, the new Lion tutor from Texas, Ark., who is preparing to start his first season here. Coach Ellen has called the meeting for tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Quachita gymnasium.

Coach Ellen, who was attending the Louisiana High School Coaches Association's football and basketball clinics at Baton Rouge the past week, will start tuning his gridlers during the week.

First action for the Lions will be in the West Monroe high school football jamboree on August 31.

Russians Start Olympic Tryouts In Moscow Today

MOSCOW, Aug. 4 (AP)—Ten thousand Russian athletes, representing 15 different Soviet republics, will begin straining their muscles tomorrow in Spartakiad—Russia's version of the Olympic tryouts—in what may be the largest sports event ever held.

Russia's best athletes will represent her at Melbourne and supplementary selections can be made. As a deputy on the Russian sports committee explained: "A case such as the American 'Sim' would not be possible here. It is unfortunate the Americans cannot find a way of getting such an athlete to Melbourne."

Two members of the New York Football Giants this year will mark their ninth season in pro football. They are Charley Conerly and Emlen Tunnell.

Little Leaguers Here Plan Visit To Cards, Braves

Little Leaguers of Monroe will be given a trip to St. Louis Monday week to see the Cardinals play the Milwaukee Braves and a pair of Louisiana athletes, Joe Adcock of the Braves and Alvin Dark of the Cardinals, in action against each other.

Frank F. Smith, who is working to make the trip possible last night said there will be room for 60 Little Leaguers and 15 adult chaperones on chartered buses that will leave here at midnight Monday, August 13, and arrive in St. Louis at 4 o'clock the following Tuesday afternoon.

They'll see the August 14 and 15 games between the Cards and Braves, and also have a visit scheduled for the St. Louis zoo. They've made reservations to stay in the Northside Branch Y. M. C. A., opposite the St. Louis ball park and will also be granted use of the Y's swimming pool.

The return trip will start immediately after the August 15 game. The cost for the entire trip for each boy will be $35, Smith said, and there are a few more vacancies on the buses. Any Little Leaguers desiring to make the trip can be registered by telephoning Smith here at 3-3141 or 2-4403.

Joe Adcock is especially well known to Monroe Little Leaguers with whom he worked here the last three years in the annual kids' baseball clinic. Adcock is from Coushatta and Dark from Lake Charles.

FIRST RICE SCHOLAR NEW YORK (AP)—Charles D. Nord of Wappingers Falls, N.Y., will enter Vanderbilt University in September on a four-year scholarship. He is the first Grandland Rice Memorial Scholar. The memorial, named for the late sports writer, is supported by a grant from the Thoroughbred Racing Assn.

Monroe Draws Beaumont

The Southside All-Stars of Monroe, Louisiana's Little League state champions, depart tomorrow for Marshall, Tex., where they open national regional play against Beaumont, Tex., at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Arkadelphia, Ark., and Greggton, Tex., will be the other contenders in the regional.

The 14 Monroe All-Stars, accompanied by managers Ed Kincaid and Johnny Clark, and Monroe recreation director Jack Hesketh, who is also Little League secretary here, will travel in private cars with other adult chaperones, Herman Gunn, Cleveland DuBois, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Fittell.

The player roster will include A. D. Fittell, Ralph Roberts, Kelton DuBois, Julie Parks, Ed Kincaid Jr., Lynn Stringer, Neal Gunn, Joe Zarro, Ronnie Cupples, Glen Walker, Wince Bass, William Oglesbee, Scott Rambin, and Charles Rugg.

Managers Kincaid and Clark are expected to open with a lineup of Cupples, right field; DuBois, third base; Stringer, pitcher; Kincaid, shortstop; Gunn, center field; Fittell, first base; Oglesbee, second base; Parks, left field; and Roberts, catcher.

The calypso leaves here at 8 o'clock tomorrow.

In addition to the Monroe-Beaumont game at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Arkadelphia meets Greggton at 7:30 o'clock. The Tuesday schedule is indefinite, depending on who wins the Monroe-Beaumont game. If Monroe beats Beaumont, the local kids play night. If Beaumont is victorious tomorrow, that club draws the 5 p.m. start Tuesday since Beaumont refuses to play night ball. Little League rules compel no club to play night ball.

Doug Ford won the 1955 All American golf championship on his sixth attempt.

Schedule Nears Finish For Big Eight Baseball

RUSTON, La., Aug. 4 (Special)—The three top teams of the Big Eight—Ruston, Homer and Bernice—are not only thinking in terms of playing in the Shaughnessy playoff but they are thinking in terms of winning the regular league schedule which comes to a close next Saturday night. Another victory for the Minden Red Birds will assure them of a spot in the playoff.

The Springhill Sports have played winning ball for the past three weeks but their start towards the top came too late to place them in the playoff. The Ruston Ramblers have two tough games next week as they play at Homer on Tuesday and at Bernice on Thursday. Bernice has two make-up games to play. Ruston is up with their schedule and the other teams have one make-up game to play.

Bubba Colvin is now the king pin among the hitters, closely followed by teammate Richard Mitchell, 372 and 343. Pat Austin of Bernice is still the home run hitter.

with ten circuit blows but Bob Bogan of Ruston is close behind with nine. Jess Mercer added another win to make him the leading pitcher with six wins and no defeats. The baseball fans in north Louisiana will see the best baseball in Big Eight history as the leaders battle each other for first place honors and a spot in the Shaughnessy playoff which starts Monday, August 13.

Quarles Says Air Force To Modify Wing Structure

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP) — Air Force Secretary Donald Quarles said tonight the Air Force plans to modify its wing structure in the light of increasing guided missile strength, and added he would expect it to start doing so as early as the next fiscal year.

Quarles, here to address an Air Force Assn. convention, told a news conference he would expect the wings of manned aircraft to be revised downward, "under world conditions as well as we can see them," without in any way reducing overall air force strength.

Quarles said that with the increasing effectiveness of new weapons and the resulting saving in manpower, he is sure the Air Force will not build up to the 970,000 personnel strength now authorized for it, either in the current fiscal year or the year following.

He acknowledged that the 970,000 figure could be an obsolete manpower goal. "We don't know definitely yet," he said. "The Air Force has a personnel strength of 914,000 although a total of 930,000 had been its goal for this year."

Quarles also said he expected the Army to take over more and more of the missiles in the tactical field, thus relieving the Air Force of some of its close support responsibilities.

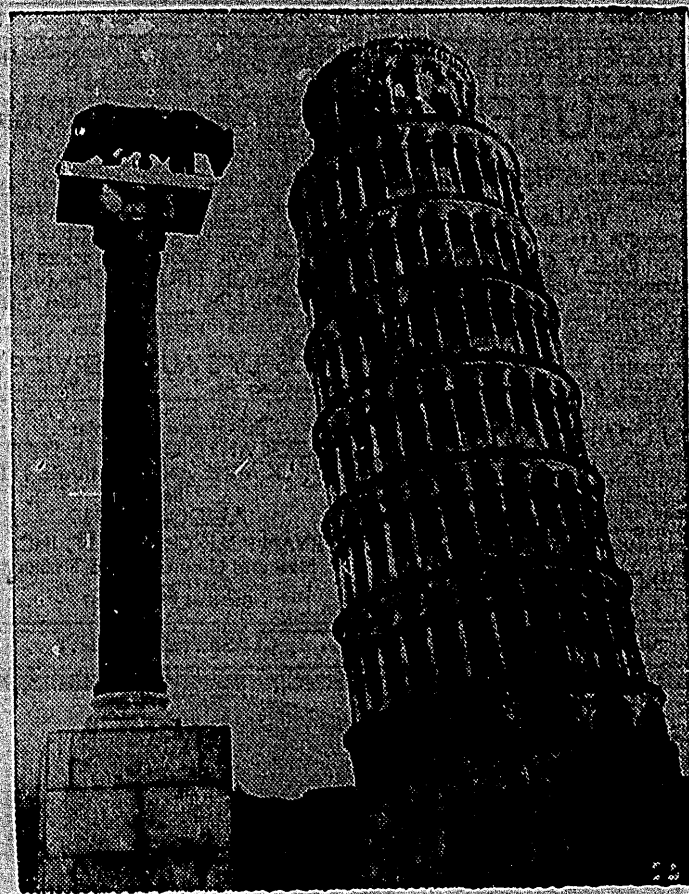

Quarles also said the Air Force is now thinking in terms of a 23 billion dollar budget for the next fiscal year, compared with a 21 billion originally contemplated for the current year—a figure later reduced to 16 1/2 billion.

Quarles said the 137 wing goal, which has been in effect since 1953, has been a very valuable and stable objective, but was never designed as a permanent figure.

He said the weapons available to airplanes now are more powerful than when the 137 wing goal was set, and as guided missiles of various kinds supplement the airplanes, the strength of the individual wings will increase.

Quarles also said U.S. atomic air power can deter small or local wars as well as big ones. Quarles told the Air Force Assn. in a prepared dinner address, that "the weapons now in our arsenal, linked with delivery systems of great speed and global range, are capable of visiting appalling destruction on military forces in the field as well as on strategic targets."

Quarles said there is no morality or logic that requires a defender to meet aggression with the same type of forces that the aggressor chooses to employ.

"If it were obvious that limited aggressions would be met with the full force of atomic weapons, I do not believe such aggressions would occur."

The AFA presented its highest honor, the H. H. Arnold trophy, to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), and named him "aviation's man of the year."

PLAN INSPECTION TRIP

ABBEVILLE — UP — The Abbeville Chamber of Commerce plans an inspection trip to the U. S. Waterways Experiment Station at Vicksburg, Miss., where they are interested in a Corps of Engineers experiment of sweet and salt water in Vermilion bay. Chamber members said the project was of importance to the local rice community.

GOP Group Says 84th Congress Was 'Reluctant'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (UP) — The Republican national committee today tagged the Democratic-controlled 84th Congress with the name "reluctant."

In its official monthly publication, "Straight from the shoulder," it charged the now-adjourning Congress "ditched many essential parts of President Eisenhower's program." Also, it said, "it delayed much of his vital legislation and reluctantly passed some."

"The Democrat 84th could be described as a 'reluctant Congress,'" said the magazine which goes to 400,000 party workers. It quoted Mr. Eisenhower as being "frankly disappointed" although he also "was highly pleased that Congress passed some of his program."

350,000 Expected To Cast Ballots In Kansas Election

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 4 (UP) — Before the turn of the century Kansas was advised to "raise less corn and more hell."

President Eisenhower's boyhood state is now doing that. With its smallest corn acreage in 83 years, Kansas is in the throes of winding up a primary election campaign of almost unparalleled bitterness.

The voting next Tuesday is expected to bring 350,000 to the polls to choose candidates for U.S. Senator, governor, six seats in Congress and a full roster of state and local offices. Sen. Frank Carlson is overwhelmingly favored to win Republican renomination. The governorship races may be close.

Kansas, sometimes called "the Cyclone state," has had many stormy campaigns, but few as tempestuous as this. The thunder has been loudest among the Republicans, who long have dominated the political scene where Mr. Eisenhower grew to manhood.

This has been the first Kansas campaign in which both the leading candidates for GOP nomination for governor were accused of personal dishonesty.

Gov. Fred Hall, at 40 the nation's youngest Republican state executive, accused his chief rival, State Rep. Warren W. Shaw, 48, of solidifying and accepting kickbacks on state gasoline purchases. A Shaw supporter running for attorney general charged the governor diverted party contributions to the GOP to his own use.

The Democrats mixed it up, too, but without quite such rancor. Harry H. Woodring, former governor and secretary of war, and George Docking, the gubernatorial nominee in 1954, each was accused of shades of Republicanism. Each fired back that he is a true-blue Democrat.

There are other Kansas campaign "firsts."

Hall and Shaw for 30 minutes Friday night debated the controversial right-to-work issue over a statewide combined television and radio network. The face-to-face TV clash on the bill the governor opposes and Shaw favors made political history here.

The primary will have no Prohibition or Socialist contestants. Under a new Kansas law, the think tanks of those parties were kept off the ballot; the Prohibitionists produced a November general election slate by convention, the Socialists disbanded.

Other "firsts" are possible. Organized labor's voting strength may be a major factor in an agricultural state growing industrially by supporting Hall for vetoing the 1955 right-to-work bill the legislature overwhelmingly passed.

Or the rural backing Hall and two years ago may, through displeasure over right-to-work, make him the first GOP governor of Kansas in a quarter century to be denied renomination for a second term.

Primary Election Sets All-Time Record In Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Democratic contest for governor brought out more voters in the July 28 primary than in any previous primary election in Texas.

The Texas Election Bureau, in its final tabulation, reported Saturday that 1,569,990 voted in the six-man race.

The previous record was 1,456,220, cast in the second Shivers-Yarborough primary of 1954.

The final tabulation gave Price Daniel a lead of 164,172 over his runoff opponent, Ralph Yarborough.

Daniel got 624,833, Yarborough 460,661; W. Lee O'Daniel 346,355, J. Everts Haley, 89,969, Reuben Senterfitt 37,636 and J. J. Holmes 10,536.

Daniel led in 150 counties and was second in 72. He had a clear majority in 30.

Yarborough led in 36 counties, was second in 76 and had a majority in 12, Henderson and Kleberg.

O'Daniel led in 65, was second in 79 and had a majority in 1, Somervell.

Haley led in one, Loving, and was second in four.

Senterfitt led in 2, Glasscock and San Saba, and was second in 2, Lampasas and Mills.

Returns were from all 254 counties, 250 complete.

In the lieutenant governor's race, incumbent Ben Ramsey led runnerup A. M. Alkin by 270,514. Ramsey polled 655,214 and Alkin 384,700.

Alkin withdrew Friday saying he did so on doctor's orders. The State Democratic Executive Committee was expected to certify Ramsey as the party's candidate in the November general election.

The vote of the other two candidates for lieutenant governor: John Lee Smith 221,630, C. T. Johnson 151,223.

Totals in other races: Attorney general: Will Wilson 668,068, Tom Moore 484,264, Ross Carlson 130,041, Curtis Hill 79,515.

Agriculture commissioner: Incumbent John White 759,001; Bill Jones 290,071; Jim Barber 238,433.

Congress-at-large Rep. Martin Dies 870,790; Bill Elkins 447,397.

Land commissioner: Incumbent Earl Rudder 645,574; Ned Vice 614,680.

Criminal appeals justice: W. A. Morrison 663,583; Jesse Owens 574,385.

Supreme Court: James Norvell 618,667; Robert Hughes 609,443.

Treasurer: Incumbent Jesse James 805,370; Warren Harding 528,732.

Referendum: School segregation: Approval 838,841; against 246,646.

Intermarriage ban: Approval 856,916; against 220,110.

Interposition: Approval 829,994; against 196,291.

"I'm not going to suspend him, period," said the mayor. Purcell, 48, was indicted on a charge of malfeasance in failing to prosecute known gamblers, bootleggers and prostitutes.

The mayor also said members of the police force who were indicted will not be suspended. He said he was acting under a city attorney's opinion that it was a matter of policy whether or not to leave the men on the job.

The county's district attorney, William L. Langley, 41, also is under indictment, charged with conspiring to permit and foster gambling. He, too, remained on the job and expects Monday to take over direction of the grand jury in a return to routine cases.

Langley has been removed from the grand jury's consideration of vice charges by order of Gov. Elmo Smith. The governor asked Atty. Gen. Robert T. Thornton what Langley's status should be but Thornton was busy directing the grand jury that brought in the indictments and has not yet given an opinion.

Both Langley and Purcell say they are innocent of accusations in the probe that brought 26 other arrests on charges ranging from perjury—eight city policemen were indicted on that—to extortion, conspiracy, bootlegging and gambling.

Most of those indicted are lesser-known figures in the city's life. One, though, is Clyde C. Crosby, international representative of the Teamsters Union for Oregon. He, too, has denied the charges which against him include extortion in connection with control of pinball machine operations and conspiracy in a land deal.

Anderson To Ask For 'Shakeup' Of The AEC In '57

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (UP) — Sen. Clinton P. Anderson said Saturday he will ask Congress next year to consider a shakeup of the Atomic Energy Commission because the AEC has granted a conditional permit for construction of a nuclear power plant of unproved safety.

The New Mexico Democrat, chairman of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission, said he will propose that Congress reconsider the desirability of splitting the AEC into two separate agencies. One would carry on nuclear research, development, and production. The other would handle licensing and regulatory functions of the atomic power program.

The AEC, with Commissioner Thomas E. Murray disapproving, granted a construction permit for a 100,000-kilowatt power plant designed to produce more atomic fuel than it burns.

The plant, to cost about $40.5 million would be built by the Power Reactor Development Co. of Detroit at a site near Monroe, Mich. Detroit Edison would distribute the power produced.

The permit, conditioned on the company's ability to get adequate financing, is not a license to operate. The AEC said it would grant no such license until assured of the plant's inherent safety.

Uncertainty about whether the plant would constitute a public danger stems from the fact that it is to be a "fast neutron (high-energy) breeder" concerning which information is limited. It would be America's first big scale breeder.

Murray refused to go along with even a conditional construction permit because the AEC's advisory committee on reactor safety has said there is too little information without further development work, to be certain this kind of plant could be operated at the Monroe site "without public hazard."

The advisory committee, composed of scientists and industrialists, made this statement in a letter dated June 6, 1956. Unless it changes its position, Murray said, a construction permit "is not warranted."

The other commissioners decided to grant the conditional permit on grounds it would speed development of an important reactor type. It emphasized that no operating license will be granted "until it is firmly established... after careful tests" that the plant is safe.

Police Chief Is Indicted By Jury In Portland, Ore.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 4 (AP) — Police Chief James Purcell Jr., indicted last night by a county grand jury, will remain as chief, Mayor Fred L. Peterson said today.

"I'm not going to suspend him, period," said the mayor. Purcell, 48, was indicted on a charge of malfeasance in failing to prosecute known gamblers, bootleggers and prostitutes.

The mayor also said members of the police force who were indicted will not be suspended. He said he was acting under a city attorney's opinion that it was a matter of policy whether or not to leave the men on the job.

The county's district attorney, William L. Langley, 41, also is under indictment, charged with conspiring to permit and foster gambling. He, too, remained on the job and expects Monday to take over direction of the grand jury in a return to routine cases.

Langley has been removed from the grand jury's consideration of vice charges by order of Gov. Elmo Smith. The governor asked Atty. Gen. Robert T. He, too, has denied the charges which against him include extortion in connection with control of pinball machine operations and conspiracy in a land deal.

Chicot State Park, Louisiana's largest, is located on 6,000 acres of rolling woodland in Evangeline Parish.

turbing the peace and one arrest for obstruction of highway. This brought the total number of arrests for the week to 37.

A BEAR BURN
JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Susie the bear did a slow — and painful — burn when somebody tossed a lighted cigarette in her cage. The cigarette landed on Susie's head, setting her fur afire. Susie, a 25-year-old Kodiak bear who's not as spry as she used to be, managed to put the fire out by rubbing against the cage bars.

SUMMER SCENES AT COUNTRY CLUB

CENTER—Duplicate bridge is a favorite indoor activity at the club during the summer months. Left, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. Joe Goynes, Mrs. Roy McCue and Mrs. H. W. McSherry are regular Friday afternoon players when the Country Club Duplicate meets.

Afternoon Tea, Luncheons Compliment Miss McDonald

Events for summer bride's elect continue to provide social interest. On Wednesday afternoon, one of the beautiful parties of the season was given by Mrs. Charles Cecil Schultz and Miss Rosa Belle McDonald.

A bluish pink theme was carried out in the family home, at Refugio Plantation, where the tea was held between the hours of four and six.

As the five hundred guests arrived, they were greeted at the door by Mrs. Bridger Thornhill and Mrs. Tom Pete Godwin. Multiple arrangements of giant pink chrysanthemums, pink daisies and tube roses decorated the reception rooms. In the receiving line were Miss McDonald, her two hostesses, and her mother, Mrs. Oscar McDonald and Mrs. Stanley Hodges, mother of the groom-to-be, Miss McDonald was wearing a dress of all-over embroidered aqua polished cotton, with a corsage of pink roses and stephanotis.

In the dining room, the tea table was covered with a bluish pink satin cloth, overlaid with matching moiré de soie. Centering the table was a silver epergne filled with bluish pink blossoms.

Alternating at the tea service were Mrs. Eddie Brooks, Mrs. William R. McDonald, Mrs. Henry Montgomery and Mrs. Wayland McDonald. Assisting them were Mrs. Robert Guerriero, Miss Carolyn Adams, Miss Ila Mae Jones, Miss Martha Jane Burns, Miss Martha Riser, Miss Janis Joyce, and Miss Marlon Louise Guerriero. Others helping with afternoon courtesies were Mrs. Sam Hunt, Mrs. F. C. Shelton, Mrs. Mabel Lippin, Miss Annie Windes, Mrs. Cecil Tait, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., and Miss Jennie Reynolds.

Mr. Eddie Brooks, at the organ, provided background music during the party.

Luncheons Two luncheons also honored Miss McDonald during the week. On Thursday, Mrs. C. H. Tait, Mrs. E. W. Stinson, Miss Sue Stinson and Mrs. Hays B. Clark entertained for her at the Rendezvous and Friday's luncheon was given by members of the faculty and staff of the Lexington Ave. School.

A miniature bride, surrounded by a lovely arrangement of ivy, pink roses and purple phloxes, centered the luncheon table at the Rendezvous. Sprays of plumosa fern and the same blossoms extended the length of the table.

The guests attending with Miss McDonald were her mother, Mrs. Oscar McDonald, Mrs. Stanley Hodges, Miss Rosabelle McDonald, Mrs. Charles C. Schultz, Mrs. Wayland McDonald, Mrs. Eddie Brooks, Miss Elaine McDonald, Mrs. W. R. McDonald, Mrs. Annis Wasson, Mrs. Louise Walker, Mrs. W. J. DeFreese and Mrs. Paul Stinson.

The Bayou DeSard Country club was the setting for the luncheon given by the faculty of Lexington Ave. school, on Friday. The table covered with a green cloth had for its centerpiece, a milk glass bowl filled with red roses.

Miss McDonald's place was marked with a corsage and gift of silver.

Attending were Mrs. Oscar Mc-

Donald, Mrs. Stanley Hodges, Miss Rosa Belle McDonald, Mrs. Charles Schultz, Mrs. Bob Burns, Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Mrs. Bill Goldsmith, Mrs. W. C. Hammond, Mrs. J. J. Joyce, Miss Clifflie Olmstead, Mrs. William Babin, Mrs. George Riser, Mrs. F. C. Shelton, Mrs. W. W. Stevens and Mrs. Otto Williams.

Pat Reitzell Feted At Several Parties

Three luncheons were given this week for the popular bride-elect, Miss Patricia Reitzell. Tuesday, Mrs. Scott Hamilton and Miss Ashley Hamilton, entertained at the Country Club in her honor. Caladium leaves and rubrum lilies formed the centerpiece for the table.

Their guests included Mrs. Porter Burgess, Mrs. Malcolm Bass, Mrs. T. B. Godfrey, Miss Gay Olcott, Miss Joy Sutton, Miss Betty Scott and Mrs. V. H. Reitzell.

The bayou home of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Earnest was the scene of the luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Earnest and Mrs. N. G. Gaston. Summer flowers were used in the reception rooms and in the center of the table in the dining room was an arrangement of white ceramic fruit combined with fresh fruits.

Places were marked for Miss Reitzell, Mrs. Roy McCue, Mrs. W. K. Abington, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Mrs. Cecil Jarrell, Mrs. Gerald Olcott, Mrs. A. J. McGinn, Mrs. Fred Ammon, Mrs. Arthur Grant, Mrs. Shelby Hill, Mrs. T. B. Godfrey, Mrs. V. H. Reitzell, Miss Margaret Lee, Miss Marlon Huckerby, Miss Julia Beas Williams, and Miss Kay McCue.

Thursday's luncheon honoring Miss Reitzell included Miss Jo Ann Gillen, bride-elect of Bastrop, as honoree. The party, given by Mrs. Burl Bass, was held at the La Casa Tea Room. White asters and tube roses made up the center table decoration. White lovebirds, placed at either side, held gifts for the two brides-to-be.

The guests were Mrs. Leo Terzia, Mrs. Leo Terzia, Jr., Mrs. Carl Evans, of Mer Rouge, Mrs. J. V. Gillen, of Bastrop, Mrs. T. B. Godfrey, Mrs. V. H. Reitzell, Mrs. Fen-sky Terzia, Mrs. John Salisbury, Mrs. J. C. Earnest, Miss Lynda Davis, Miss Fay Louise Hopkins, and Miss Julia Nell McConathy. Miss Rosemary McClelland, Miss Betty Will Larche, Miss Elaine Neal, all of Bastrop.

Girl Scout News

This afternoon a bunch of excited girls will check in at Wabbansee for two weeks of fun and worthwhile activities, making new friends, living in tents or cabins, learning to become more self-reliant in the out-of-doors, and to appreciate their surroundings. Lucky girls!

Anyone who would like to visit the camp may do so this afternoon. Prospective campers and their parents are especially invited to see the camp, with an idea of attending next year.

To reach camp go on highway 80 six miles past the Simsboro sign. Turn left at the Wabbansee sign (on the left) just within sight of the overpass. If you find yourself on the overpass, you've gone too far.

There will not be a visitors' day during the two-week period. We'll be writing details of the camp from time to time. Today we want to tell you about another camp that ended successful season Friday.

The first Girl Scout day camp to be held in northeast Louisiana, outside of Ouachita parish, was operated last week for the girls of Caldwell parish. A beautiful grove of beech and pine trees near Clarks was the site of the camp. The Lions club of Columbia, Mr. Frank Dorsey of the International Paper Company, Jens, and Mrs. W. M. Causey, site chairman, worked on improving the site to make it an excellent campsite.

Lucy Huckabee, day camp chairman for the Silver Waters Council, and a person of much experience in camping, is director. Other adults serving as unit leaders and assistants are Mrs. Marcus Thornhill of Columbia, Mrs. Viola Rambo of Kelly, Mrs. Love of Riverton, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Causey and Mrs. Edgar Duke of Columbia.

Brownie Scouts have enjoyed making a unit home under two large beech trees. They call their unit, "Twin Beech." Dorothy McKelthen is program aide in this unit. "Broken Pine" is the name chosen by the younger intermediates for their unit. Beverly Rushing of Monroe, program aide, is teaching these girls many of the simple outdoor skills. Older intermediates call themselves the "Pine Knot" unit. They've gone hiking, enjoyed wetting up their unit and living in it. Yvonne Huckabee, a day camper of many year's experience, serves as program aide for this group. Mary Ann McDaniel and Amanda Graham help Mrs. Causey with the "Small Fry" unit, made up of girls who are too young to be campers, but whose mothers must bring them. They're having fun, too.

First thing every morning the group has a half-hour swim in the pool at Clarks. Back at camp, they start the day with a flag ceremony. Unit activities follow until lunch time, when girls eat in their units, singing grace, following a kaper chart for the jobs of cleanup and packer, who goes for the milk which is served to go with the lunches brought from home. More unit activities, and then camp fire of singing and games, ending with a flag ceremony of retiring the colors.

Thursday each unit had a cook-out, with campfire stew and some-mores as the menu. Most of the girls had never done any outdoor cooking and were fascinated by the Girl Scout ways of doing, soaping the pot on the outside, the kaper chart, which gives everyone something to do, and the job descriptions which tell how to do the kapers.

Friday the girls invited their parents and members of the Lions club to visit the camp in time to see the units and observe the camp routine and to remain for campfire and the final color ceremony. The camp director tells us that everything has gone smoothly and that the 44 girls and their leaders are all having a good time. Since this is the first camp, everybody had to learn the simple camping skills, but Lucy says she would hardly have known that most of the girls were not veteran campers. Miss Annis Klie, executive director of the Silver Waters Council, visited camp Thursday and praised the efforts of all who had made the camp possible. "The people of the Caldwell parish neighborhood deserve a great deal of credit for taking such a forward step during the first year as

MISS MARGUERITE LAMKIN is shown with Miss Elizabeth Taylor, co-star with Montgomery Clift of MGM's "Raintree County," on location at the historic old ruins of Windsor, near Port Gibson, Miss., where scenes for the movie were being shot last week. Miss Lamkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, of this city, is dialogue coach for Miss Taylor and Mr. Clift. Mrs. Lamkin returned to Monroe yesterday after spending the week in Natchez, where the MGM cast was headquartered.

Informal Parties Highlight Miss Wilson's Visit

Claiming much interest among the younger set this week were the parties honoring Miss Russell Wilson of Mobile, Ala., who is the house guest of Miss Sharon Ann Thompson.

Miss Wilson was introduced to several of the young teenagers at a luncheon and swimming party given by Miss Thompson at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Thursday.

Invited to join the hostess and visitor for the occasion were Teddy Lee Dixon, Betty Ann Inabnet, Linda Lee Woods, Lynn Marx, and Judy Port.

Friday afternoon Miss Linda Lee Woods entertained Miss Wilson at an informal coke party at her home in Edgewater Gardens.

Included in her guest list were Miss Wilson, Miss Thompson, Miss Barbara Cannon, and Miss Becky Slay of Jackson, Miss.

Highlighting Miss Wilson's visit was an informal dance given by part of the council. This camp will do much toward advancing Girl Scouting in this neighborhood and toward setting an example for other neighborhoods. Congratulations on a job well done."

Open House Fetes Miss Foster And Jerry Johnson

Miss Rebecca Foster of Calhoun and her fiancé, Mr. Jerry Johnson of Sterling, whose marriage will take place August 17 were named honor guests Saturday, when Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Clark held open house in their home in West Monroe.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Clark and the honored couple were the bride elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Foster; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Malvern Foster; her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Herman Bailey, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Johnson. Miss Foster was wearing a tucked tulle-trousseau model of pale blue powder puff muslin with rhinestone trim. She was wearing a white corsage, a gift from her hosts. Mrs. Clark chose a becoming white lace model with a cluster of brown violets at the waist.

White blossoms, including orange blossoms, stephanotis, tube roses, and miniature gardenias, arranged in milk glass and crystal formed conversation pieces throughout the house. The refreshment table was overlaid with a handsome brown cover and centered with a huge arrangement of white glads, tuberoses, and white tapers. Mrs. Alma Hale, and the bride elect's father, presided at the punch bowl.

In the garden was served by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Foster. Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Massey presided over the guest book.

Others assisting in extending courtesies were Mesdames Floyd McCormick, Helen LeFevre, Loretta Fisher, Mary Ella Blackiston and Miss Anna Camp.

The hosts' gift to their honor guests was a silver bread tray in their chosen pattern.

Hostesses Honor Cecile Shamblin At Bridal Shower

Five hostesses honored Miss Cecile Shamblin Wednesday when Mrs. W. O. Day, Mrs. Otto Kille, Mrs. Ray Carpenter, Mrs. Bill Bogan and Mrs. O. E. Montgomery entertained at Tchamallahaut State Park with a bridal shower.

Yellow summer flowers decorated the lounge where many lovely gifts were displayed beneath a yellow and green umbrella.

The honoree was wearing a pink and silver off-the-shoulder model of summer cotton. A corsage of pink roses and split carnations, the gift of her hostesses, was worn with the frock.

Winning prizes in two contests were Mrs. George Albright and Mrs. Eugene Little; the prizes were presented to the bride-to-be.

Mrs. O. E. Montgomery presided at the punch bowl.

Others sharing in this occasion were Mesdames W. W. Stormont, Sam W. Shamblin, J. F. Albright,

Miss Nell Word Becomes Bride

The Start Baptist Church was the scene at 6 p. m. July 20 of the marriage of Miss Nell Virginia Word, daughter of Mrs. Clinton Word and the late Mr. Word, of Start, and Bobby K. Laird, son of Mrs. Mary Laird, of Mangham. The Reverend James S. Deal performed the ceremony and Miss Jane Alton presented the nuptial music.

For her wedding the bride wore a white summer suit with small white hat and other white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and she carried a white Bible. Her sister, Mrs. Robert Ross, was her only attendant. Her dress was of navy linen trimmed in white and she wore a white corsage.

Charles Middleton, of Monroe, was Mr. Laird's best man.

Mrs. Word was wearing a grey printed voile with navy accessories and Mrs. Laird, mother of the bridegroom, chose a dress of pink linen with white.

Mr. and Mrs. Laird left for a wedding trip to points in Mississippi. They will be at home in Springfield, Mass., where he is stationed with the U. S. army.

MRS. NELSON ELLIS RODGERS

Couple Wed In Durant, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Edwards announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Kay, to Nelson Ellis Rodgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Rodgers.

The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. C. Griggs in Durant, Okla., recently.

The bride wore a coral linen dress fashioned along princess lines with an embroidered neckline. She wore white accessories.

Miss Edwards' only attendant was Mrs. Kenneth Ivey, who was wearing a pale blue linen with a scooped neckline.

Kenneth Ivey served the bridegroom as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers both attended West Monroe High School. They plan to make their home at 5702 Hudson Avenue in Dallas, Tex., where they will continue their education.

Smith - O'Neal Vows Pledged In Afternoon

Miss Marlene O'Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Neal, of Oak Grove, became the bride of Clinton Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smith, of Calhoun, in a ceremony performed Wednesday, July 25, at one o'clock in the afternoon, in the First Baptist Church, Greenville, Miss.

White stock and gladioli combined with greenery formed the background for the ceremony performed by the Rev. D. I. Young. For her wedding the bride wore a dress of gray silk with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. O'Neal, brother and sister-in-law, of the bride.

After a wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Monroe.

AAUW Award Is Presented To Rachel Carson

Rachel Carson, eminent marine biologist and author of "The Edge of the Sea" and "The Sea Around Us," has received the 1958 achievement award of the American Association of University Women. Each year the association selects an outstanding woman scholar for this special recognition, which includes a stipend of $2,500.

Miss Carson revealed that she would use the stipend to further studies she has under way for a new book probing "the basic problems of life"—its origins, its evolution, and its future.

This year's award, the fourteenth, was presented to Miss Carson at a formal banquet at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D. C. The banquet was one of the highlights of the AAUW State Presidents Conference which takes place biennially in the nation's capital.

Miss Carson was cited as "a writer whose work demonstrates both the search for beauty and the quest for truth" by Dean Elizabeth S. May of Wheaton College, Norton, Mass., chairman of the Association's fellowship program committee. Dr. May continued:

"She is not the first to sing of the beauty of nature; she is not the first to convey to us in poetic prose something of the wonders of the sea. But she is an innovator in combining for us the what and the why and the how-to-know. She writes of the sea and the organisms that live in the sea. She has a cosmic sense of how these organisms fit into the larger scheme of things."

The prize was presented to Miss Carson by Mrs. Lawrence E. Schneider of Duluth, Minn., vice president from the AAUW northwest central region. The award was established by this region in 1943; funds for it are contributed by AAUW members in the five states of the region—Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

In accepting the award, Miss Carson spoke briefly on "New Frontiers in Biology." She told banquet guests that "wholly new conceptions are leading toward the understanding of life processes that have heretofore remained in the realm of mystery. The old man-made barriers between the sciences are breaking down," she said, "and it is now acknowledged that whatever else life may be, it is to an important extent a chemical and physical process."

Miss Carson's most recent book, "The Edge of the Sea," was published in October 1955. "The Sea Around Us," published in 1951, has sold about one million copies in the United States and has been translated into 18 languages. It brought Miss Carson fame and many other honors, including the National Book Award, the Gold Medal of the New York Zoological Society, and the Henry G. Bryant Gold Medal of the Geographical Society of Philadelphia. She also received the Silver Jubilee Medal of the Limited Editions Club.

In 1950 she won the George Westinghouse Foundation award of $1,000 for outstanding magazine writing in the field of science and in 1951 she held a Guggenheim Fellowship.

The author has also written articles for the Atlantic Monthly, the New Yorker, Colliers, Nature, Science Digest, and the Yale Review.

A graduate of the Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh, (now Chatham College), Miss Carson received her master's degree in zoology from John Hopkins and has also studied during summers at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass. Honorary doctor of literature degrees have been conferred on her by Chatham and Smith Colleges and she also holds an honorary doctor of sciences from Oberlin College and a doctor of letters from the Drexel Institute of Technology.

Currently engaged in independent writing and research in the field of the biological sciences, Miss Carson served as aquatic biologist on the staff of the U. S. fish and wildlife service for 15 years and during 1947-1952 as editor-in-chief for the service. She resigned the latter post to devote full time to writing and research.

MRS. RICHARD MARSHALL BAKER

Baker - Simmons Vows Pledged In Parkview Church

Miss Carolyn Sue Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Simmons of Ruston became the bride of Richard Marshall Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan A. Baker of Birmingham, Ala., in a double ring ceremony at the Parkview Baptist Church in this city at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, July 30.

The Rev. Charles Welborn of Waco, Tex., performed the nuptial rites.

Southern smilax covered an arch which centered the altar. On either side were baskets of shaded pink gladioli and greenery. Pink tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the setting.

Miss Mary Ann McLaurin of Ruston presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Buddy Brazill of Blenville.

Miss Rita Russell of Crossett, Ark., was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a pink model of pleated chiffon accented by a darker pink sash and headband. Her bouquet was of shaded pink asters.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a wedding gown of hand-clipped tulle and lace over tulle and skimmers satin with a scalloped hem, matching neckline and long tapering sleeves. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins adorned the bodice. Her double elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a jeweled coronet. She carried a white Bible topped by a shower arrangement of shaded pink asters centered with a white orchid. Ushers were Perkins Thornton and Ed Henry of Jonesboro.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was John Dillworth of Corpus Christi, Tex.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church parlor following the wedding.

Mrs. Simmons was wearing a rose lace sheath model fashioned over taffeta with matching accessories. Mrs. Baker chose a mauve lace over taffeta with mauve accessories. They both wore corsages of white mums.

A white memory candle decorated the guest book table where Miss

Okla. Republican Women Back Nixon

ENID, Okla. (UP)—The majority of Oklahoma Republican women leaders today stood behind Richard Nixon as the vice presidential choice on the GOP ticket according to a poll by Mrs. Yuki Deane Simon, president of the State Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Simon said the women leaders are "100 per cent in favor of retaining Nixon" and feel that he "has done a remarkable job and is of sufficient stature to serve the country in any capacity."

"Instead of detracting from the ticket," Mrs. Simon said, "it is our belief that Nixon adds to its strength."

Good gift for traveler: a rust-resistant knife, fork, teaspoon and tablespoon all tucked into a neat case.

OLDRIC ROYCE DESIGNS FOR FLATTERY—IN HALF-SIZES!

PATTERN M380 by Oldric Royce

PROMINENT DESIGNER — Designs by Oldric Royce know no limit to the flattery they create for a woman's figure. Here, in Pattern M380—a beautifully simple dress; and beautiful things it does indeed, for those who wear half-sizes! The step-in front serves a double purpose—of convenience, and slenderness (follow the long slim line of buttons to see what we mean). A smooth silhouette in the rather sophisticated manner of all styles that are making fall fashion news—every line proportioned to fit the shorter, fuller figure perfectly. Mr. Royce chose a deep black faille for his design; collar and cuffs a smart touch of white. Or you may prefer winter-cotton tweeds soft, fine wool for your own sewing. Send for this pattern; you'll be sewing an Original from one of America's most exclusive couturiers!

Pattern M380 comes in Half Sizes 12½, 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½. Size 16½ takes 4½ yards 39-inch; ½ yard contrast. Send fifty cents (in coins) for Pattern M380 to Morning World, Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly your name, address with zone, style number and size.

Dorothy Ella Goff of Ruston presided.

The bride's table, overlaid in an imported cutwork cloth over pink, was centered with the bride's bouquet and pink tapers in candelabra. At one end of the table was the three-tiered wedding cake adorned with pink roses and topped with miniature figures of a bride and groom.

Mrs. E. E. Prince of Leesville served the wedding cake. Presiding at the punch service was Mrs. A. F. Creel of Winnfield.

Assisting in serving were Miss Martha Charlotte Green and Miss Kay Murchison of Ruston.

Tea girls were Rebecca Simmons, sister of the bride and Patsy Bonnette, a cousin of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride changed to a beige silk shantung dress with matching accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The couple will return in early fall to Baylor University, where they are both seniors.

SLIM LOOK

The softened slim look leads for fall fur coats. Hooded, tuxedo wrap and long capes. Collars, wider and also lower—cut for a lone-line look, tailored detailing of sleeves and big use of buttons are signatures for fall.

Grilled sandwiches take to a main filling of cheese. Add a side effect of chutney, pickle relish, thinly sliced boiled ham or crumbled crisply-cooked bacon.

Kittredge-Jones Vows Said In Home Ceremony

Claiming attention today is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Luther L. Jones, of Winnsboro, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Flora Dell Jones to Dr. G. H. Kittredge, of Orlando, Fla.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized on Friday, July 27, at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore in Sterlington, with only relatives and close friends in attendance. The Rev. W.

M. Allen, pastor of the Sterlington Methodist Church officiated at the impressive ceremony.

The reception rooms were decorated for this special occasion with arrangements of roses and white mums placed at vantage points with emphasis centered near the altar where the young couple stood for the ceremony to be read.

The bride was wearing a pink linen suit with white accessories and white corsage.

Miss Harriet Haley, of Rayville, was the bride's only attendant.

Luther Jones, brother of the bride, served as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

The table covered with a white cloth was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Later in the evening the couple left on their wedding trip to Florida. Upon their return they will make their home in Mangham.

The bride is a graduate of the Winnsboro High School and attended college at L. S. U. Baton Rouge and Northeastern State College, Monroe.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Orlando High School and graduated from the Tulane School of Medicine, New Orleans.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES MELVIN COLLOM

Edna Deal James Collom Exchange Vows

A wedding of interest was that of Miss Mary Edna Deal and James Melvin Collom, which was recently solemnized in the Star Baptist Church, with the bride's father, Rev. James Staughton Deal, pastor of the church, officiating in the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Deal. Mr. Collom is the son of Mrs. Minnie Collom of Rayville, and Mr. George Collom, of Farmington, New Mexico.

The church was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli and white candles in wrought iron candleholders against a background of greenery.

Miss Kathie Jan Fleischmann rendered a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. James S. Deal, sister-in-law of the bride, as she sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Rev. Fred Robertson of Mer Rouge. She wore a bridal dress of white linen with a white lace duster. To complete the ensemble she chose a bandeau hat of lace straw and white slippers. Her only ornaments were the groom's gift, pearl earrings, and an heirloom bracelet. Her bouquet was a white orchid, surrounded by lilies of the valley, stephanotis, and tulle.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were Little Miss Sandra Robertson, flower-girl, and Master James Irvin Robertson, ringbearer, niece and nephew of the bride. Little Miss Robertson wore a frock of white nylon dotted swiss and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Pink velvet streamers fell from the point of her conical hat of nylon straw.

Mrs. James M. Deal of Bossier City, was the matron of honor. A bouquet of blue carnations accented her frock of pink and rose pima cotton.

The groom was attended by his brother, Marlon Wayne Collom, also of Rayville. Will Edd Dark and Ray Trisler served as ushers.

Mrs. Deal chose for her daughter's wedding a blue voile dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Collom was wearing a light blue faille with a corsage of white carnations.

Shortly afterwards they left for a brief trip to points in Mississippi. Upon their return they will be at home to their many friends in their apartment at 406 Elm street, Rayville.

The bride is a descendant of Mrs. M. J. Poe and the late Mr. Poe of Winona, Miss., and the late Mr. and Mrs. James M. Deal of Jackson, Miss. She is a Star High School graduate and a senior at Northeast State College, where she will graduate in August from the school of home economics.

Mr. Collom is a descendant of Mrs. G. G. Morgan and the late Mr. Morgan of Rayville, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Collom of Hooks, Tex. He is a graduate of Rayville High School and is now attending Northeast State College.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included, Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson and children and Tony Klinger of Jackson, Miss.; Rev. and Mrs. Fred Robertson and children, of Mer Rouge.

Mrs. R. P. McKay Entertains Twin City Club

A call meeting and workshop of the Twin City Study Club was held this past week in the home of Mrs. R. P. McKay.

Mrs. John H. McCarter presided over the business meeting, during which Mrs. Calvert Frantom was elected to fill the vice president vacancy. Mrs. McKay was then chosen parliamentarian, replacing Mrs. Frantom.

Mrs. R. L. Fuller, president of the Magnolia Study Club, installed these officers and Mrs. McCarter, as president and Mrs. A. B. Bates, historian, who were absent at the installation service held at last

Langston-Scott Nuptials Said In Bastrop

In a double ring ceremony, Miss Edna Marie Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Scott, of Bastrop, became the bride of William Hudson Langston, son of Mrs. Sue Langston, also of Bastrop.

The wedding was solemnized at the Van Avenue Baptist church with the Rev. C. C. Milstead officiating.

White tapers in branched candleholders illuminated the altar which was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and fern.

Nuptial music was presented by Jerry Wayne Weems who also accompanied Miss Phyllis George, soloist.

Miss Frances Scott, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow frock and a corsage of shades of yellow carnations tied with matching ribbon. She wore a bandeau of the same flowers in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Miss Doris Proffitt, niece of the bride, and Mrs. Thomas Freeland. Miss Proffitt's dress was blue with a rose carnation corsage and bandeau of matching flowers. Mrs. Thomas Freeland wore pink and a white carnation corsage, with a bandeau of flowers.

Miss Miss Sandra White, another niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a yellow frock and flower bandeau and carried a basket of rose petals.

Master William Proffitt, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Bernard Bailey served the groom as best man. The ushers were Jerry Goodman and Hilman Shockey, all of Bastrop.

The bride given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Earl White, was lovely in a short white wedding dress of lace and nylon over taffeta. Her veil of illusion fell from a headress of starched lace and seed pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a string of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations, centered with a purple throned orchid.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a two piece pink linen dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The groom's mother wore a two piece black and white dress with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the brides' parents.

A lace cloth covered the brides' table and held a centerpiece of summer flowers. The tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, and the punch bowl, were placed at either end of the table. Mrs. Earl White, sister of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Mose Proffitt, also sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

The guests were invited to register in the bride's book by Miss Virginia Weems, cousin of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Arkansas, the bride wore a white sleeveless dress with green figures, with the orchid from her bouquet. Upon returning, the couple will be at home at 811 Mulberry street in Bastrop.

meeting, Mrs. McKay pinned the president's pin on Mrs. McCarter. A silver tray was given Mrs. McKay, as out going president, and Mrs. Steve Menuet received a going away gift from the club members.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. A. R. Bates, Mrs. Sylvester Breard, Mrs. Milton Ford, Mrs. Calvert Frantom, Mrs. Robert Gordon, Mrs. Wallace Hinson, Mrs. Conrad Lee, Mrs. John McCarter, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. Steve Menuet, Mrs. Edward Whatley, Mrs. Louis Breard, and Mrs. R. L. Fuller.

Farmerville Couple Wed

FARMERVILLE — Miss Jackie Scott and J. Richard Fischer were married in Abilene, Tex., on Saturday at the home of Mr. Fischer's sister, Mrs. J. Estes Merrick.

Both the bride and groom are residents of Farmerville. Mrs. Fischer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Scott, Farmerville and Mr. Fischer the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fischer of Paducah. Following a trip to points in New Mexico, the couple will reside in Farmerville.

BOXY LOOK FATAL

A boxy look is fatal for the overweight figure. Asymmetry such as a cascading side-wrapped skirt, braid detailing that runs from shoulder to the opposite hip, and a side-buttoned step-in sheath, are examples of new fall lines.

Onion strips, cooked in butter until they are pale golden, and coarsely grated cheddar cheese make a wonderful filling for turnovers. Use a rich flaky dough for the pastry.

Use one cup of milk and one cup of heavy cream when you are making up a package of vanilla instant pudding mix. Serve with a fresh-fruit sauce for company.

Brown potato pancakes in bacon fat, then serve with strips of crisp-ply-cooked bacon. Applesauce tastes good with this.
Easy supper: pan-fried cube steaks with chilled potato salad and crisp greens. Serve fruit and cookies for dessert.

The National Convention of Delta Kappa Gamma Society will take place August 6-August 11 in New Orleans. The Headquarters of the national honorary society for teachers will be in the Jung Hotel.

Miss Beatrice Davis of New Orleans, general chairman of the convention, expects 1300 educators from different sections of the United States; also, Korea, Hawaii, Alaska and Canada.

The first business session will open Wednesday, August 8, at 9:30 a.m., in the Tulane room. In the evening session at 8 o'clock, Miss Alida Parker, from Los Angeles, Calif., will lead a discussion on teacher welfare program. Mrs. Mabel W. Hughes, State Senator from California will be on the panel.

At the Birthday Luncheon on Thursday, August 9 at 1 p.m. in the Tulane Room Dr. Fern Schneider, Silver Spring, Maryland, National first vice-president, will conduct a ceremony honoring Dr. Streh for her outstanding service in the field of education.

Dr. Carolyn Guss, chairman of the National Committee on Scholarships, from Bloomington, Ind., will announce the three 1956-1957 scholarship recipients of $2500 to be given to members from advanced study.

Later, at 7:30 p.m. reports will be heard on two studies which were carried out during the past two years, given by Miss Alma Link of Oshkosh, Wis., and Dr. Elizabeth Stradlander, of Meadville, Pa., chairman of the research committee.

The Regional Breakfast for each of the four districts of the society on Friday, August 10 at 7:30 a.m. will be followed by a Grass Roots Convolve in the Tulane room which will be planned and directed by Dr. Stroh.

At 2:00 p.m. chairmen will give committee reports and the final discussion session at 8 p.m. will close with a talk by Dr. Fern Schneider, Silver Spring, Maryland.

Saturday, August 11, the convention business will be culminated by the election and installation of national officers at a meeting at 6 p.m. Miss Eva Gardner, Covington, Georgia, is in charge of the installation ceremonies.

The convention will end with a banquet with a talk by Mrs. Josephine C. Stanton, who with her ambassador husband spent some time in Thailand. The subject of her talk will be "The Bridge of Understanding," which will tell the role of educators in explaining Asia's problems to the world today.

HELP YOURSELF

MUSTANG, Okla. — Chicken raiser C. S. Young of Mustang—small central Oklahoma community shaken by a vicious tornado—had a pleasant greeting for sightseers at his shattered chicken houses.

Pointing to stacks of fat fowls killed in the storm, Young invited "Help yourself."

Church Ceremony Unites Couple

The Peniel Baptist Church was the scene of the summer wedding of Miss Edna Faye Heisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Heisler, of West Monroe, and Robert Eugene Rawls, son of Mr. and Mrs.

C. L. Rawls, also of West Monroe. Reverend John C. Smith performed the ceremony before an arch of greenery holding white cathedral tapers. Standards of white gladioli were placed at either side. The nuptial music was presented by Miss Ina Fay Owens, organist, and Mrs. Marjorie Butkin, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father,

Johnston - Collie Vows Repeated In Choudrant Church

The New Hope Baptist Church of Choudrant was the scene on July 28, of the wedding uniting in marriage Miss Florence Marie Collie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collie of Ruston and Mr. Bobby Reginald Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Johnston of Choudrant. The Reverend Carvella Johnston, uncle of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 in the evening.

For the occasion, the church was beautifully decorated with tall baskets of gladioli and greenery. The soft light of cathedral tapers and ivy entwined candelabra illuminated the altar for the nuptial scene.

Miss Lou Ann Boyd of Choudrant presented the pre-nuptial music at the piano and accompanied William Monk Monroe, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Because".

The bride's sister, Mrs. Alice Howard, of Delhi, served as matron of honor. She was wearing a petal pink, embroidered organza waitz length gown fashioned with a square neckline caught with small, off-the-shoulder sleeves. She wore white lace mitts and carried a nosegay of shasta daisies.

Bridemaids were Mrs. Marnee Stephenson, of Baton Rouge, also a sister of the bride, Mrs. Peggy Leachman, Miss Johnette Baker, both of Ruston and Miss Linda Johnston, of Choudrant, sister of the bridegroom. They wore "nile green embroidered organza gowns fashioned identically to that of Mrs. Howard's. They also wore white lace mitts and carried shasta daisies.

Sara Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson, West Monroe, was flower girl. Her dress was of pink nylon and she carried a basket of pink rose petals and wore a matching bandeau in her hair.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of white Chantilly lace over slipper satin. The bodice was fashioned with a high neckline of nylon tulle trimmed with lace collars encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The long fitted sleeves came to points over the hands. The bouffant skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones. The bride's only ornament was pearl earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a purple orchid.

MR. AND MRS. BOBBY REGINALD JOHNSTON

Mr. Johnston served his son as best man.

Ringbearer was Michael Johnston, son of Rev. and Mrs. Carvella Johnston of Clarks.

Ushers were Ross Johnston, brother of the bridegroom, Tommy Johnston, Gloster, J. C. Howard of Delhi, and Reeves Stephenson of Baton Rouge.

J. C. Howard and Reeves Stephenson also served as candlelighters prior to the wedding procession.

Mrs. Collie chose, for her daughter's wedding a gray lace dress over pink taffeta with navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Johnston was wearing a pink tulle dress with black patent accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Reception Held
Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the receiving rooms of the church. Guests were received by the bridal couple, their parents and the wedding attendants.

The bride's table overlaid with a lace cloth over pink satin, was centered with crystal candelabra holding pink tapers, at the base of which lay the bride's bouquet. At one end of the table was placed the three-tiered wedding cake topped with the miniature bride and groom and encircled by ivy which trailed along the table to encircle the crystal punch bowl at the opposite end.

Mrs. Lucy Seidenspinner presided at the bride's book.

Serving the cake were Mrs. Lucille Collie and Mrs. Dalton Stansbury.

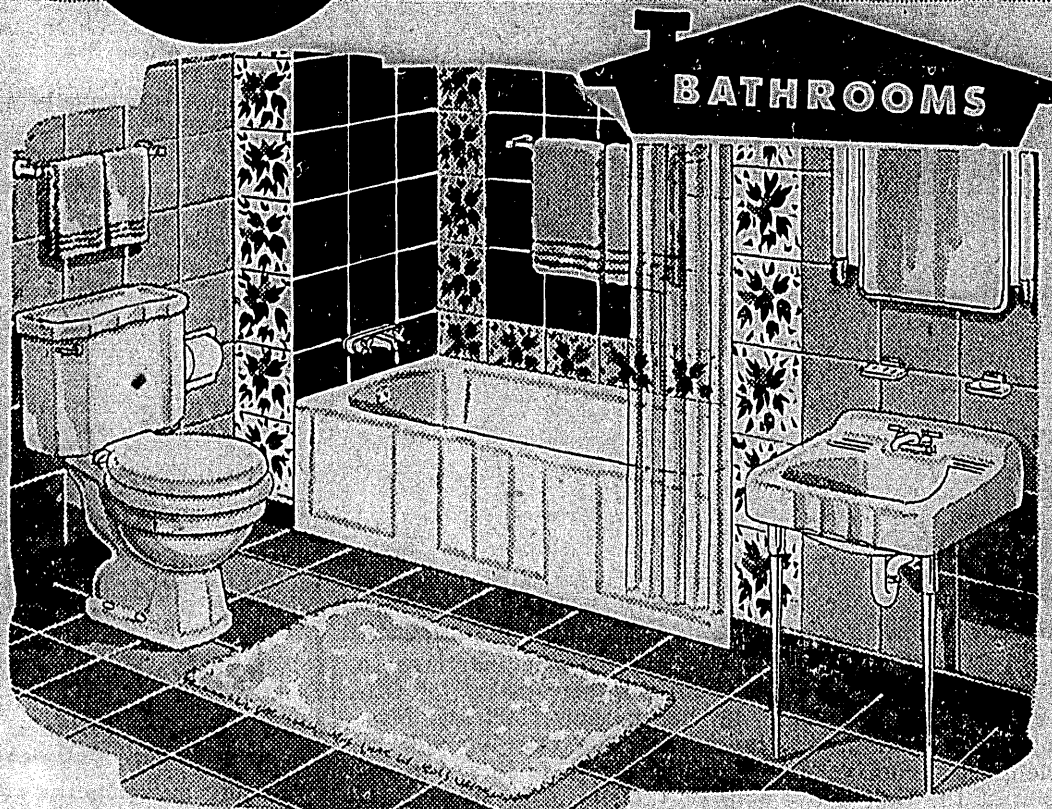

Alternating at the punch service were Mrs. Ernest Johnston and Mrs. Carvella Johnston.

Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Gene Thrasher, Mrs. J. E. Ambrose, Mrs. A. M. Davis, Mary Dugdale, Bettye Maxwell, Patsy Ford, LaVerne Hyatt and Margie Williams.

For their wedding trip, Mrs. Johnston was wearing a suit of mauve linen with black patent accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 524 Jackson Street in Shreveport.

Peaches in the Diet
Elberta peaches, the "Pride of the Peach Industry," are on the market now and Ouachita parish housewives are busy preserving them for winter, but calorie counting cooks are also feeding the fresh fruit to their families. In addition to their delicious flavor and rich color, peaches have a high food value and deserve a more important place in the diet than is commonly given.

Elberta peaches, the most versatile of all peaches, in particular have a very high vitamin content. One medium sized peach has about

MISS MICKEY BROWN'S engagement and approaching marriage to Glenn Ratcliff of Archibald is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Watson Berry of Mangham. Mr. Ratcliff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Ratcliff of Archibald. The wedding will be solemnized at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 22, in the First Baptist Church in Mangham.

20 per cent of the vitamin A and 10 per cent of the vitamin C recommended each day for the physically active man. They also contain acids, mineral salts, and cellulose, and have a laxative value. Peaches are quite a good source of iron, and this is one of the minerals most likely to be lacking in the average diet.

And a particularly important note, what with the mercury crowding the century mark, is the fact that the high water content of peaches makes them cooling and refreshing addition to the menu during the presence of intense heat. Furthermore, the basic reaction of the fruit tends to offset the acidic qualities of meats and cereals.

Just in case any cooks may be running short of peach recipes to try on the family, the following are two appetizing ones.

Peach Whip
1 pt. peach pulp, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, whites of three eggs. Skin the peaches and rub them through a coarse sieve. Add the sugar and lemon juice, stirring until the sugar dissolves. Beat the egg whites stiff and cut and fold into the mixture. Turn into a baking dish and set the dish in a pan of warm water. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven (250 F.). This may be served either hot or cold with whipped cream or a lemon flavored custard sauce.

Beverage values: That fruit juice is not a substitute for milk in children's diet might seem obvious to any parent. But results from surveys indicate that some children are drinking fruit juice instead of milk, probably because parents don't realize that different nutrients are contributed by the two beverages. Citrus fruit is one of the richest sources of vitamin C, which everyone needs every day. But milk offers several important nutrients, and is especially valuable for calcium. Children need 1 1/2 pints to 1 quart of milk daily to supply their calcium needs. Teenagers need a quart or more.

Vinegar can help clean steam iron: Vinegar is the lifesaver when hard-water minerals clog your steam iron. If minerals accumulate, put a mixture of half vinegar and half water into the reservoir and heat the iron for about 30 minutes at the rayon setting. When the iron cools, flush the reservoir several times with clean water.

Be a fly fighter: An unwelcome visitor that appears at this time of year is the common housefly. A little knowledge of the fly's characteristics can help you reduce his number and cut short his stay. The average life of the housefly is 19 days, but they are prolific during which he can multiply himself many thousands of times. Being a fast multiplier and an accomplished carrier of disease, undoubtedly qualifies the fly as one of our most dangerous creatures on wing or foot. He may travel only a few yards to a garbage pile or as many as 13 miles to a dead animal to feed or lay eggs. Man has waged a ceaseless battle against flies, as well as other insects, and has developed effective means for controlling them. Nothing has superceded the first important step of fly control — sanitation and cleanliness. Following through with liquids, powders and fly baits.

HONORED AT BANQUET—Rev. and Mrs. Charles B. Littleton were recently given a farewell banquet by Valence Street Baptist church, New Orleans. Littleton, formerly director of music at Central Baptist church, Monroe, left New Orleans upon completion of his studies at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

Rev. and Mrs. Littleton Honored By N. O. Church

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles B. Littleton, formerly of Monroe, were recently honored at a farewell banquet given by the Valence Street Baptist church, New Orleans.

At the close of the banquet, the Littletons were presented a silver serving waiter in behalf of the church by Mrs. Harold Cothran.

Littleton has been associate pastor and minister of music at Valence Street Baptist church for the past two years. He was previously minister of music at Coliseum Place Baptist church, New Orleans, and Central Baptist church, Monroe.

The young musician studied music at Northeast State college, after which he attended New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He received his degree from the seminary July 27.

Mrs. Littleton, the former Miss Sue Emory, is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and has been an elementary teacher in the New Orleans public schools. The Littletons have a two-year-old daughter, Susan.

Presbyterian Women Schedule Meetings

The women of the First Presbyterian church, Monroe, have scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, Aug. 7, at the church.

The Prayer Group meeting will begin at 9:45 a. m., followed by an executive board meeting at 10. The general meeting and program meeting will begin at 11. Lunch will be served in the fellowship hall at noon.

Central Baptist To End Revival Services Today

Revival services will be concluded at the Central Baptist church today with Rev. William T. Squires preaching at both services and Rev. Charles B. Littleton leading the singing.

During the past week these two men have delivered great sermons and rendered a great musical program. Bill Squires is the music director of the First Baptist church of Huntsville, Alabama and Charles Littleton has just completed his work at the New Orleans Baptist Seminary.

The unique feature of this revival meeting is that both these men left Central Baptist church to enter the New Orleans Baptist Seminary. Both were music directors at Central Baptist church in Monroe, Coliseum Place Baptist church in New Orleans and the Valence Street Baptist church in New Orleans.

Great crowds are anticipated in these closing services. The Sunday morning service begins at 10:30 a. m. and the evening service at 7:45 p. m.

Dr. C. E. Autrey Preaches Today At W. M. Baptist

Dr. C. E. Autrey, the former pastor of the First Baptist church, West Monroe, will fill the pulpit at both services Sunday. For seven years Dr. Autrey pastored this church which enjoyed a phenomenal growth in every phase.

At present, Dr. Autrey is head of the Department of Evangelism at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas. During the first year, he taught 1000 who went from the class room to win 10,000 converts. At the beginning of the year, less than 10 per cent of these students knew how to win souls, but at the close of the year 70 per cent were winning people to Christ.

The pastor, Jacob Weber, announces that it is an unusual privilege for the First Baptist church of West Monroe to have this outstanding man of God to fill the pulpit Sunday.

Living Standards To Continue Rise, R. Evans Predicts

RUSTON, Aug. 4 (Special)—Pointing out that living standards have advanced in the last 40 years to a degree almost incredible, Robert H. Evans told the Louisiana Tech graduates Thursday night that through the free enterprise system these standards in the next 20 to 40 years "will be enriched to a degree even more fantastic."

The speaker, who is vice-president and general manager of the forest products division of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation at West Monroe, cited statistics showing that for every 100 households there were only 10 automobiles in 1916, whereas in 1956 there are 105.

"In 1916, we had three vacuum cleaners for every 100 households," the business leader said. "Today we have 61. Television has had the most amazing rise of all with 72 sets per 100 households in a matter of only a few years. All of this demonstrates that the free enterprise system has produced an enormous expansion of our economy. The burden of proof is certainly on the person who would argue that some other system would have produced any better results."

Drawing a comparison based on the industry with which he said he is most familiar—paper—Evans stated: "More than half of all the paper produced in the world is used in this country. It amounted to 418 pounds per person or more than one pound every day for every man, woman and child.

"In contrast to the 418 pounds per person used in the United States, the next highest country, Canada, consumed 280 pounds. Great Britain used 187, West Germany 121, France 94, Italy 35 and Russia 26.

"While I do not want to make too much of paper alone," he continued, "if its use is accepted as an index of relative economic status, the United States is very well off in comparison with any other nation. This is substantiated by almost any other measure that one might introduce.

"As you members of this graduating class enter upon the commencement of your future lives, go forth into a world which requires a belief in some kind of economic system. Most of us, when we leave college, are convinced that we could avoid the mistakes of our elders in putting the world to rights if we were only given the chance. It is a good thing for the future of our country if we are in this frame of mind, because you will question established ways of doing things and each of you will contribute toward making this a better place for your posterity.

"Try to live your lives as the eagle in the sky rather than the mole in the earth," the speaker advised. "If you do that, you will find that you can attain loftier heights than you ever dreamed. It is my concluding hope that you will thus make fitting repayment of your debt to the American free enterprise system."

The first U. S. Census in 1790 listed 3,929,214 people.

EVANGELIST—The Rev. Bill Haines, pastor of Spearsville Baptist church, will preach during revival services at Antioch Baptist church, Farmerville, Aug. 5-12.

Antioch Church Slated To Begin Revival Services

Revival services will be held at Antioch Baptist church, route 2, Farmerville, Aug. 5-12, according to the Rev. John Cutrer, pastor. Services will be at 7:30 each evening.

Evangelist for the services will be Rev. Bill Haines, pastor of Spearsville Baptist church. Glenn Ward will be in charge of the music, with Miss Glenda Ward at the piano.

Homecoming, with dinner on the ground has been planned for Sunday, Aug. 5. There will be singing from 1-4 p. m. Friends and former pastors are being invited to attend.

Methodist Church In Rayville Sets Week's Activities

EVANGELIST—The Rev. Bill Haines, pastor of Spearsville Baptist church, will preach during revival services at Antioch Baptist church, Farmerville, Aug. 5-12.

MY ANSWER
by Billy Graham

QUESTION: In one of your radio sermons you said that man is a free moral agent. What does that mean? A. M. S.

ANSWER: God created man with the freedom of choice. He did not make us puppets or automatons or robots. At the best, this would have been a very low form of creation. But, He created us in His own image with the capacity to choose, to will, to make decisions. That is what we mean when we say that man is a free moral agent. But, because of sin in our hearts, the result of our inheritance and also of our choice, we are now what the Bible calls the servants of sin. However, God still gives to us the privilege of turning back to Him. We cannot do this in our own strength but God's Holy Spirit is working in the hearts of men, urging them to repent and turn from sin and believe in Christ as Saviour. The Bible contains a series of events where men are urged to choose, to stand on God's side and to accept Him. For instance, in the Old Testament we find these words of Moses to the children of Israel: "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live." In the New Testament John writes: "If any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." Almost the last verse in the Bible says: "And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely." The choice is for you to make.

THE HOME SHIFT—

With Mildred Swift

Late Summer Garden Jobs

Lots of gardeners have called in and asked if it is necessary to divide their jonquills, narcissus and Easter lilies. Apologies! When I said that it was time to divide, I should have said if the bulbs are too thick or you've decided you want them in another place. Let's not make our gardening too laborious. Anna Gray Noe has Easter lilies that have been in the same spot for over ten years. In my garden there are jonquills and narcissus that haven't been moved for twenty-seven years. We both follow a feeding schedule of bone meal as the foliage dies, and complete fertilizer as the bulbs come out of the ground. Your conditions may be different, therefore, you'll have to divide more often. We'd probably get larger blooms if we'd divide more often.

If you failed to divide your bearded iris in the Spring, you can do that job now. Plant shallow with rhizome close to the top of the ground. Work bone meal in the soil before planting.

Those of you who plant Spring annuals should spade up the beds, work in some decomposed compost and some 8-8-8. When October and November come, you'll be ready to plant seed of cornflower, larkspur, poppies, etc. that will talk about when those months roll around.

Keep hibiscus fertilized with some complete fertilizer. These plants bloom so prolifically they need lots of food. If they get starved, you'll have bud drop. However, that's not the only cause of hibiscus losing their buds. Poor drainage, droughts and cool nights, all contribute to this.

August is a good month to plant single, old-fashioned hyacinth bulbs. If maidenhair fern begins to look a little rusty, water well and it will come out again. This little dainty fern uses lots of water. It's such a lovely light green and gives interest in the garden.

SMALL TREES
For home owners who have small lots, there's a need for knowledge of small trees. They're in scale with the house and surroundings. That doesn't mean that large trees can't be used when the larger ones are selected. The taller, leggy trees are best. Spreading trees that grow large just take up too much room on the lot, and keep the light from the house.

To bring harmony between a low house and a tall tree, we need transition trees and that's where our smaller trees fit in. Even these small trees shouldn't be of the spreading type and low branches should be kept pruned.

Some smaller trees for smaller lots are mimosa, dogwood, redbud, camphor, purple plum, fig, Japanese plum, flowering crab, pear and the haw family. Cherry laurel will grow into a tree if it is not pruned, and of course is an evergreen.

FOOD NEWS
Milk and dairy products continue to be plentiful. This, of course, includes ice cream. There are so many wonderful recipes for this milk dessert that it is selling on special every weekend. There is one I thought you would like:

FUDGE SUNDAY PIE
Graham cracker crumb shell
2 plums vanilla ice cream
1/2 cup light or dark raisins
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1/4 cup cocoa
1/4 cup sugar
1-3 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped walnuts.

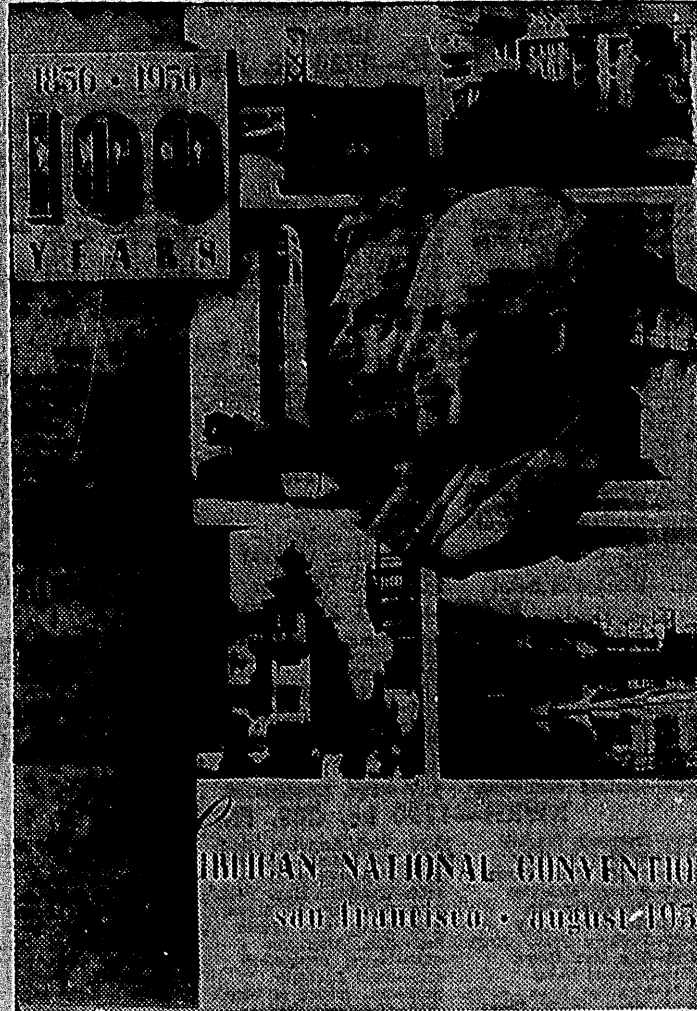

Crumb shell... Mix 1-3 cups graham cracker crumbs with 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup soft margarine or butter. Press to bottom and sides of ice cube tray. Fill shell evenly with ice cream softened a bit by stirring with a fork. Chill in freezer compartment. Rinse and butter chocolate over very low heat. Stir in cocoa, sugar, cream and salt. Bring slowly to boil; do not stir. Remove from heat. Add vanilla, raisins and nuts. Cut pie in wedges. Top each with warm or cool fudge sauce. This recipe serves eight.

AROUND THE HOUSE
Seems as if we can use washing machines for just about everything nowadays—even dirty tennis shoes. First tie the laces, then put the sneakers and several old bath towels in the washer. Use warm water to which you've added a low-sudsing soap. Rinse and spin dry. Use white towels with white shoes. To dry, stuff paper towels in the toes.

Something new for the near future is a built-in wall air-conditioner that has eight improvements. It has five adjustable directors to control the flow of air and eliminate drafts; an allergy proof aluminum filter that may be cleaned and never needs replacing; a six-bladed fan that assures no dripping; and a double blower scroll for quiet operation. A new timing device allows householders to give the impression they are at home, when in fact they are away on vacation or otherwise. The gadget turns a light on in the evening and off at bedtime, once it is set in its on-off cycle. Not on the market yet.

A new iron has a tall stand which fits over the edge of the ironing board. Ruffles, tucks and pleats can be eased over the heated iron head. The result is a professional ironing job. Also, not on the market yet.

ANNOUNCEMENTS
Your Open House programs are as follows: Monday, Barbara Causey, from Lincoln Parish, will prepare hot weather drinks; Tuesday, Elizabeth McDaniel, from West Carroll Parish, will give us the fine points on selecting shoes; Wednesday, Mr. John Wright, from Louisiana Tech, will do flower arrangements, using foliage; Thursday we'll see beautiful fall clothes; Friday, Home Service Representative, Peggy Hemphill, will prepare some of her down-to-earth recipes. See you next Sunday.

PROGRAM COVER—Depicting famous San Francisco scenes and adorned with busts of Abraham Lincoln and President Eisenhower, this program cover is accepted design which was okayed by Republican National Committee for GOP convention to be held in San Francisco in August.

Louisiana State Library To Be Re-Opened Monday

The Louisiana State Library will open for business on Monday on the second floor of the Commerce Building at Third and Laurel streets in Baton Rouge, after having been closed since May 29th, when the Old Hill Memorial Library building on the capitol grounds was declared unsafe for occupancy. This is the longest time that the library has been inactivated since it began functioning thirty-one years ago, according to Miss Essie M. Culver, state librarian, who announces that Readers' Services, as the reference department is known, and the administrative offices are now ready to offer assistance at a new location. A staff of 24 persons will operate from here.

It was nine weeks ago that the old building was declared unsafe, having been weakened by the excavation work for the new two million dollar state library being built directly in front of the site of the former one. There followed a dramatic and remarkably swift removal of some 90,000 books and all furniture and equipment from the Old Hill Memorial Building over the first week—end in June, in the face of a possible cave-in of the structure.

The problem was where to put such a large accumulation of books and equipment at such short notice, says Miss Culver, who expresses appreciation to the U. S. Air Force Depot, Col. W. C. Hornsey, commanding officer, for the privilege of the library using Building No. 13, the former recreation building at the depot, and No. 11, neither of which were being occupied by the Air Corps at the time.

Since the library's space in the Commerce Building is limited, Miss Culver announces that some 30,000 books will remain at the depot, locally called "The Station," until the big new state library is completed some 18 months from now. The extension department of the library, with Mrs. Edwin Shortless in charge of a staff of 14 persons, will continue to function in Building 13, since this provides more adequate space for the assembling and processing of books for the demonstration libraries carried on in various parishes of the state.

Building No. 11 at the depot will be used for storage and will hold additional books, back files of periodicals, newspaper files, correspondence, and state documents until the time that the new library building may be occupied.

Monroe Flower Show School Dates Given

The dates for Flower Show School V, which will be held in Monroe have just been announced by John A. Wright, Chairman, on Thursday October 18. Dr. James A. Foret, S. L. I. Lafayette, will instruct in Landscape Design, also standard of judging roses, peonies, dahlias and chrysanthemums. On Wednesday, October 24, Mrs. Marie Johnson Fort of Atlanta, Georgia will instruct in Flower Arranging and Flower Show Practices (Period Arrangements, Tables, Corridors, Review, etc.). The examination for those taking the courses for credit will be on October 25. Place to be announced later. Remember we have all the books on the required reading list. Be sure to make these dates on your calendar.

Other dates to remember: Farm and Home Week, August 13-16.

On Monday August 13, Mrs. J. L. Webb, Houston will Lecture and Analyze Table Settings and Decorations. This is the Advanced Refresher Course sponsored by the Louisiana Council of Nationally Accredited Flower Show Judges, the La. Garden Club Federation and L. S. U. Agricultural Extension Dept. Registration 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.; Belmont Motor Hotel, Baton Rouge. Morning Lecture 9:00 to 12:00 p.m. Lunch Recess 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Analysis of Scales of Points for Judging Tables. Send Check for registration fee and luncheon ($8.00 for Advanced Course, $2.00 luncheon and $5.00 for National not later than August 10th, to Mrs. H. W. Tucker, Registrar, 3612 Bryon Street, Baton Rouge, La. The class is open to all interested persons.

The Garden Center was a glow this week with six beautiful arrangements exhibited by members of the Fleur de Lis Garden Club of the Twin Cities. High score was awarded to Mrs. J. W. Nettles. A chartreuse green pillow vase held the asymmetrical arrangement in colors of green and yellow. Equestrian placements provided height with deep yellow zinnias following the asymmetrical line. Green and white ivy leaves were placed low in the design unifying the plant material with the container.

Second place was awarded to Mrs. L. N. Copes. A container of shaded green was chosen for the line mass foliage arrangement. A triangular line design was formed with variegated pittosporum and Bells of Ireland. Rosettes of echeveria were placed at the base of the design creating a center of interest. This arrangement was displayed against a soft pink background which picked up the pink tones in the echeveria.

Mrs. W. G. Haab was awarded third place. Mrs. Haab designed a half crescent mass arrangement of Chinese Holly and pink pom-pom zinnias. The combination of materials and colors very pleasing.

Also on display was a lovely mass arrangement by Mrs. Nettles. A low black bowl was used for the design of fured canna leaves and zinnias shading from light lavender to deep purple. The color harmony was lovely.

Mrs. Copes also displayed an arresting design of Blaze (orange), zinnias and aspidistra leaves. A small round black bowl placed on a black base held the vertical design.

Mrs. Haab's extra arrangement was cool and lovely to behold. Her container was a black compote with a wrought silver base, in which she created a triangular line design of Burford Holly and three large white zinnias as a focal point.

Next Wednesday Mr. Wright of Tech will present a television program on long-lasting foliage arrangement. Be sure to tune in at 1:30 p.m.

NATO Advises Iceland To Keep American Troops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (UP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization said Friday Iceland will risk "occupation and the extension of its freedom" if it insists on withdrawal of U.S. troops stationed there.

Iceland claims the troops no longer are needed. But the council said the international situation "has not improved to such an extent that defense forces are no longer required in Iceland."

The firmly-worded statement was signed by all of the NATO members except the United States and Iceland, which did not vote on the declaration. But a State Department spokesman said the council's views "coincide entirely with the views of the United States."

The United States has about nine million skilled workers and technicians.

Street Criers Seen In London

The street criers of most of the cities of the world have long since disappeared. Except in Charleston and a few other places this sort of thing is not to be found any more so your columnist was not a little surprised the other day to hear the musical cry of the "lavender woman" in London.

"Get y-o-u-r s-w-e-e-t lavender. Makes you smell s-o-o-o sweet," she sang as she walked along the street over near the "American section" not far from Grosvenor Square and a few doors from the famous Claridges.

I rushed out and bought a little bunch of lavender from her and a bit of heather because of my Scottish blood. "I've been here thirty-three years," she said.

"Have you? I hope you are here for a hundred and thirty-three more!" I replied, and I meant it from the bottom of my heart. If we can still have the lavender crier, we can take the horrible noise and din of the city.

In Southern gardens, old-fashioned lavender is of a short lived. Rosemary lives longer than lavender. It is the humidity in the South that finishes off lavender bushes. If you will grow them in a place where the air always circulates about them and on a slope or in a dry wall, they will last longer than in ordinary garden beds. Never should anything touch them, and low humid locations are definitely bad. Since lavender is native to the limestone regions of Europe, the soil should be the opposite of your acid azalea soil. Ground limestone which some people use in the soil for their lavender is probably not absolutely necessary to its culture. If you use a good deal of bone meal as you would for bulbs, you can get by without limestone.

Lavender is easy to raise from seed, but the seedlings will not be as productive of the spikes of purple flowers as some of the selected, named varieties in perennial catalogues. These varieties are perpetuated through cuttings. If you already have lavender growing in your garden, this is the time of the year to take cuttings. Dust them with a bit of the powdered form of one of the rooting chemicals, and keep them in damp sand out of the direct sun for six weeks to two months. When they are rooted in October, grow them in an open sunny spot in the vegetable garden for a year. Then they will be ready for the flower garden. If you do find some ground limestone, a mulch an inch deep over the ground under lavender bushes will keep them happy.

One of the arresting sights at Wisley Gardens, the test garden and school of the Royal Horticultural Society, is a long wide walk running down a slope and flanked on each side by wide beds of violet lavender. Everybody who sees this gorgeous walk, in the sunshine we have been having between cold days over here, the odor of the lavender is delicious, and the English bees are privileged indeed! Lavender honey!

Crazy Mixed Up Radios Foul Up F. Worth Police

FORT WORTH, Aug. 4 (UP)—Fort Worth police dispatchers thought things just didn't sound quite right when Car No. 30 called in and said a whiskey still had been found.

And later, then another police car announced it was having difficulty because of heavy rain and overcast skies, the authorities in bone-dry Fort Worth absolutely knew something was wrong.

They discovered that due to freak atmospheric conditions, the calls were coming from the sheriff's office at Georgetown, S. C. It occasionally rains in South Carolina.

Mexico To Barter Cotton For Autos

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4 (UP)—The ministries of finance and economy said today a virtual embargo on imports of automobiles and trucks was intended to favor the sale of Mexican cotton abroad.

The government ruled Friday that effective Oct. 1 Mexican importers will be prohibited from bringing in motor vehicles from the United States and other countries unless they are paid for in Mexican cotton.

Some interpreted the move as Mexico's "aggressive" answer to American "dumping" of government surplus cotton abroad, in competition with Mexican cotton.

Earlier this week, the government notified U.S. auto manufacturers with assembly plants in Mexico that effective Nov. 1 all parts imported for assembly in their plants here must be paid for entirely in Mexican cotton.

Qualified sources estimated that the General Motors, Ford and Chrysler plants here import approximately $60 million worth of parts and accessories annually. Imports of assembled vehicles totalled $20 million in 1955.

Officials said many other imported items like machinery, chemicals, typewriters, adding machines, sewing machines, steel and artificial fibers will be subject to the same barter system in the future.

Camera News

THE BOTTOM STEP of a school bus needs a jump to reach the ground for the little ones returning from their first day of school. With information data for her parents, and a label to make sure she doesn't get lost, Beth Wands leaves the Hastings on Hudson, N. Y., school bus.

Very shortly thousands of children will leave their homes to go to school for the first time. What an opportunity for parents to record on film the momentous occasion as the five-year-olds start off for kindergarten, the first step of their school life.

We see many graduation ceremonies seem to be over-run with cameras, but the equally important first day in the educational life of a child seems to be overlooked.

Naturally, we know that it may not be practical for the family photographer to be available while this event is enacted. However, it still may be practical to photograph, by still or movie camera, the child coming home from school, or going to school on another day of the first week of school.

If that is not possible, why not have the youngest act out the going to school trip on a Saturday for the benefit of the family camera. Pictures made a day or so after the first day, will not be quite the same as those made on the very first trip, but any picture is better than none.

The tremendous picture taking possibilities of this important event seem to be unlimited. Whether by still or movie camera, the great day should be recorded for the family history.

The preparation for school, dressing and hair-brushing, the last-minute details, saying goodbye at the front door, trotting down the road to catch the local school bus, waiting with friends for the bus, entering the bus, arriving at school, entering the school door and many more scenes present themselves.

It might even be possible, with the teacher's permission, to make photographs in the classroom.

Personally I believe that the teacher will have her hands full, without the hazard and interference of cameras in her classroom.

She might be agreeable to allow one parent to make a photograph of the class that could be shared with the other parents interested in the scene, or, if the class program calls for a session in the playground on the first day, arrangements can be made with the teacher to shoot a few stills or movie footage at that time.

The best pictures will be made if an absolute minimum of direction is given the child. Don't tell the child beforehand that pictures will be taken. Anticipate the actions of the child. If taking the school bus, he or she will undoubtedly follow the path taken each morning by the other neighborhood school children.

Consider the angles at which the best picture can be made. Plan with the mother the location at which she will stand at the doorway to say goodbye. Caution mother against calling attention to "daddy with his camera," and giving any camera direction to the youngster. The more natural the child's action, the better the pictures will be.

MEETING POSTPONED

LONDON Aug. 4 (UP) — A scheduled meeting of Broadway's "Antt Frank" and the father of the girl whose dairy inspired her role was postponed without explanation today until some time next week.

Susan Strasberg, who is vacationing here with her father, had planned to go to suburban Crickwood to pay her respects to 70-year-old Otto Frank, who is visiting friends there.

Record Review

Frank Loesser is "known" around Broadway for his fine work on "Guys and Dolls" and the big lights as the composer of such popular hits as "Rodger Young."

But Loesser may be regarded 50 or 100 years from now in another light — as a talented serious composer — because of his scoring of "The Most Happy Fella," the new hit musical.

This musical drama expresses the feeling of our time yet its textures may be compared with those of Donizetti in his better lyrical moods.

Columbia's Goddard Lieberson was quick to realize that this was no ordinary musical and produced a complete recording of the musical on three 12-inch LP's which now are available.

Robert Weede of the Met had to learn how to speak with an Italian accent to play the role of "Tony," and that he has done well. His voice is rich and his diction is excellent.

Weede gets noble support from Jo Sullivan, Art Lund, Susan Johnson, Shorty Long and Mona Paulie. Best known number in this show, based on "They Knew What They Wanted," is "Standing on the Corner."

Another recording of a Broadway musical worth having is "New Faces of 1956," Leonard Sillman's long-awaited production. It's fast moving and T. C. Jones, the emcee, sets the stage with his limitations of Tallulah Bankhead (RCA Victor).

Best Broadway single — "My Fair Lady," being a smooth orchestration by Domenico Savino (RCA-Camden) of four hit tunes from the Lerner-Lowe hit show. They are "On the Street Where You Live," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," "I Could Have Danced All Night" and "Show Me." (One 45 rpm extended play record — hi fi).

Tops in pops — "The Sweetheart Polka" by Billy Vaughn (Dot), "Rockin' Horse Rock" by Pee Wee Hunt (Capitol), "Hound Dog" by Elvis Presley (RCA Victor), "Midnight Blues" by Jane Morgan (Kapp), and "Autumn Concerto" by Richard Hayman (Mercury).

The bidding:
South: 1 spade; West: Pass; North: 3 spades; East: Pass; South: 4 spades; West: Pass; North: Pass; East: Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds. Optical illusions are responsible for the loss of many contracts. The most frequently occurring mirage is the one that makes one hand look like the dummy, when in fact the other hand should be treated as such. There is another type of hand, in which declarer's vision is impaired because his eye is focused on losers rather than on winners.

The bidding in today's hand was orthodox enough. The only possible question was as to North's leap to three spades without a trump honor. This is only mildly objectionable. The hand does measure to precisely an opening bid. The game forcing jump is therefore acceptable and relieves North of any further problem.

The king of diamonds was opened and won with the ace. It seemed like smooth sailing until West answered the call for trumps with the deuce of diamonds. Declarer then tried to drop the doubleton queen-club, and when this did not come off he declared himself down one, conceding two trumps, a diamond, and a club. It is our diagnosis that declarer was afflicted with myopia.

Even if a hand is doomed to failure, declarer might as well play it out in the hope that something will happen. In this case, if declarer had counted winners instead of losers he might have seen that the contract was probably there for the asking. He could arrange to ruff one diamond in the dummy, and if he could ruff three hearts in his own hand, the total would be brought to 10 tricks — six tricks in aces and kings and the other four in ruffs.

When the trump break is discovered, declarer should lead a diamond at once. West will win and will probably shift to the queen of clubs. The ace of hearts and a heart ruff puts declarer in, and he ruffs a diamond in dummy. Another heart is ruffed in the closed hand, and dummy is entered with the high club in order to lead the last heart to be ruffed with declarer's remaining trump for trick number 10. In the end, East's trump and West's good club will fall together.

Where a hand lends itself to cross-ruff technique, the problem is easier to visualize if declarer will count his winners.

STAMPS

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of Devils Tower National Monument in Wyoming, the

U.S. POSTAGE

United States will issue a 3-cent Commemorative on Sept. 4.

The central design of this new stamp will be a view of the monument reproduced from a photograph. The wording "50th Anniversary Devils Tower Monument" appears in three lines across the bottom of the stamp.

Stamp collectors desiring first day covers of the three-cent may send their addressed envelopes together with money order remittance (to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed) to the postmaster at Newcastle, Wyo. prior to Sept. 24.

A reminder to collectors: This is a vertical stamp and envelopes should be addressed in the lower left corner, particularly when blocks of four are desired.

The British postal system will get a "new look" next year—new stamps for Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland plus the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

The basic designs, says Postmaster General Charles Hill, will be similar to the present day issues featuring the head of Queen Elizabeth. Only the borders will be different — distinctive designs familiar to the locale. It will be the thistle for Scotland and the leek for Wales.

Although these new stamps can be purchased only in the countries of origin, they will be valid for postage anywhere in the British Isles.

Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland will each have a 2½ pence for inland domestic postage to the United States. Each will have a 4 pence for European postage. Also a 1 shilling 3 pence will be issued for overseas airmail.

The Isle of Man and the two Channel Islands (Jersey and Guernsey) each will have only a 2½ pence value.

Heretofore British stamps were uniform throughout the United Kingdom. Only one special regional set ever was issued. That was for Jersey and Guernsey at the end of World War II to mark the liberation of the Channel Islands from the Germans. Those stamps depicted a horse and cart gathering seaweed from the shore.

Details as to complete designs and dates of issuance will be announced soon.

COMFORT FOR HENS
UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Carl Dossin, poultry specialist at Pennsylvania State University, says laying hens will show a better output if they have comfortable quarters. And he adds, they will generally be more profitable if kept confined than allowed to run on range.

WALTER MACKEN

The Green Hills and Other Stories. By Walter Macken. Macmillan.

A man may sneer, jeer, rail at his home town, be proud of it, find fault with it, but "all the same you cannot get away from it because it bred part of you," says this author, who proceeds to dedicate this collection of 21 stories to the Irish town of his birth.

Perhaps the characters about whom he writes are or were his neighbors, and perhaps these things happened there:

Gaeglers gets a proper comeuppance for swindling Bulger in a deal on poached salmon; the farmer has to row a curragh to the fisherman's door to get a better price; a boy comes back from the green hills to the green hills to the girl waiting for him; Coleman, who could have any of the pretty girls, picks the ugliest one in the countryside; the inspector of old-age pensions inspects for almost the last time; "down our place where we live by the sea" they have about as honest horse races as you can find, but that doesn't mean they are not a little crooked; the sergeant sent out to catch a poacher stops to catch a salmon.

Some characters, like Gaeglers, or Mella, appear more than once, as if Macken knew them particularly well. Once in a while a story, though it starts out handsomely, comes in limping. But most of these are very good, especially the funny ones, and some are very, very good. The Irish are as glib with a short story written down in a book as with a story told warmly over a pint in the pub, and Macken is one of the best of them. His people come marvelously alive, you hear their talk long after you close the book, you keep on seeing the green in the hills.

Two-Gun Martin, Lewis Star In New Western Musical

Starting today, audiences at the Paramount Theatre will be treated to the daffiest of Westerns when Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis ride in as "Pardners". The lavish Technicolor production, Dean and Jerry's first foray into the woolly West, stacks up as the wildest sagebrush saga ever put on film and a merry song-and-dance-filled package of all-around entertainment.

Filmed in VistaVision against the breathtaking background of Arizona's Superstition Mountain, the Paramount picture's cast includes a talented group of veterans and new faces. Co-starring are lovely Lori Nelson, Jeff Morrow and recent Miss USA title holder Jackie Loughery. John Baragrey, Agnes Moorehead and Lon Chaney head the large supporting cast.

"Pardners" takes place around the turn of the century, with Dean and Jerry each playing dual roles. They are seen first as rugged cattlemen who meet a glorious end fighting off raiders. Their wives rescue their infant sons and bring them up separately. Dean Jr. on Park Avenue. Dean grows up a stalwart cowpoke and Jerry a socialite who yearns to be the man his father was.

When Jerry finally rebels and

SIX-GUN PALS Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis shoot straight at the funnybone in "Pardners", Technicolor musical Western arriving today at the Paramount Theater. Four new songs by Sammy Cahn and James Van Heusen sparkle among the laughs in the Paramount comedy, which co-stars Lori Nelson, Jeff Morrow, Jackie Loughery, with John Baragrey, Agnes Moorehead.

joins Dean on the ranch, he unexpectedly gets his chance. The raiders are rampaging again and their undercover leader appoints Jerry sheriff, figuring a tenderfoot will be no trouble to him.

He's disillusioned, however, as Jerry bumbles his way in and out of bravado, gun fights, bank robberies and dynamic plots, managing with Dean's two-fisted help to come out on top each time. It's a story that offers the broadest opportunity for the pair to display their unmatched brand of comedy. There's music by the wondrous "Pardners", Sammy Cahn and James Van Heusen, composers of "Love and Marriage", have penned a ballad and a rousing song for Dean, a lively novelty song for the team, and a catchy square dance tune, choreographed by Nick Castle. With veteran comedy team Paul Jones and Norman Taurog producing and directing, respectively, "Pardners" blooms as Dean and Jerry's biggest and funniest.

Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

HOLLYWOOD — August 4 — Robert Wagner, young star of Twentieth Century's forthcoming film, "Between Heaven and Hell," says that he and most of his contemporaries are in just about the same fix as that title expresses. "Unmarried actors really have a rough time of it," he told me during a recent interview. "Our friends are always trying to marry us off. If we don't go for their particular choice, the friends get sore. If we do, they expect us to get married right away. You can't win."

Actually, Wagner isn't too upset by this predicament. He is in no rush to marry because he believes a man should take his time with the most important decision of his life.

"Besides," he says, "I want to live a little. I don't mean to run wild or anything like that. I just mean that I'm not really prepared to marry and settle down. I don't know enough about life in general" — and girls in particular — to take the plunge!

Getting ready to "take the plunge," as he puts it, encompasses a world of activities, enthusiasms and accomplishments. The young generation of Hollywood actors takes their careers and educations very seriously, and Wagner is perhaps, the outstanding example of them all.

He is studying psychology, for instance, mainly because hypnosis has become a craze in Hollywood. "I'm not impressed with the trickery of hypnosis," he explains. "Because that's nothing more than an entertaining routine. What gets me is that so much can be uncovered in the subconscious mind, brought out into the open, to be examined. It's really un-"

Being of an extremely inquisitive turn of mind, Wagner takes hypnosis one step further than the others. He is the sort of boy who has got to follow an idea to its source. Therefore, in order to understand hypnosis, he's making a thorough study of psychology. "We talked for a bit about rock-and-roll music," Bob says, "and I'm recording for a large company."

"They asked me to 'rock' a number," he says, "and I absolutely refused. I don't make sense to me, and I can't understand what the other kids see in it. It's unintelligible, there's no true beat to the music, and if you try to sing any of those numbers and really let the lyrics be heard, you are practically thrown out. You've got to mumble, it seems, or it's not authentic rock-and-roll!"

"That's not for me! I like to hear the words — and understand them. Besides, there's something so off — beat, so abnormal to this kind of music, I can't tolerate it!" His dressing-room is equipped as an office, with several added attractions. For instance, there is a fine record — player — radio at his fingertips, and there is always music playing, softly, unobtrusively, in the background.

"I like to hear it, even when I'm working up a part or making phone calls," he says. "When I was a kid, I used to do all my studying with the radio going. The habit has carried over. Of course my folks couldn't understand how I could learn anything that way, but it furnished a sort of rhythmic pattern for me which made studying a lot easier."

Wagner smiled reminiscently. "When mother or dad would say 'turn that darned thing off and do your homework,' I couldn't make them understand that I did do it better to music. But I think I know now what they meant, although I thought they were wrong at the time."

"When I see a youngster working with the TV set going full blast — I feel like saying, 'turn that darned thing off and do your homework!' But I don't. I suppose television is doing for the kids of today — what radio music did for me when I was a kid!"

Practically everything in Bob's life points up a lesson of some sort, or leads the way to another field of study. Since it is summer and he goes fishing a lot, he's deep in the lore of marine life, at the moment. There is nothing strained or self-conscious about this drive for learning. He's just a thirsty kid, drinking as hard and as fast as he can at the fountain of life, in order to be a mature adult, ready for fuller problems as they arise. He is not a compulsive about it, so that it is not a burden. "Life is a sort of fun," he observed. "Even when the going is tough. Without a sense of humor, I don't think it would be worth while. And unless you can tackle all kinds of interesting jobs, it's just drudgery. There's no fun in letting each day follow another, with no highlight to hit for its highlights that make all the hard work worth while."

But when you get right down to it, Robert Wagner is talking through his hat. With his attitude, even the hard work is fun. He's keenly aware of his great good fortune. Not every young man is a star at 25. Nobody realizes that better than he does — or appreciates it more!

Public Housing Project On Gulf May Be Prevented

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—Real estate boards along the state's Gulf Coast may take legal action to prevent construction of 258 public housing units.

Moody Grishman, chairman of the Bilbo-Pascagoula real estate board, told a meeting last night no final decision had been reached, but action could be expected.

The meeting was called to protest plans for the housing units. Those present approved appointment of a special committee to investigate possible avenues of legal recourse.

The boards say the three-million-dollar project could lead to integration and lower the value of nearby property.

Grishman said although about $200,000 has been issued for planning the housing units, the board felt it was not too late to halt the project.

He said the group is only "asking that the interest of all concerned be taken into consideration."

Public housing is not needed, other speakers said, because of private housing presently under construction and the number of rental vacancies in the area.

John Lee Gaine, executive director of Region Eight of the Public Housing Authority here, said earlier the project would not lead to integration since the public housing act does not nullify state laws.

WHY DO WE HEAR SO LITTLE ABOUT HAPPY MARRIAGES?

YOUR OPINION

Answer to Question No. 1

1. As stated by sociologists, Duvall and Hill in their book, "When You Marry," happily married people don't broadcast the reasons for their happiness and satisfaction. Unhappy couples, become emotionalized, very disturbed, angry, etc., and tell their troubles to the world. When our feet are comfortable, we would be considered boring and silly to brag about it. But, the minute our corns hurt, we yell "Ouch!" It's the same generally with unhappiness. When You Marry has been condensed into a booklet for my readers. It is called "Facing The Facts of Married Life" and is yours for 15 cents (coin only) and a stamped self-addressed envelope sent to me at this newspaper.

Can you develop your mental powers more fully today than tomorrow? Yes, much more. We know better how to measure mental capacities to fit each person into the work that will bring out his real abilities. We have far better opportunities for education, and we educate far more people. Also, we have 20,000 or more different occupations to utilize people's capacities; whereas, formerly, there were very few occupations other than farming, limited mechanics and war. What opportunity did a radio announcer or ad writer have even forty years ago?

2 Oilmen Backers In $145 Million Natural Gas Line

TULSA (UP) — Two men have been identified as principal backers in a proposal to build a 1,500-mile, $145 million natural gas pipeline from near McAllen, Tex. to southern Florida.

They are E. F. Stanley and Paul E. Wallace, both of Tulsa. Their companies are Midwestern Construction, Inc., and Walco Engineering Co.

Theodore Rinehart, Tulsa attorney, is secretary and chief counsel for the group. Also involved is Constal Transmission Corp., of Dallas, Tex.

The line would reach from near McAllen to Baton Rouge, La., and into southern Florida. It would carry 250 million cubic feet of gas daily. The gas would be distributed only in Florida.

Hard Of Hearing Helped By Patented Invention!

U. S. Patent No. 2,611,821 has made possible an eyeglass hearing aid that requires no wire, no tube, no receiver or armload, no device that "plugs in" either ear. Developed by Acousticon, oldest and leading manufacturer of electrical hearing aids, this invention makes possible more comfortable inconspicuous correction for thousands who have hearing difficulties.

This exclusive invention is built right into the Spectacon eyeglass hearing aid. The eyeglass frames are made by a leading optical company and are available in any size. They make no sacrifice of optical standards.

You may see for yourself how this remarkable hearing development works—how it is as easy to put on or take off as any pair of glasses. Demonstration is free—see and hear for yourself, without obligation.

NOT A SIGN OF HIM. NO PLACE TO HIDE ON THIS TUB. HOW CAN A GUY JUST DISAPPEAR? HEY-THE LOOT!

STILL THERE THOUGHT HE MIGHT BE TRYING SOME TRICK.

THERE HE IS-ON THE DECK!

WELL-I'LL-HOW DID HE GET THERE?

HE WAS IN THE WATER-SOAKING WET! IS HE--?

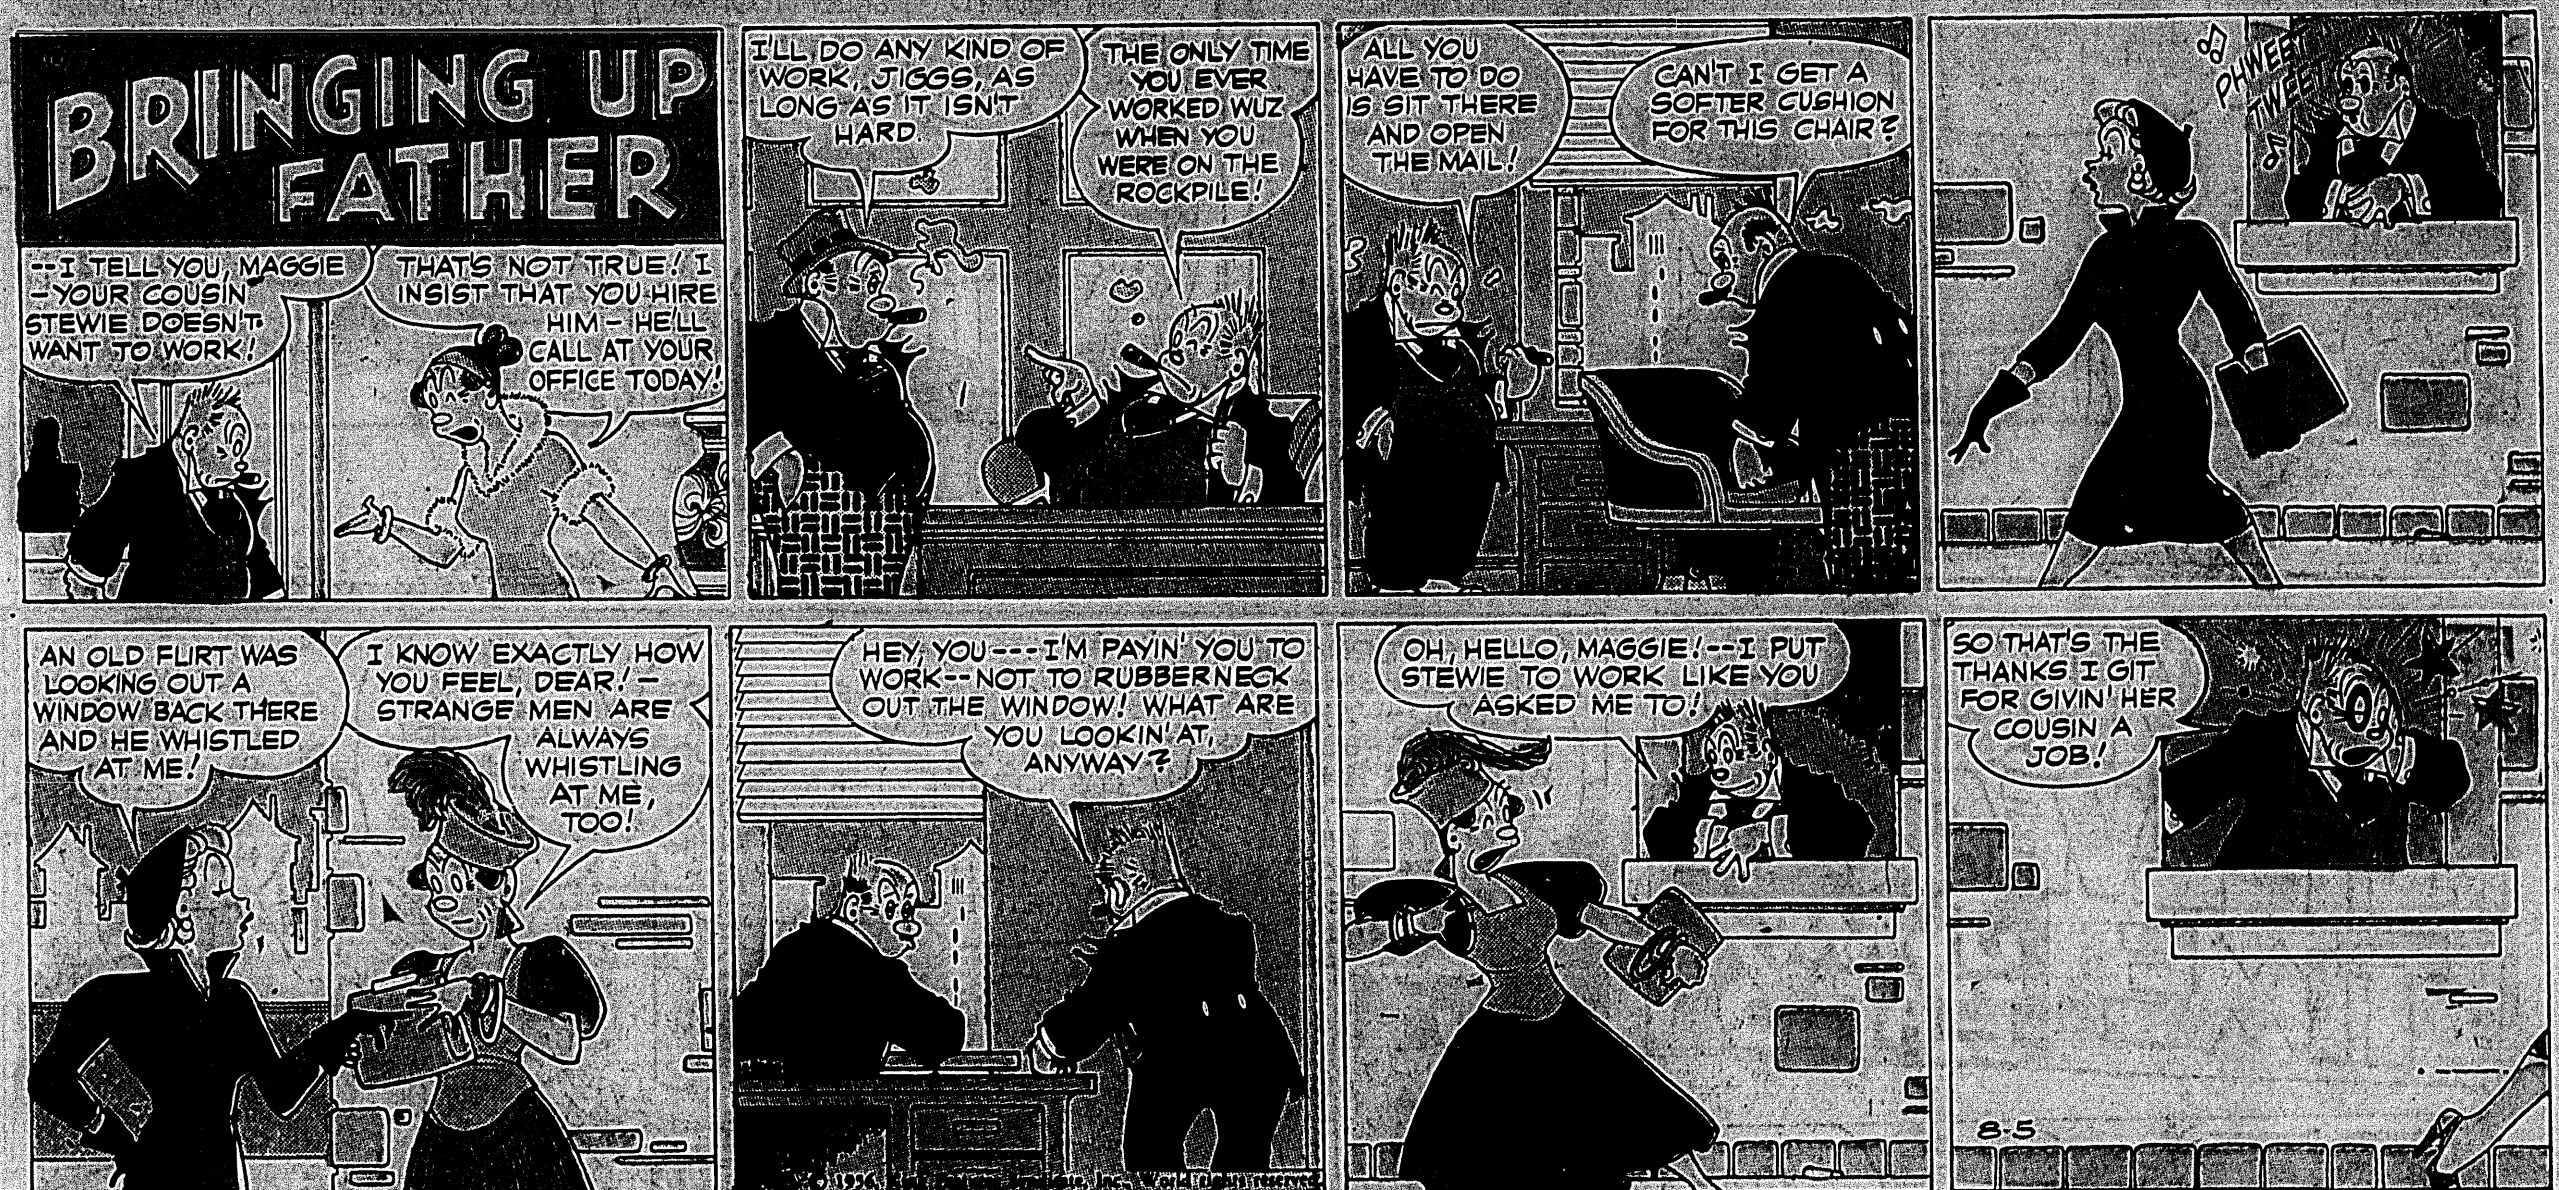

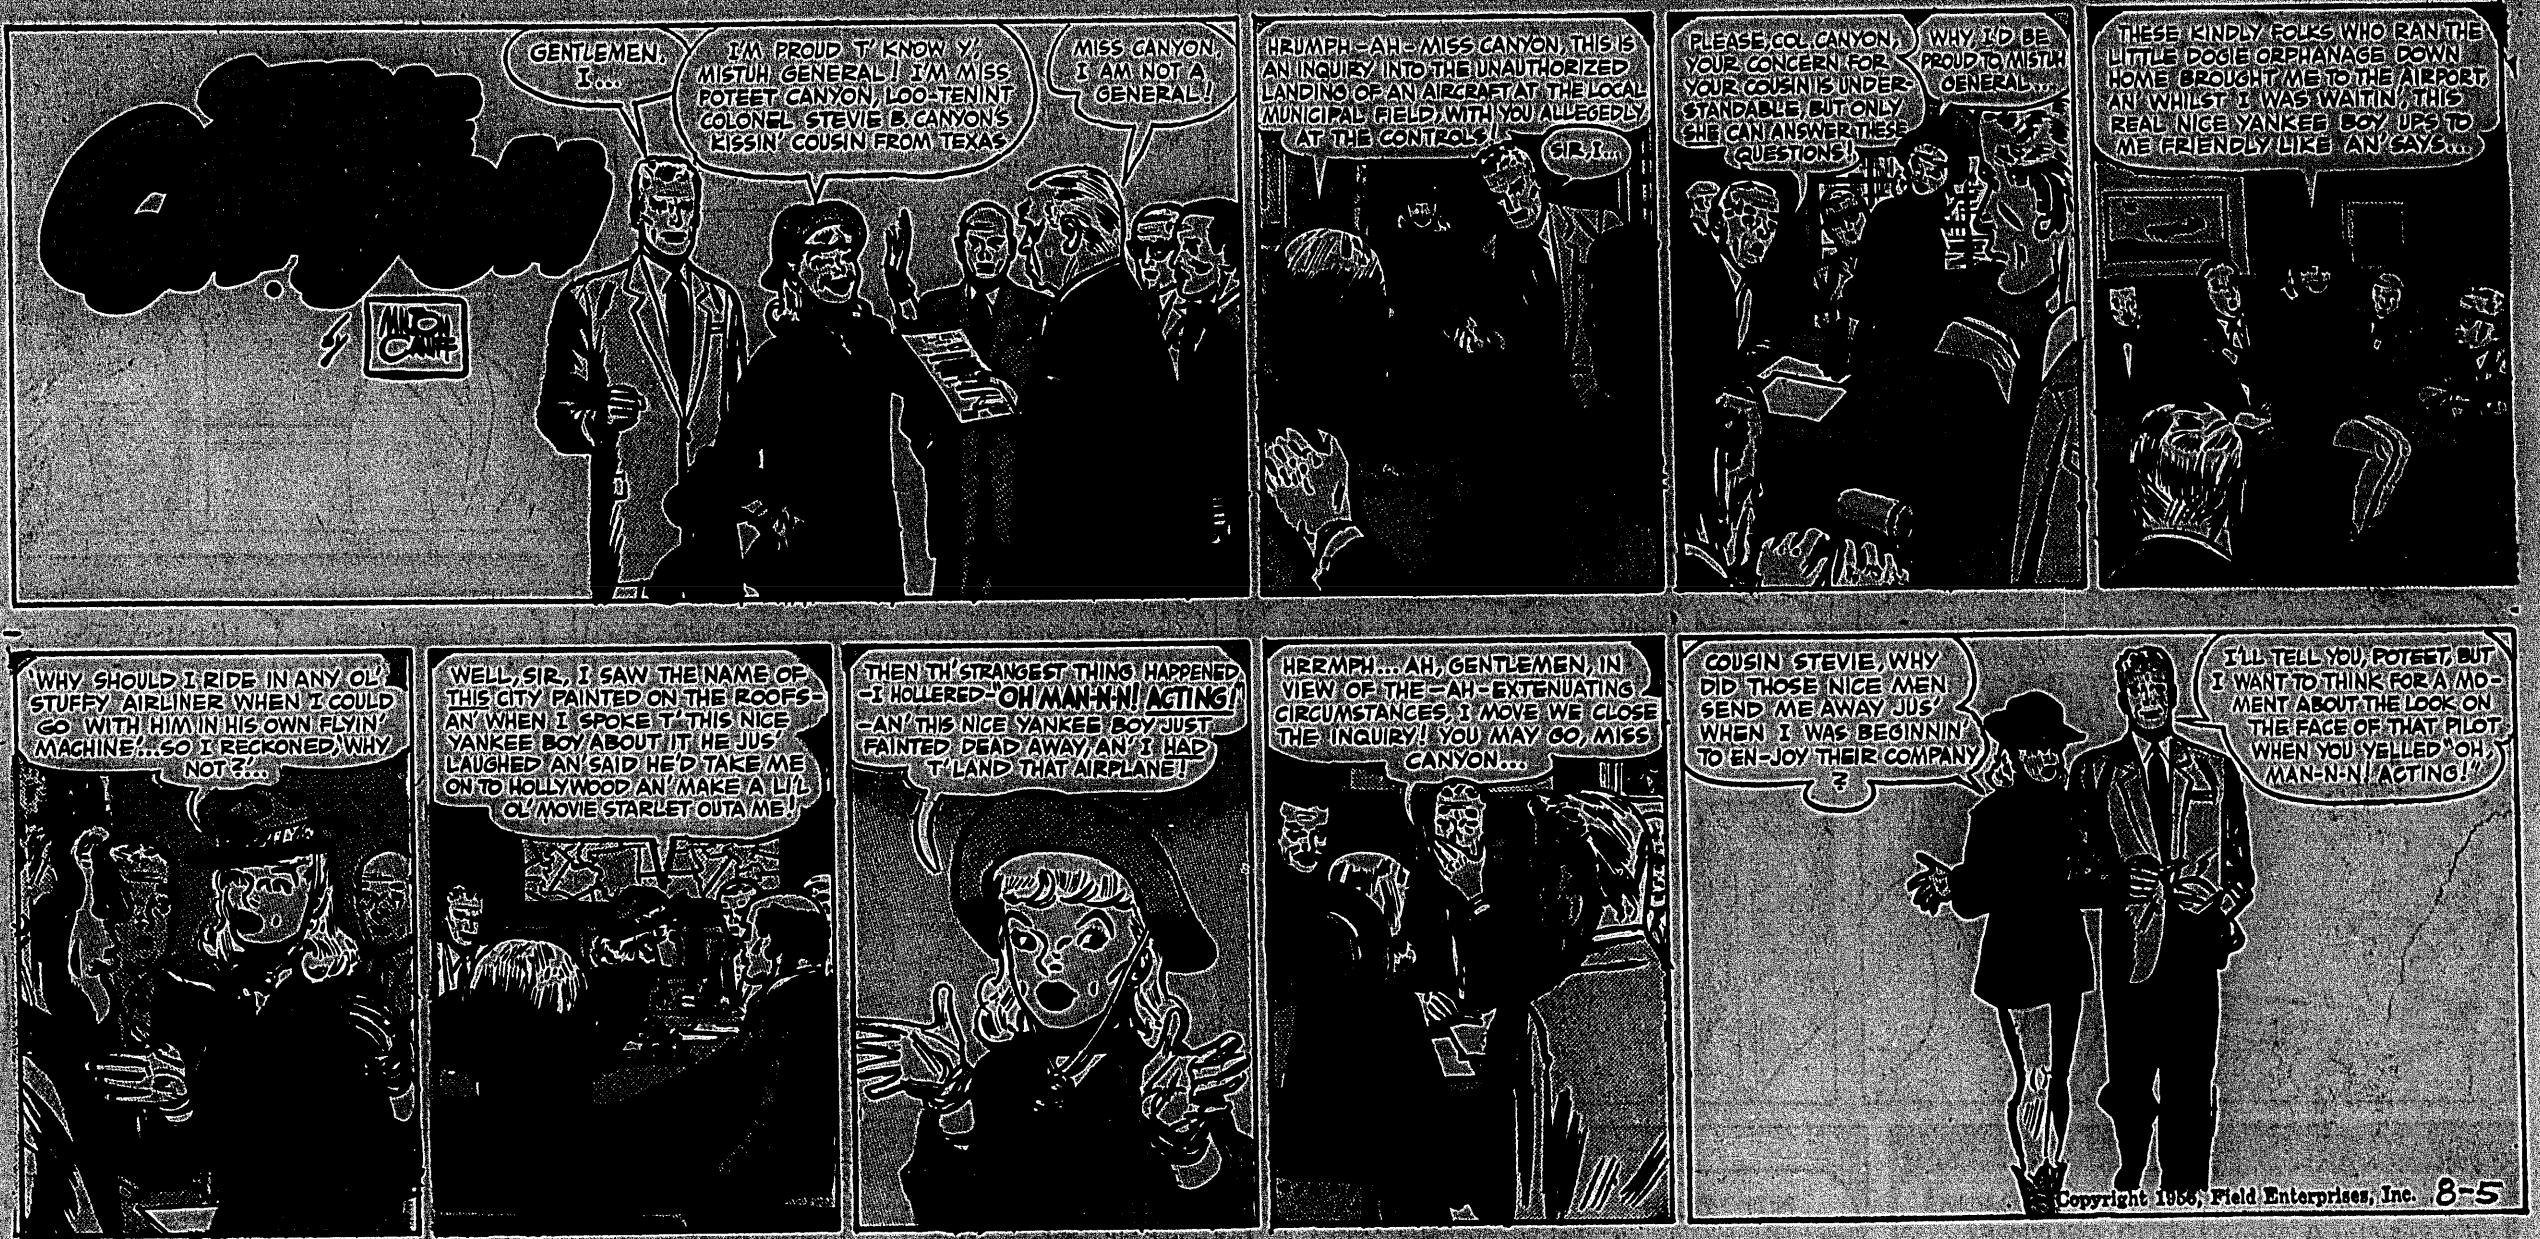

NOT DEAD--JUST KNOCKED OUT-LOOK!

ON HIS FOREHEAD PIPE-ON HIS JAW-GRILLERY-TIM!

8-5 CONT'D.

It's that DIAL feeling—
you never worry about odor!

Just what the doctor ordered—that fresh, clean Dial feeling. No matter what you do, you always feel like you just stepped out of the shower. And the reason is—Dial removes odor-causing skin bacteria that other good soaps leave on your skin. Best of all, Dial keeps on working, protecting you all day—and for several days if need be. Dial's AT-7 does it. No other leading soap has it. That's why Dial—and only Dial—“stops odor before it starts!” Folks who use Dial say they just don't feel as clean with any other soap.

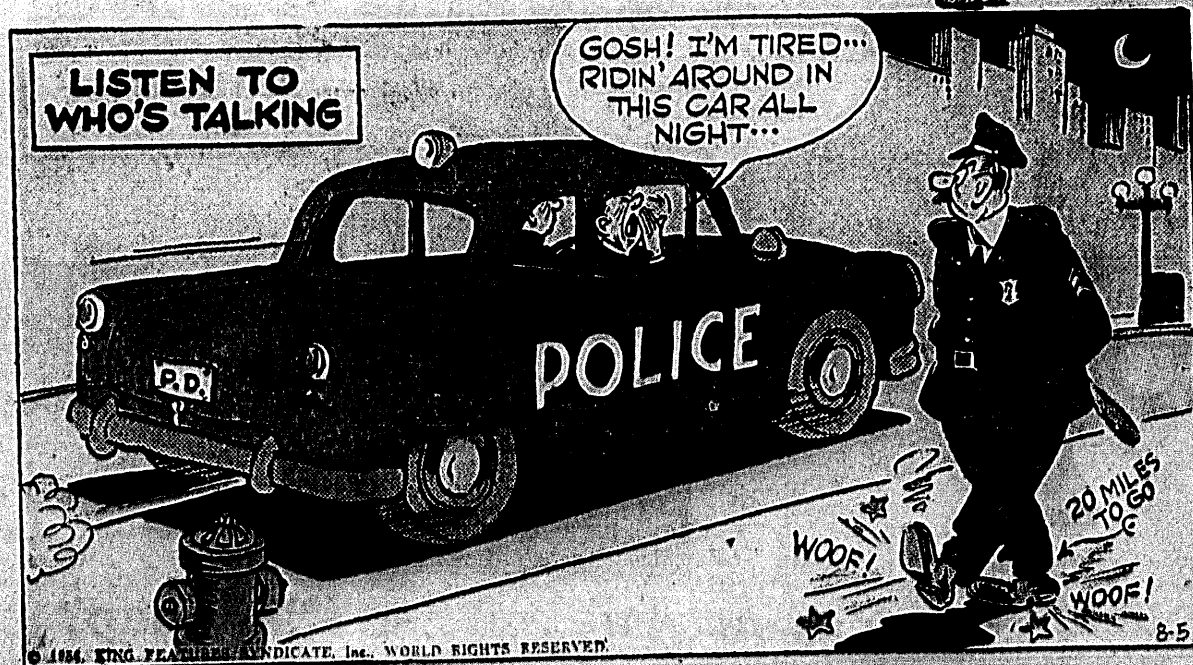

Aren't you glad you use Dial Soap?

(don't you wish everybody did!)
